THE BRIGHTER SIDE

ONE OF OUR readers inquires: "What is the best breed of dog?"

Well, of course, it all depends on the purpose of the dog. If we were a resident of the Arctic region, we have no doubt we would favor the dog known as the husky, which may be utilized, as we understand it, as a horse, or in a pinch as a substitute for Irish stew.

If a man is a Nimrod, at heart, and has a passion for going about assassinating the birds and beasts of the forest, the best breed of dog for him depends upon what he is hunting. If quail, or grouse, or pheasant, he should have a setter, or a pointer. If rabbits, a beagle. A good beagle will always protect the Nimrod from the rabbits.

If he is after wildcat, raccoon, possum, or deer, the best breed of dog for him would be the breed of an old dog we used to have at Dover Hall, down in Georgia, called Tige. He was part foxhound, part beagle, part airedale, and part son-of-a-gun.

You could always tell by the tone of Tige's voice the nature of the critter he was trailing. It was a great convenience. If he was on the track of a wildcat, his voice would be a deep basso profundo. You could immediately turn and go the other way.

IN THE HALCYON DAYS of Dover Hall, when it was infested in winter with baseball players, baseball writers and baseball magnates on vacation, it was the custom to run deer in the piney woods with dogs, and at points that a deer pursued by the canines would necessarily pass, were stationed the gunners.

If old Tige ran a deer past a gunner's station, and the gunner failed to murder the deer, Tige would at once return to the house and sulk under the porch with an expression of deep disgust on his face.

It is a matter of record that old Tige ran so many deer past Mr. George Herman Ruth, called "Babe," without result, that the dog finally got so he would leave that part of the country as soon as he overheard the boys mention that Mr. Ruth was due, and would not return until Mr. Ruth had departed.

But, of course, Tige was an exceptionally intelligent dog. He would stand a moonshiner's still in the piney woods like a setter on a covey of Bob Whites. This was another great convenience to the inmates of Dover Hall. It saved them the bother of going around in the woods sniffing for themselves, and sometimes acquiring hay fever from inhaling the odors of noxious weeds.

One year, Tige found and stood seven stills. The best previous record was established by Mr. Irvin Shrewsbury Cobb, the author, with five. However, the folks at Dover Hall preferred having Tige find the stills rather than Mr. Cobb. Tige did not care for moonshine.

WE HAVE OWNED a great many dogs in our time, from the fighting breed known as pit bulls, down to apartment-size Pekinese. We rather like the little Pekes because of their tremendous courage. They will tackle anything, and with no chance to win. Or would you call that dumbness?

But the Peke is not a cheerful dog. It is inclined to peevishness, and is not, generally speaking, very responsive. These very traits make it one of the greatest of watch dogs, however. It will set up an unearthly ki-yi-ing on scant provocation, and is more dreaded by a prowler than a big dog that he can get a belt at.

Still, a Peke has mighty little judgment. It will set up the same squawk when the old gent is trying to tip-toe his way in at a late hour.

We get a great kick out of those little white Sealyhams. They always seem to be grinning. The Sealyham is the soul of good nature. They are especially handy if the furniture in your house is low set.

The animated weinerwurst known as the dachshund is another jovial canine, and reputed quite affectionate, if it likes you, which is only if you are its owner.

WE HAVE A FELLOW down in Dade county, Florida, who has been crossing dachshunds with beagles, and getting a corking dog for small game hunting. They have good noses, and great speed, but are lacking in discretion. A pack of them chased a rabbit through Umpire Willum Klem's yard one day, and when the rabbit ran under the house, the dogs started digging up Umpire Willum Klem's hibiscus.

That was frightfully poor judgment. It may be all right to tell Umpire Willum Klem that he missed that decision at the plate a mile, but digging up his hibiscus is quite another matter, as the dogs discovered. We were going to buy one of that mixed breed, but we called the deal off. We felt that a dog that had no more sense than to dig up Umpire Willum Klem's hibiscus was scarcely a sound companion for us.

We do not know the best breed of dogs.

The best one we ever owned was just dog.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3.—(Friday)—(AP)—Chinese shells fell dangerously near the cruiser Augusta, flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet, today in a heavy bombardment directed at the Japanese cruiser Iszumo.

Giant howitzers in Pootung, industrial section across the Whangpoo river from the international settlement, burst into action at 10:48 a. m. today against the battle-scarred Iszumo.

NEW SUGAR LAW GOES IN EFFECT

Secretary Wallace Increases Estimate Of Consumption This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace put the new sugar control law into effect today, increasing his estimate of sugar consumption in the United States this year and authorizing continental cane growers to supply the bulk of that increase.

The new law, signed by President Roosevelt last night despite his opposition to some of its provisions, sets up a new formula for apportioning the American sugar market among domestic, insular and other areas.

Acting under that formula, Wallace boosted the estimate of 1937 consumption 360,000 tons and then apportioned the increase as follows:

Continental cane growers (Florida and Louisiana), 172,129 tons; continental beet growers (Colorado, California and other western states), 19,785; Cuba, 92,115; Philippine islands, 49,562; Hawaii, 11,866; Puerto Rico, 9,446; Vir-

STATE TAX SUIT TO BE ARGUED TODAY

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Constitutionality of the Louisiana "luxury" sales tax is to be argued tomorrow morning before District Judge J. D. Womack in the suit of Fournet and Sierra, New Orleans, against Alice Lee Grosjean, state collector of revenue, and Gaston L. Porterie, attorney general.

Originally scheduled for August 26, the hearing was postponed by Judge Womack on a motion of Justin C. Daspit, attorney for the state collector of revenue, who requested additional time to prepare arguments.

The suit was filed by Eugene Stanley, former district attorney of Orleans parish, on behalf of the New Orleans Grocery company and its stockholders.

A rule nisi was issued by District Judge Charles A. Holcombe here directing the defendants to show cause why they should not be enjoined from further enforcing the tax. The case was assigned to Judge Womack.

JAPANESE BATTLE CHINESE AIRMEN AT SHANGHAI

INSURGENT ARMY MOVES FORWARD

Drives Five Miles Into Oviedo After Loyalists Dynamite Mountain

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 2.—(AP)—An insurgent column smashed its way five miles into Oviedo province today although Asturian miners dynamited a mountainside in an effort to block the road into the only province of the northern coast remaining in government hands.

The blast was set off on a peak just within the Oviedo frontier in the Cuera range. It hurled a mass of debris into the path of the insurgents advancing on the port Llanas on the road to Gijon, the government's last remaining Bay of Biscay port now that Bilbao and Santander have fallen.

Insurgent dispatches, however, said the road was only partially blocked and that the advance was not halted.

Reports reached the border that Asturian leaders were negotiating with Franco for the surrender of Gijon, which would mean disappearance of the government flag from the northern coastal region.

Parliamentary deputies from Gijon were said to be parleying with the commander of the invading column.

The insurgents also claimed successes on the Aragon front, 200 miles to the southeast. They said communications had been reestablished between Teruel and Zaragoza, insurgent strongholds, after government militia units had been driven from all sectors between the two cities.

A government communique from Valencia, however, asserted the government lines had been tightened around Belchite, 20 miles south of Zaragoza, in spite of terrific insurgent aerial and artillery bombardments. House-to-house fighting was reported on the western fringe of Belchite.

Two insurgent columns were participating in the march on Gijon. Insurgent officers said residents of towns in the path of the advance received the newcomers jubilantly and erected triumphal arches in their honor.

An entire government battalion of 1,019 men was reported captured Wednesday on the Santander-Oviedo frontier.

YOUTH ARRESTED IN SHOOTING OF 5 BOYS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A youth listed as Raymond Lendeche, 17, of Killona, La., was arrested today in connection with the wounding yesterday of five boys who sought to invade his father's sugar cane patch.

Taking a few stalks of cane and chewing it for the sweet juice it contains is a time-honored custom with boys in the sugar belt of the state, but it annoys the planters.

Lendeche was held in the St. Charles parish jail at Hahnville on a charge of shooting and wounding with intent to kill. He said he had not intended to wound the boys but merely to frighten them.

The most seriously wounded of the boys was Clifford Ockman, 10, who was brought to Charity hospital here suffering multiple birdshot wounds of the face and upper body. His condition was not dangerous.

The wounded youngster said he couldn't understand why anyone would want to shoot him for a "little thing" like taking a few stalks of cane.

He denied trying to "steal" the cane.

"We were just taking it," he said.

16 Or 17 Sailors Reported Rescued After Vessel Goes To Bottom In Mexican Gulf

Seaman Who Swam Ashore Gives Graphic Account Of Sea Disaster

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A rescue fleet saved nine members of the crew of the sunken steamship Tarpon today, three others swam ashore and two bodies were recovered as frantic efforts were made to account for all aboard before nightfall.

With the 14 saved or known dead, it was believed 14 others were still in the sea. Four coast guard cutters and a number of small craft scoured the area.

Searchers feared other possible survivors could not stand the privations of another night in the water.

The coast guard cutter Triton reported tonight it had recovered the body of Captain W. G. Barrow and rescued nine survivors of the S. S. Tarpon, coastwise freighter swamped by heavy seas yesterday 12 miles off shore.

Fourteen men were unaccounted for. Officers said they were taking the rescued seamen to Pensacola for treatment of exhaustion and exposure.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dosie Bass of Fort Walton telephoned the News-Herald here late today he had been told "16 or 17" members of the crew of the sunken freighter Tarpon had been picked up alive in the Gulf of Mexico.

Bass said he had just reached Destin, closest land point to the scene of the sea tragedy, in a small boat in which he had been aiding in the search for survivors.

He said other searchers informed him several larger boats had picked up "16 or 17" members of the Tarpon's crew. He said he had not learned whether Captain W. C. Barrow was among those saved.

SEAMAN DESCRIBES SINKING OF SHIP

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. J. O. Yarborough, of Panama City, Fla., by telephone today told the New Orleans States the eye witness story of the sinking of the steamer Tarpon in the Gulf of Mexico as given to her by Adley Baker, survivor who swam ashore and was taken to her home.

"Adley Baker, of Mobile, told me this morning," Mrs. Yarborough said, "that the vessel capsized and sank within two minutes yesterday during

SHREVEPORT MAN ACCUSED OF FRAUD

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Investigation of state and federal charges of gasoline tax evasion continued today with the arrest of V. A. Dunham, of Shreveport, who was released on $2,000 bond fixed at a hearing this morning before United States Commissioner Albert E. Bryson. The arrest was made by federal officers.

Dunham, with L. D. Sneed and Jewell Sanders, is charged by both state and federal authorities with conspiring to evade payment of gasoline taxes. Sneed and Sanders were released on bond Wednesday.

The defendants are alleged to have switched tank cars of gasoline at night from one spur of a local refinery railroad track to another, where the gasoline was unloaded into trucks. The gas was then transported to storage tanks or bulk stations, the complaints charge.

PARALYSIS FATAL TO DENVER CHILD

Victim One Of Two Girls For Whom Breathing Devices Were Rushed

DENVER, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Maybelle Outcalt, 15, one of two girl victims of infantile paralysis for whom artificial breathing devices were rushed to Denver from the east, died today, physicians at Denver General hospital reported.

Maybelle, who with 2-year-old Shirley Krause, shared Denver's only "iron lung" respirator until two arrived by airplane and streamlined train today, grew gradually worse despite the artificial breathing apparatus, and succumbed.

Shirley, who had occupied the "iron long" most of the time for three weeks, virtually gave up its use to the Outcalt girl last night. She was placed in the wooden respirator when it arrived from Toronto today and then transferred to the second "iron lung" which came from Chicago.

Maybelle was the second member of her family to succumb to infantile paralysis. A brother, George, Jr., died August 21. Maybelle was stricken Monday.

Earlier today, Dr. T. L. Williams, deputy county health commissioner, had said the new respirators arrived none too soon.

Little Shirley had remained outside the hospital's "iron lung"—until today the only one of its kind in the mountain region—all night, desperately forcing her partially paralyzed muscles to operate her lungs.

She had relinquished her place in the respirator to Maybelle, whose immediate need, physicians decided, was greater.

With only her head protruding from the big cylinder, Shirley called for food today. That Dr. Williams explained, was almost a sure sign she had weathered successfully the waiting period while the "iron lungs" were being sped westward.

"We don't know how long she might

1,000 MEN SEARCH FOR MISSING CADET

GRAPELAND, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A thousand men on land and a hundred fighting planes with sharp-eyed observers ran down a dozen groundless clues today in their hunt through east Texas' dense big thickets for Cadet Guy Edgerton of Kelly field, missing since Monday night.

Near Lufkin, 1,000 CCC enrollees spaced themselves 50 feet apart and prowled carefully through the brush and pine forest. They hoped to cover every square foot of an area 20 miles in diameter south, east and west of Lufkin.

At Longview, a newspaper, the American Legion post and a Kilgore air service joined forces for a land and air search in the Sabine river district after Mrs. H. T. Miller reported she saw a flaming object fall during a rainstorm Monday night.

Two squadrons of planes from Kelly and Randolph fields, San Antonio, many of them manned by classmates of the missing cadet, spent another day flying over the huge area where Edgerton's plane may have come to earth.

ENGLAND HURRIES MORE WAR CRAFT TO SAVE VESSELS FROM SUBMARINE

France In Full Agreement With Plan To Patrol Mediterranean

BRITISH PATIENCE NEAR END; GUNS HELD READY

Press Lays Attacks To Italy; Big International Crisis Seen

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—British naval reinforcements sped into the western Mediterranean tonight with guns ready to thunder Great Britain's answer to mysterious submarine and airplane attacks on British ships.

The cabinet decision for more warships in the trouble zone off the coast of Spain was made with the full concurrence of France.

Both nations also were agreed on France's suggestion to bring the issue before the League of Nations council at Geneva late next week.

Public opinion in both nations, inflamed by newspaper reports and official intimations that Italy is responsible for the increasingly frequent raids on neutral merchantmen and warships, was believed to be nearing the limit of its patience.

Molestation of shipping on Britain's empire "life line," and especially off the east coast of Spain, was capped by mysterious submarine attacks on the British destroyer Havock and the British tanker Woodford.

The Havock dodged torpedoes from an unidentified submarine off the Spanish coast Monday night and loosed depth charges that may have sunk the submarine.

The Woodford, fired on in nearby waters a few hours later, was sunk. Her second engineer was killed. The rest of her crew of 32 brought ashore six wounded seamen in open boats.

ACCIDENT FATAL TO SPEED FLIER

Texan Killed In Crash Preceding Opening Of National Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Lee Miles, Fort Worth, Tex., speed flier, was killed late today on the eve of the opening of the national air races tomorrow when he tore off a wing and crashed his special racer on a test flight at Cleveland airport.

His ship crashed from an altitude of 200 feet, it was announced at the administration building of the Cleveland airport.

Miles' body was pulled from the wreckage of his ship about a half-hour after the crash. His plane did not burn, airport officials said. They believed the flier had the foresight to pull the switches when he found he was in trouble.

He was rounding a pylon at the north end of the field at low altitude in his speedy little ship when, spectators said, one wing was sheared off by the tremendous buffetting of the wind, and the machine plummeted into a grove of trees adjoining the airport.

Miles was entered in the Greve trophy race over a 150-mile closed course on Sunday.

Only yesterday, he flew to South Bend, Ind., to get a new carburetor for an airplane which was going to compete against his in the air races.

Miles, who was also entered in the 200-mile Thompson trophy race scheduled for Monday, was flying a low wing speedster several years old, powered with a Manasco motor.

DRIVER OF DEATH TRUCK ARRESTED

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A man listed as Harry Reeves was charged with drunken driving of an oil company truck which collided with an automobile, killing five persons.

The charge was filed by Chaptain Weston Fanguy, state highway policeman. A coroner's jury recommended that Reeves be held for grand jury investigation.

Reeves, son of Virge Reeves, former Calcasieu parish police juror, was himself injured in the collision, which occurred yesterday afternoon six miles east of here.

Those killed were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kaough, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kaough and Miss Ione Steed. Leo Kaough, Jr., 16, was slightly injured. The group was enroute to see a baseball game at Lafayette.

GETS A JOB

There's a big reason for the big grin, becomingly worn by Betty Jane Wasson, above, former University of Minnesota co-ed. Charged by Seattle, Wash., authorities with a $6-check forgery, Betty Jane had to get a job to forestall prosecution. Police broadcast an appeal in her behalf—several offers were received—and you see Betty Jane smiling her gratitude from behind the counter of a Seattle florist's shop.

PORT PARALYSIS FEARED ON COAST

C. I. O.-A. F. L. Controversy Threatens Another Shipping Tie-Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The old specter of port paralysis loitered today behind the stiffening lines of a C. I. O.-A. F. L. controversy, suddenly placed before the national labor relations board.

Waterfront authorities began marshalling all available cargo space in the bay area to hold goods in shipment pending settlement of the dispute, which had led A. F. L. teamsters to stop trucking to and from the docks in an effort to force a showdown with the C. I. O. over the status of 75 allegedly "locked out" warehousemen, allies of the John L. Lewis organization.

The C. I. O.-affiliated warehousemen's union filed charges of discrimination and unfair labor practices against the California Packing corporation, former employer of the 75 workers who have been off their jobs since last October.

Leaders of the longshoremen's union, parent of the warehousemen's organization, called a mass meeting to present the situation to the "rank and file," and asked teamsters union officers and members to attend.

With 400 big teamsters trucks standing idle, goods slowly began piling up at the docks. Teamster pickets ranged the embarcadero, seeing that only perishables, mail, ship supplies and goods already in transit were handled.

OFFICERS OUTRUN SPRINTING WOMAN

LAREDO, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A woman suspect in a burglary case, taken to the jail yard here, made a dash for liberty today, scaled an eight-foot wall and ran two blocks before a squad of officers overtook her.

Deputy Sheriff John K. Williams of Mirando City said the woman and her husband were arrested there yesterday in connection with the burglary of the home of Mrs. J. G. White, daughter of State Senator Jim Neal.

The suspects were booked as Sam F. Colson, 28, and his wife, Margaret, 27, of Asheville, N. C. Williams said they were arrested when an automobile they were driving overturned during a chase over country roads.

Gordon Newman Surrenders After Returning To Home In Mississippi

REMOVED BY SHERIFF TO SAFETY IN JACKSON JAIL

Dr. A. D. Root Dies Instantly; Blacksmith Witnesses Shooting

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Gordon Newman, 45-year-old Amite county farmer charged with murdering his wife and Dr. A. D. Root, Kentwood, La., dentist this afternoon, was brought to the Hinds county jail here tonight by Sheriff A. T. Harvey of Liberty.

Sheriff John W. Roberts said Sheriff Harvey arrived here at 7:30 p.m., with the prisoner, booked him on the jail docket on a charge of murder, and ordered him locked up in the death cell.

Sheriff Harvey left immediately for Liberty, Roberts said, leaving instructions that Newman was not to be questioned tonight.

Sheriff Roberts quoted Sheriff Harvey as saying Newman surrendered to him at the home of his brother, C. H. Newman, at Gillsburg, Miss., late this afternoon, admitting that he killed his wife and the Kentwood dentist.

Mrs. Newman, 38, mother of five children, was clubbed to death at the Newman home at Gillsburg about 3:30 this afternoon, the sheriff said.

He quoted the Amite county sheriff as saying Newman drove to Kentwood and fired five bullets through a doorway into Dr. Root's body.

"Newman did not make a statement here," Sheriff Roberts said, "and Sheriff Harvey said he did not assign any motive for the slayings."

Following the Kentwood shooting Newman went to his brother's home at Gillsburg, where the sheriff was waiting for him, and surrendered.

Dr. Root was a married man with a grown son.

The double murder was unique in that Mrs. Newman was killed in Mississippi, just above the Louisiana boundary line, and Dr. Root was slain in Louisiana. Both states probably will seek custody of Newman.

Joe Vann, a blacksmith who was doing some repair work in the dentist's office, told Coroner O. D. Ricks that Newman came in without saying a word and fired at Dr. Root over his (Vann's) shoulder, then left.

WILLIAMSON GIVES VIEWS ON COTTON

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—N. C. Williamson, of Lake Providence, La., president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, said today that cotton farmers must be "compensated out of the United States treasury if they are to be placed on economic equality with other groups of our citizens."

Williamson, chairman of a committee of 18 selected at a conference of farm leaders at Washington last February to draft a general farm bill, made the suggestion in a letter to Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture of Louisiana, in answer to an invitation to attend a meeting of the southern commissioners of agriculture at Memphis this week.

He is attending hearings before a legislative committee investigating the handling of government loan cotton by his association.

"Any general farm bill embracing a program which is fair to cotton farmers must recognize definitely two fundamentally sound principles," Williamson said.

"First, the south must continue to produce cotton for export, and second, the cotton farmers must be repaid in part at least, the tariff toll they pay to other groups in the price of goods they buy."

LECHE GIVES R. M. CARR REPRIEVE OF 60 DAYS

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Governor Richard Leche today granted a 60-day reprieve to R. M. Carr, serving a six-month sentence in the Ouachita parish jail, "in order that he may receive proper medical attention and home nursing." Leche said he acted upon the recommendation of the Ouachita parish coroner, the trial judge and Carr's attending physician. Carr was convicted in the spring term of district court at Monroe of stabbing his brother-in-law, Earl Voss.

ISSUES PROCLAMATION

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Governor Richard Leche today proclaimed the week beginning October 3 as "fire prevention week" in Louisiana. He asked the "active cooperation of all in the prevention of fire waste."

SHANGHAI, Sept. 3.—(Friday)—(AP)—Unconfirmed reports that Chinese bombing panes had carried the war to Japan and bombarded Kagoshima on the southern island of Kyushu electrified Chinese circles here today.

No sources other than Chinese had the reports, and foreign authorities were inclined to doubt them. How-

NEW SUGAR LAW GOES IN EFFECT

Secretary Wallace Increases Estimate Of Consumption This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Secretary Wallace put the new sugar control law into effect today, increasing his estimate of sugar consumption in the United States this year and authorizing continental cane growers to supply the bulk of that increase.

The new law, signed by President Roosevelt last night despite his opposition to some of its provisions, sets up a new formula for apportioning the American sugar market among domestic, insular and other areas.

Acting under that formula, Wallace boosted the estimate of 1937 consumption 360,000 tons and then apportioned the increase as follows:

Continental cane growers (Florida and Louisiana), 172,129 tons; continental beet growers (Colorado, California and other western states), 19,785; Cuba, 92,115; Philippine islands, 49,562; Hawaii, 11,866; Puerto Rico, 9,446; Vir-

STATE TAX SUIT TO BE ARGUED TODAY

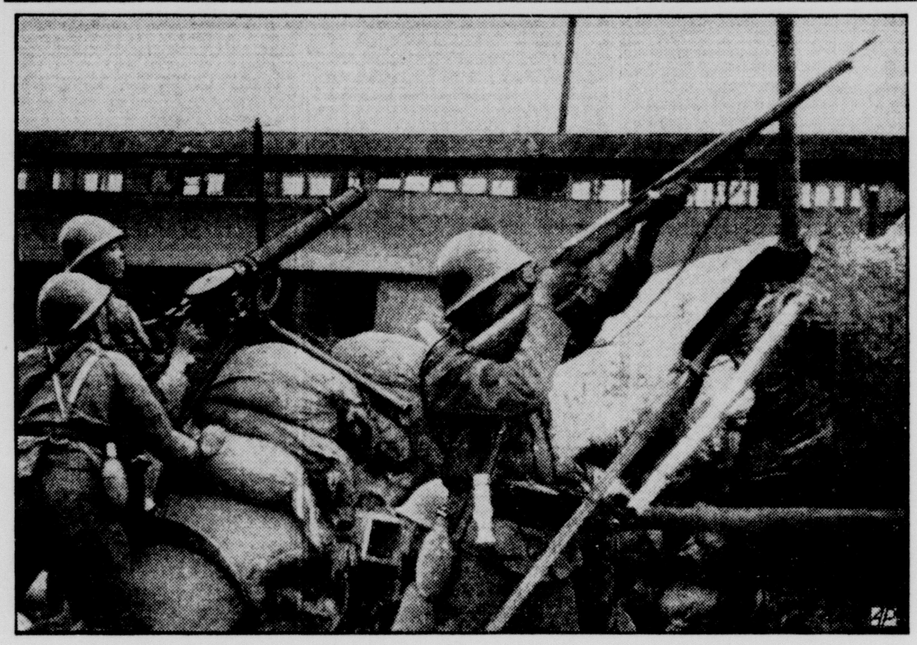
BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Constitutionality of the Louisiana "luxury" sales tax is to be argued tomorrow morning before District Judge J. D. Womack in the suit of Fournet and Sierra, New Orleans, against Alice Lee Grosjean, state collector of revenue, and Gaston L. Porterie, attorney general.

Originally scheduled for August 26, the hearing was postponed by Judge Womack on a motion of Justin C. Daspit, attorney for the state collector of revenue, who requested additional time to prepare arguments.

The suit was filed by Eugene Stanley, former district attorney of Orleans parish, on behalf of the New Orleans Grocery company and its stockholders.

A rule nisi was issued by District Judge Charles A. Holcombe here directing the defendants to show cause why they should not be enjoined from further enforcing the tax. The case was assigned to Judge Womack.

JAPANESE BATTLE CHINESE AIRMEN AT SHANGHAI



This picture, one of the first to come from the blood-strewn Hongkew section of Shanghai, shows Japanese anti-aircraft units battling Chinese war planes. Airships of both the Chinese and Japanese have exacted a heavy toll in death and destruction in that sector.

INSURGENT ARMY MOVES FORWARD

Drives Five Miles Into Oviedo After Loyalists Dynamite Mountain

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 2.—(AP)—An insurgent column smashed its way five miles into Oviedo province today although Asturian miners dynamited a mountainside in an effort to block the road into the only province of the northern coast remaining in government hands.

The blast was set off on a peak just within the Oviedo frontier in the Cuera range. It hurled a mass of debris into the path of the insurgents advancing on the port Llanas on the road to Gijon, the government's last remaining Bay of Biscay port now that Bilbao and Santander have fallen.

Insurgent dispatches, however, said the road was only partially blocked and that the advance was not halted.

Reports reached the border that Asturian leaders were negotiating with Franco for the surrender of Gijon, which would mean disappearance of the government flag from the northern coastal region.

Parliamentary deputies from Gijon were said to be parleying with the commander of the invading column.

The insurgents also claimed successes on the Aragon front, 200 miles to the southeast. They said communications had been reestablished between Teruel and Zaragoza, insurgent strongholds, after government militia units had been driven from all sectors between the two cities.

A government communique from Valencia, however, asserted the government lines had been tightened around Belchite, 20 miles south of Zaragoza, in spite of terrific insurgent aerial and artillery bombardments. House-to-house fighting was reported on the western fringe of Belchite.

Two insurgent columns were participating in the march on Gijon. Insurgent officers said residents of towns in the path of the advance received the newcomers jubilantly and erected triumphal arches in their honor.

An entire government battalion of 1,019 men was reported captured Wednesday on the Santander-Oviedo frontier.

YOUTH ARRESTED IN SHOOTING OF 5 BOYS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A youth listed as Raymond Lendeche, 17, of Killona, La., was arrested today in connection with the wounding yesterday of five boys who sought to invade his father's sugar cane patch.

Taking a few stalks of cane and chewing it for the sweet juice it contains is a time-honored custom with boys in the sugar belt of the state, but it annoys the planters.

Lendeche was held in the St. Charles parish jail at Hahnville on a charge of shooting and wounding with intent to kill. He said he had not intended to wound the boys but merely to frighten them.

The most seriously wounded of the boys was Clifford Ockman, 10, who was brought to Charity hospital here suffering multiple birdshot wounds of the face and upper body. His condition was not dangerous.

The wounded youngster said he couldn't understand why anyone would want to shoot him for a "little thing" like taking a few stalks of cane.

He denied trying to "steal" the cane.

"We were just taking it," he said.

16 Or 17 Sailors Reported Rescued After Vessel Goes To Bottom In Mexican Gulf

Seaman Who Swam Ashore Gives Graphic Account Of Sea Disaster

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A rescue fleet saved nine members of the crew of the sunken steamship Tarpon today, three others swam ashore and two bodies were recovered as frantic efforts were made to account for all aboard before nightfall.

With the 14 saved or known dead, it was believed 14 others were still in the sea. Four coast guard cutters and a number of small craft scoured the area.

Searchers feared other possible survivors could not stand the privations of another night in the water.

The coast guard cutter Triton reported tonight it had recovered the body of Captain W. G. Barrow and rescued nine survivors of the S. S. Tarpon, coastwise freighter swamped by heavy seas yesterday 12 miles off shore.

Fourteen men were unaccounted for. Officers said they were taking the rescued seamen to Pensacola for treatment of exhaustion and exposure.

PANAMA CITY, Fla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dosie Bass of Fort Walton telephoned the News-Herald here late today he had been told "16 or 17" members of the crew of the sunken freighter Tarpon had been picked up alive in the Gulf of Mexico.

Bass said he had just reached Destin, closest land point to the scene of the sea tragedy, in a small boat in which he had been aiding in the search for survivors.

He said other searchers informed him several larger boats had picked up "16 or 17" members of the Tarpon's crew. He said he had not learned whether Captain W. C. Barrow was among those saved.

SEAMAN DESCRIBES SINKING OF SHIP

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. J. O. Yarborough, of Panama City, Fla., by telephone today told the New Orleans States the eye witness story of the sinking of the steamer Tarpon in the Gulf of Mexico as given to her by Adley Baker, survivor who swam ashore and was taken to her home.

"Adley Baker, of Mobile, told me this morning," Mrs. Yarborough said, "that the vessel capsized and sank within two minutes yesterday during

SHREVEPORT MAN ACCUSED OF FRAUD

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Investigation of state and federal charges of gasoline tax evasion continued today with the arrest of V. A. Dunham, of Shreveport, who was released on $2,000 bond fixed at a hearing this morning before United States Commissioner Albert E. Bryson. The arrest was made by federal officers.

Dunham, with L. D. Sneed and Jewell Sanders, is charged by both state and federal authorities with conspiring to evade payment of gasoline taxes. Sneed and Sanders were released on bond Wednesday.

The defendants are alleged to have switched tank cars of gasoline at night from one spur of a local refinery railroad track to another, where the gasoline was unloaded into trucks. The gas was then transported to storage tanks or bulk stations, the complaints charge.

PARALYSIS FATAL TO DENVER CHILD

Victim One Of Two Girls For Whom Breathing Devices Were Rushed

DENVER, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Maybelle Outcalt, 15, one of two girl victims of infantile paralysis for whom artificial breathing devices were rushed to Denver from the east, died today, physicians at Denver General hospital reported.

Maybelle, who with 2-year-old Shirley Krause, shared Denver's only "iron lung" respirator until two arrived by airplane and streamlined train today, grew gradually worse despite the artificial breathing apparatus, and succumbed.

Shirley, who had occupied the "iron long" most of the time for three weeks, virtually gave up its use to the Outcalt girl last night. She was placed in the wooden respirator when it arrived from Toronto today and then transferred to the second "iron lung" which came from Chicago.

Maybelle was the second member of her family to succumb to infantile paralysis. A brother, George, Jr., died August 21. Maybelle was stricken Monday.

Earlier today, Dr. T. L. Williams, deputy county health commissioner, had said the new respirators arrived none too soon.

Little Shirley had remained outside the hospital's "iron lung"—until today the only one of its kind in the mountain region—all night, desperately forcing her partially paralyzed muscles to operate her lungs.

She had relinquished her place in the respirator to Maybelle, whose immediate need, physicians decided, was greater.

With only her head protruding from the big cylinder, Shirley called for food today. That Dr. Williams explained, was almost a sure sign she had weathered successfully the waiting period while the "iron lungs" were being sped westward.

"We don't know how long she might

1,000 MEN SEARCH FOR MISSING CADET

GRAPELAND, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A thousand men on land and a hundred fighting planes with sharp-eyed observers ran down a dozen groundless clues today in their hunt through east Texas' dense big thickets for Cadet Guy Edgerton of Kelly field, missing since Monday night.

Near Lufkin, 1,000 CCC enrollees spaced themselves 50 feet apart and prowled carefully through the brush and pine forest. They hoped to cover every square foot of an area 20 miles in diameter south, east and west of Lufkin.

At Longview, a newspaper, the American Legion post and a Kilgore air service joined forces for a land and air search in the Sabine river district after Mrs. H. T. Miller reported she saw a flaming object fall during a rainstorm Monday night.

Two squadrons of planes from Kelly and Randolph fields, San Antonio, many of them manned by classmates of the missing cadet, spent another day flying over the huge area where Edgerton's plane may have come to earth.

ENGLAND HURRIES MORE WAR CRAFT TO SAVE VESSELS FROM SUBMARINE

France In Full Agreement With Plan To Patrol Mediterranean

BRITISH PATIENCE NEAR END; GUNS HELD READY

Press Lays Attacks To Italy; Big International Crisis Seen

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—British naval reinforcements sped into the western Mediterranean tonight with guns ready to thunder Great Britain's answer to mysterious submarine and airplane attacks on British ships.

The cabinet decision for more warships in the trouble zone off the coast of Spain was made with the full concurrence of France.

Both nations also were agreed on France's suggestion to bring the issue before the League of Nations council at Geneva late next week.

Public opinion in both nations, inflamed by newspaper reports and official intimations that Italy is responsible for the increasingly frequent raids on neutral merchantmen and warships, was believed to be nearing the limit of its patience.

Molestation of shipping on Britain's empire "life line," and especially off the east coast of Spain, was capped by mysterious submarine attacks on the British destroyer Havock and the British tanker Woodford.

The Havock dodged torpedoes from an unidentified submarine off the Spanish coast Monday night and loosed depth charges that may have sunk the submarine.

The Woodford, fired on in nearby waters a few hours later, was sunk. Her second engineer was killed. The rest of her crew of 32 brought ashore six wounded seamen in open boats.

ACCIDENT FATAL TO SPEED FLIER

Texan Killed In Crash Preceding Opening Of National Air Races

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Lee Miles, Fort Worth, Tex., speed flier, was killed late today on the eve of the opening of the national air races tomorrow when he tore off a wing and crashed his special racer on a test flight at Cleveland airport.

His ship crashed from an altitude of 200 feet, it was announced at the administration building of the Cleveland airport.

Miles' body was pulled from the wreckage of his ship about a half-hour after the crash. His plane did not burn, airport officials said. They believed the flier had the foresight to pull the switches when he found he was in trouble.

He was rounding a pylon at the north end of the field at low altitude in his speedy little ship when, spectators said, one wing was sheared off by the tremendous buffetting of the wind, and the machine plummeted into a grove of trees adjoining the airport.

Miles was entered in the Greve trophy race over a 150-mile closed course on Sunday.

Only yesterday, he flew to South Bend, Ind., to get a new carburetor for an airplane which was going to compete against his in the air races.

Miles, who was also entered in the 200-mile Thompson trophy race scheduled for Monday, was flying a low wing speedster several years old, powered with a Manasco motor.

DRIVER OF DEATH TRUCK ARRESTED

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 2—(AP)—A man listed as Harry Reeves was charged with drunken driving of an oil company truck which collided with an automobile, killing five persons.

The charge was filed by Chaptain Weston Fanguy, state highway policeman. A coroner's jury recommended that Reeves be held for grand jury investigation.

Reeves, son of Virge Reeves, former Calcasieu parish police juror, was himself injured in the collision, which occurred yesterday afternoon six miles east of here.

Those killed were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kaough, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kaough and Miss Ione Steed. Leo Kaough, Jr., 16, was slightly injured. The group was enroute to see a baseball game at Lafayette.

PORT PARALYSIS FEARED ON COAST

C. I. O.-A. F. L. Controversy Threatens Another Shipping Tie-Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The old specter of port paralysis loitered today behind the stiffening lines of a C. I. O.-A. F. L. controversy, suddenly placed before the national labor relations board.

Waterfront authorities began marshalling all available cargo space in the bay area to hold goods in shipment pending settlement of the dispute, which had led A. F. L. teamsters to stop trucking to and from the docks in an effort to force a showdown with the C. I. O. over the status of 75 allegedly "locked out" warehousemen, allies of the John L. Lewis organization.

The C. I. O.-affiliated warehousemen's union filed charges of discrimination and unfair labor practices against the California Packing corporation, former employer of the 75 workers who have been off their jobs since last October.

Leaders of the longshoremen's union, parent of the warehousemen's organization, called a mass meeting to present the situation to the "rank and file," and asked teamsters union officers and members to attend.

With 400 big teamsters trucks standing idle goods slowly began piling up at the docks. Teamster pickets ranged the embarcadero, seeing that only perishables, mail, ship supplies and goods already in transit were handled.

OFFICERS OUTRUN SPRINTING WOMAN

LAREDO, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A woman suspect in a burglary case, taken to the jail yard here, made a dash for liberty today, scaled an eight-foot wall and ran two blocks before a squad of officers overtook her.

Deputy Sheriff John K. Williams of Mirando City said the woman and her husband were arrested there yesterday in connection with the burglary of the home of Mrs. J. G. While, daughter of State Senator Jim Neal.

The suspects were booked as Sam F. Colson, 28, and his wife, Margaret, 27, of Asheville, N. C. Williams said they were arrested when an automobile they were driving overturned during a chase over country roads.

Gordon Newman Surrenders After Returning To Home In Mississippi

Dr. A. D. Root Dies Instantly; Blacksmith Witnesses Shooting

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Gordon Newman, 45-year-old Amite county farmer charged with murdering his wife and Dr. A. D. Root, Kentwood, La., dentist this afternoon, was brought to the Hinds county jail here tonight by Sheriff A. T. Harvey of Liberty.

Sheriff John W. Roberts said Sheriff Harvey arrived here at 7:30 p.m., with the prisoner, booked him on the jail docket on a charge of murder, and ordered him locked up in the death cell.

Sheriff Harvey left immediately for Liberty, Roberts said, leaving instructions that Newman was not to be questioned tonight.

Sheriff Roberts quoted Sheriff Harvey as saying Newman surrendered to him at the home of his brother, C. H. Newman, at Gillsburg, Miss., late this afternoon, admitting that he killed his wife and the Kentwood dentist.

Mrs. Newman, 38, mother of five children, was clubbed to death at the Newman home at Gillsburg about 3:30 this afternoon, the sheriff said.

He quoted the Amite county sheriff as saying Newman drove to Kentwood and fired five bullets through a doorway into Dr. Root's body.

"Newman did not make a statement here," Sheriff Roberts said, "and Sheriff Harvey said he did not assign any motive for the slayings."

Following the Kentwood shooting Newman went to his brother's home at Gillsburg, where the sheriff was waiting for him, and surrendered.

Dr. Root was a married man with a grown son.

The double murder was unique in that Mrs. Newman was killed in Mississippi, just above the Louisiana boundary line, and Dr. Root was slain in Louisiana. Both states probably will seek custody of Newman.

Joe Vann, a blacksmith who was doing some repair work in the dentist's office, told Coroner O. D. Ricks that Newman came in without saying a word and fired at Dr. Root over his (Vann's) shoulder, then left.

WILLIAMSON GIVES VIEWS ON COTTON

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 2.—(AP)—N. C. Williamson, of Lake Providence, La., president of the American Cotton Cooperative association, said today that cotton farmers must be "compensated out of the United States treasury if they are to be placed on economic equality with other groups of our citizens."

Williamson, chairman of a committee of 18 selected at a conference of farm leaders at Washington last February to draft a general farm bill, made the suggestion in a letter to Harry D. Wilson, commissioner of agriculture of Louisiana, in answer to an invitation to attend a meeting of the southern commissioners of agriculture at Memphis this week.

He is attending hearings before a legislative committee investigating the handling of government loan cotton by his association.

"Any general farm bill embracing a program which is fair to cotton farmers must recognize definitely two fundamentally sound principles," Williamson said.

"First, the south must continue to produce cotton for export, and second, the cotton farmers must be repaid in part at least, the tariff toll they pay to other groups in the price of goods they buy."

LECHE GIVES R. M. CARR REPRIEVE OF 60 DAYS

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Governor Richard Leche today granted a 60-day reprieve to R. M. Carr, serving a six-month sentence in the Ouachita parish jail, "in order that he may receive proper medical attention and home nursing." Leche said he acted upon the recommendation of the Ouachita parish coroner, the trial judge and Carr's attending physician. Carr was convicted in the spring term of district court at Monroe of stabbing his brother-in-law, Earl Voss.

SHIP GOES DOWN IN MEXICAN GULF

a heavy squall twelve miles off Panama City and East pass.

"Baker said the vessel carried a crew of 25 men and no passengers and that he feared a score or more of them were dead.

"Exhausted and almost unconscious, he was brought to my home about noon today after spending 26 hours in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and swimming 12 miles to shore.

"He told me he had landed on the beach at Philip's inlet, 50 miles east of here, and was so exhausted he couldn't walk. He crawled a mile to the highway and feebly flagged a passing motorist who brought him to Panama City.

"He was an oiler on the vessel and told me that when she capsized he dove through a porthole. He saw other members of the crew clinging to bits of wreckage and knew others were trapped in the engine room of the ship.

"The Tarpon left Pensacola Tuesday night, he told me. Wednesday morning, he said, the ship ran into heavy weather and the boat began to list to the starboard. At about 8:45, 'We hit a heavy squall, she plunged into a wave, capsized, and went under,' he said.

"Baker said he knew one negro sailor went down with the vessel. 'There was no time for life boats or life preservers,' he told me. 'We went into the water and the water was rough. I saw a number of the crew on the surface as I struck out for the direction of the shore. But I know one negro went down aboard the ship.'

"He said Captain W. G. Barrow, of Pensacola, Fla., commanded the vessel and had about ten white men and 15 negroes in his crew. Captain Barrow, he said, was a veteran of 40 years service on the gulf coast.

"A strong wind aided Baker in his swim, he told me, but at times he was so exhausted he almost fainted. He said several times he was ready to give up and towards the end of the swim he remembered nothing of it temporarily.

"'It was all a fog then,' he told me. 'I was so exhausted that I didn't even know at times that I was in the water. When I reached the shore I said thank God, and collapsed. I crawled on my hands and knees and worked my way to the highway. I saw an automobile coming along and I flagged it. The driver stopped and I passed out again.

"'The next thing I knew I was here in Panama City. Then they brought me to your house.'

"He told me that all he can think of now is his shipmates. 'Oh, God,' he said, 'I hope they find them.'" have held out if the respirators had not arrived," he said. "She was very tired when the wooden box got here, even though she had managed a little sleep."

The wooden box from Toronto, no longer needed by the Krause child since the more perfect iron chamber arrived, will be kept in Denver for emergency use, Dr. Williams explained. The Toronto Star, which rushed it to Denver by relays of planes, informed him, he said, it need not be returned.

The box had been sawed into several sections to permit its being placed in an airplane cabin and flown to Denver in relays. It was received with undeveloped pictures made in Toronto when it was dismantled. The pictures were promptly developed and guided city firemen and doctors in hastily reassembling the machine.

Toronto physicians had time only to scribble a few hurried notes of instruction before the long dash to Denver began.

The more modern respirator, obtained from the Chicago Rapid Transit company by the Chicago Evening American, was put into use soon after its later arrival by train, Dr. Williams said, because it permitted easier handling of the patient.

MURDER CHARGE FILED

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Sheriff Henry A. Reid, of Calcasieu parish, said today he had filed a charge of murder against Elida Abshire, employe of a cafe near the Louisiana-Texas border, in connection with the shooting and killing of F. J. Simms Tuesday night.

JAPANESE DENY CITY WAS BOMBED

ever, it was recalled the Chinese possesses powerful, long range bombers and have threatened repeatedly to send them across the Yellow sea to strike at the enemy's homeland.

Magoskima, a city of 137,000 at the southern tip of Kyushu, is about 600 miles in a direct line from Nanking, probably the nearest Chinese airbase.

Well authenticated reports said the Chinese air force had struck telling blows closer to home, with punishing raids against the Japanese forces which have gained a footing on the southern bank of the Yangtze river.

Ten Chinese bombers from bases west of Soochow inflicted heavy losses and returned to their bases unscathed.

Chinese planes also bombed the airbase the Japanese army recently established on Tsungmind island, in the Yangtze estuary.

The Chinese aerial activity was reported seriously dislocating Japanese plans to land a huge expedition along the Yangtze shore for a push inland.

Late Thursday Japanese bombers continued to operate close to the American marines' and British infantry defense lines in Shanghai's international settlement, seriously imperilling the forces on guard there.

The Japanese command notified British authorities such raids would continue and advised withdrawel of outposts along the British line, which is a continuation of the American.

The main battle for Shanghai continued fiercely along the curving 20-mile front between Woosung and Liuho, 12 to 20 miles north and northwest of Shanghai, with heavy expenditure of men and munitions but no decisive military change. Japanese claimed minor gains; Chinese denied even these.

Within the Foreign areas of Shanghai one peril to foreign lives was lessened when authorities of the French concession announced the outbreak of cholera there had been put under control. No foreigners had contracted the disease.

In a sunset raid Thursday the Japanese bombing squadrons caused havoc to Chinese life and property in areas just outside the marines' lines, on which shrapnel fell thickly. However, there were no American casualties. The Japanese apparently were aiming at the Chinese mint and other government buildings nearby.

The British made no response to the Japanese notification, which said Chinese communications lines in the Jessfield park district near the British lines would be bombed. St. John's university, largely supported by American mission funds, lies in the endangered area.

Daily air raids along their front, coupled with heavy fire from Japanese warships at Chinese positions has made the marines' sector so dangerous the men wore steel helmets and keep close behind their heavy sandbag barricades.

Desperate Chinese resistance all along the Yangtze river front prevented the Japanese army's long-heralded drive inland from the river from gaining momentum. In two weeks the Japanese have gained little more than a toehold for the big offensive their commanders have said would smash all Chinese resistance in this area and move the tides of war far from Shanghai.

The Japanese, admitting their previous claims of the capture of Paoshan were premature, announced their troops were approaching that walled town, a little northwest of Woosung, at the confluence of the Yangtze and the Whangpoo.

Liuho, at the western end of the Yangtze battleground, also was the scene of desperate fighting. Japanese warships and air squadrons subjected the town to devastating bombardment but apparently without compelling Chinese troops to fall back or breaking Chinese morale.

Twenty-eight Japanese troopships were observed offshore at Woosung and Liuho, trying to land men, tanks, artillery and munitions. American authorities estimated that Japan is attempting to land a total of 42,000 men along this shore, to bring its total land strength around Shanghai to 75,000 men, pitted against 200,000 Chinese.

Chinese officials asserted their stubborn defense along the Yangtze had prevented the Japanese landed at Liuho from effecting a junction with those ashore at Woosung. The latter town, practically levelled in the 1932 Chinese-Japanese conflict, once more was a scene of desolation.

Japanese dispatches from the northern battle zone asserted all the Peiping-Kalgan railway had come under domination of the Japanese columns operating along the highway to inner Asia.

In Kalgan, gateway to the northwest and capital of Chahar province, a Japanese-fostered "peace maintenance commission" had been established. This was similar to commissions already set up in Peiping and Tientsin, and foreign observers believed all would soon be merged into some kind of autonomous, Japanese-domirated administration for all of conquered north China.

The Japanese consulate-general in Tientsin said it had received information that 72 Russian airplanes had arrived in Shecsi province, north central China, and that 70 more Russian planes were on the way.

Japanese said they did not know whether China had bought these planes from Russia or whether they were "a Soviet contribution to a Chinese-Soviet anti-Japanese front."

With hundreds of Chinese bodies still unburied in northern Shanghai, danger to health continued. Japanese in control of that section were burning scores of bodies. Cholera was still reported at Hongkong, and authorities here feared the typhoon which struck the city Thursday might intensify its dangers.

A German and a Czech who ventured between the Chinese and Japanese lines in the Kiangwan district north of Shanghai were wounded by Chinese troops, who apparently mistook them for Japanese. They had gone into the war zone to inspect property belonging to their firms. Japanese marines rescued them and placed them in a hospital. They were expected to recover.

T. V. Soong, former minister of finance, who is leading China's drive to raise a war fund of $150,000,000, told the Associated Press China will fight "until she achieves a just peace."

Soong, brother of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and brother-in-law of Dr. H. H. Kung, present finance minister, said China was doomed to a long and bitter struggle into which the nation was prepared to throw all its energies.

Soong said he was not alarmed by Japan's huge war appropriations. (The Japanese government already has appropriated more than half a billion yen ($145,000,000) for the war in China and the diet session opening Friday is expected to raise this to nearly two billion yen ($580,000,000).

"Even before the war Japanese finances were tottering from the burdens imposed by militarism," Soong declared. "Her huge extra-ordinary expenditures for the present war merely accelerate the collapse. Further, Japan is an industrialized nation, dependent on foreign sources for her raw materials, and so is more vulnerable than an agricultural nation like China, which, although less organized, is also less suceptible to economic shocks.

"Japan is destined to find China a morass into which the Japanese armies will sink as they seek to drive further into China."

stung into action by the dangerous situation, was understood to have ordered a full cabinet meeting September 8. Authoritative sources said Britain's Mediterranean war fleet was strengthened at Chamberlain's insistence.

British cabinet ministers met twice today under the chairmanship of Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, to deal with the crisis caused by the attack on the Havock. They were unaware that the Woodford had been sunk until the news was delivered to them in session.

A large section of the British press laid the repeated attacks to Italy and declared Italy should be willing to re-examine the entire Mediterranean question.

Chamberlain approved the Mediterranean conference as an answer to the latest "acts of piracy on the Mediterranean."

French quarters said proposals for such a conference, the result of five days of negotiations, were "quite satisfactory." They were understood to be confident that Italy will be called to task internationally for intervention ashore and afloat in the Spanish civil war.

If Premier Mussolini of Italy refuses to adopt a conciliatory attitude, authoritative sources predicted, France will feel compelled to consider lifting her ban on volunteers in the war.

Britain also was expected to give Il Duce to understand that the moment would be "most inappropriate" for friendship conversations unless the present tension is considerably relaxed.

The sea attacks, which have affected ships of many flags, threatened to become a large scale international crisis.

It was believed that Turkey, Greece, Egypt and the government of Republican Spain, all sufferers in the attacks, would expect to attend the league discussions. It was considered probable also that Russia would want to be included.

Russian officials said more than 80 Soviet freighters have been lost or molested since the Spanish war began.

Diplomatic circles predicted Russia would support a French proposal to create a system of international convoys for neutral merchant shipping if such a proposal is introduced.

AAA officials said the new law authorizes benefit payments to growers on sugar marketed after July 1 this year. SHIP GOES DOWN IN MEXICAN GULF

a heavy squall twelve miles off Panama City and East pass.

"Baker said the vessel carried a crew of 25 men and no passengers and that he feared a score or more of them were dead.

"Exhausted and almost unconscious, he was brought to my home about noon today after spending 26 hours in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and swimming 12 miles to shore.

"He told me he had landed on the beach at Philip's inlet, 50 miles east of here, and was so exhausted he couldn't walk. He crawled a mile to the highway and feebly flagged a passing motorist who brought him to Panama City.

"He was an oiler on the vessel and told me that when she capsized he dove through a porthole. He saw other members of the crew clinging to bits of wreckage and knew others were trapped in the engine room of the ship.

"The Tarpon left Pensacola Tuesday night, he told me. Wednesday morning, he said, the ship ran into heavy weather and the boat began to list to the starboard. At about 8:45, 'We hit a heavy squall, she plunged into a wave, capsized, and went under,' he said.

"Baker said he knew one negro sailor went down with the vessel. 'There was no time for life boats or life preservers,' he told me. 'We went into the water and the water was rough. I saw a number of the crew on the surface as I struck out for the direction of the shore. But I know one negro went down aboard the ship.'

"He said Captain W. G. Barrow, of Pensacola, Fla., commanded the vessel and had about ten white men and 15 negroes in his crew. Captain Barrow, he said, was a veteran of 40 years service on the gulf coast.

"A strong wind aided Baker in his swim, he told me, but at times he was so exhausted he almost fainted. He said several times he was ready to give up and towards the end of the swim he remembered nothing of it temporarily.

"'It was all a fog then,' he told me. 'I was so exhausted that I didn't even know at times that I was in the water. When I reached the shore I said thank God, and collapsed. I crawled on my hands and knees and worked my way to the highway. I saw an automobile coming along and I flagged it. The driver stopped and I passed out again.

"'The next thing I knew I was here in Panama City. Then they brought me to your house.'

"He told me that all he can think of now is his shipmates. 'Oh, God,' he said, 'I hope they find them.'" have held out if the respirators had not arrived," he said. "She was very tired when the wooden box got here, even though she had managed a little sleep."

The wooden box from Toronto, no longer needed by the Krause child since the more perfect iron chamber arrived, will be kept in Denver for emergency use, Dr. Williams explained. The Toronto Star, which rushed it to Denver by relays of planes, informed him, he said, it need not be returned.

The box had been sawed into several sections to permit its being placed in an airplane cabin and flown to Denver in relays. It was received with undeveloped pictures made in Toronto when it was dismantled. The pictures were promptly developed and guided city firemen and doctors in hastily reassembling the machine.

Toronto physicians had time only to scribble a few hurried notes of instruction before the long dash to Denver began.

The more modern respirator, obtained from the Chicago Rapid Transit company by the Chicago Evening American, was put into use soon after its later arrival by train, Dr. Williams said, because it permitted easier handling of the patient.

MURDER CHARGE FILED

LAKE CHARLES, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Sheriff Henry A. Reid, of Calcasieu parish, said today he had filed a charge of murder against Elida Abshire, employe of a cafe near the Louisiana-Texas border, in connection with the shooting and killing of F. J. Simms Tuesday night.

The name America was first applied to the new world in a map by Waldseemuller in 1507.

ever, it was recalled the Chinese possesses powerful, long range bombers and have threatened repeatedly to send them across the Yellow sea to strike at the enemy's homeland.

Magoskima, a city of 137,000 at the southern tip of Kyushu, is about 600 miles in a direct line from Nanking, probably the nearest Chinese airbase.

Well authenticated reports said the Chinese air force had struck telling blows closer to home, with punishing raids against the Japanese forces which have gained a footing on the southern bank of the Yangtze river.

Ten Chinese bombers from bases west of Soochow inflicted heavy losses and returned to their bases unscathed.

Chinese planes also bombed the airbase the Japanese army recently established on Tsungmind island, in the Yangtze estuary.

The Chinese aerial activity was reported seriously dislocating Japanese plans to land a huge expedition along the Yangtze shore for a push inland.

Late Thursday Japanese bombers continued to operate close to the American marines' and British infantry defense lines in Shanghai's international settlement, seriously imperilling the forces on guard there.

The Japanese command notified British authorities such raids would continue and advised withdrawel of outposts along the British line, which is a continuation of the American.

The main battle for Shanghai continued fiercely along the curving 20-mile front between Woosung and Liuho, 12 to 20 miles north and northwest of Shanghai, with heavy expenditure of men and munitions but no decisive military change. Japanese claimed minor gains; Chinese denied even these.

Within the Foreign areas of Shanghai one peril to foreign lives was lessened when authorities of the French concession announced the outbreak of cholera there had been put under control. No foreigners had contracted the disease.

In a sunset raid Thursday the Japanese bombing squadrons caused havoc to Chinese life and property in areas just outside the marines' lines, on which shrapnel fell thickly. However, there were no American casualties. The Japanese apparently were aiming at the Chinese mint and other government buildings nearby.

The British made no response to the Japanese notification, which said Chinese communications lines in the Jessfield park district near the British lines would be bombed. St. John's university, largely supported by American mission funds, lies in the endangered area.

Daily air raids along their front, coupled with heavy fire from Japanese warships at Chinese positions has made the marines' sector so dangerous the men wore steel helmets and keep close behind their heavy sandbag barricades.

Desperate Chinese resistance all along the Yangtze river front prevented the Japanese army's long-heralded drive inland from the river from gaining momentum. In two weeks the Japanese have gained little more than a toehold for the big offensive their commanders have said would smash all Chinese resistance in this area and move the tides of war far from Shanghai.

The Japanese, admitting their previous claims of the capture of Paoshan were premature, announced their troops were approaching that walled town, a little northwest of Woosung, at the confluence of the Yangtze and the Whangpoo.

Liuho, at the western end of the Yangtze battleground, also was the scene of desperate fighting. Japanese warships and air squadrons subjected the town to devastating bombardment but apparently without compelling Chinese troops to fall back or breaking Chinese morale.

Twenty-eight Japanese troopships were observed offshore at Woosung and Liuho, trying to land men, tanks, artillery and munitions. American authorities estimated that Japan is attempting to land a total of 42,000 men along this shore, to bring its total land strength around Shanghai to 75,000 men, pitted against 200,000 Chinese.

Chinese officials asserted their stubborn defense along the Yangtze had prevented the Japanese landed at Liuho from effecting a junction with those ashore at Woosung. The latter town, practically levelled in the 1932 Chinese-Japanese conflict, once more was a scene of desolation.

Japanese dispatches from the northern battle zone asserted all the Peiping-Kalgan railway had come under domination of the Japanese columns operating along the highway to inner Asia.

In Kalgan, gateway to the northwest and capital of Chahar province, a Japanese-fostered "peace maintenance commission" had been established. This was similar to commissions already set up in Peiping and Tientsin, and foreign observers believed all would soon be merged into some kind of autonomous, Japanese-domirated administration for all of conquered north China.

The Japanese consulate-general in Tientsin said it had received information that 72 Russian airplanes had arrived in Shecsi province, north central China, and that 70 more Russian planes were on the way.

Japanese said they did not know whether China had bought these planes from Russia or whether they were "a Soviet contribution to a Chinese-Soviet anti-Japanese front."

With hundreds of Chinese bodies still unburied in northern Shanghai, danger to health continued. Japanese in control of that section were burning scores of bodies. Cholera was still reported at Hongkong, and authorities here feared the typhoon which struck the city Thursday might intensify its dangers.

A German and a Czech who ventured between the Chinese and Japanese lines in the Kiangwan district north of Shanghai were wounded by Chinese troops, who apparently mistook them for Japanese. They had gone into the war zone to inspect property belonging to their firms. Japanese marines rescued them and placed them in a hospital. They were expected to recover.

T. V. Soong, former minister of finance, who is leading China's drive to raise a war fund of $150,000,000, told the Associated Press China will fight "until she achieves a just peace."

Soong, brother of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek and brother-in-law of Dr. H. H. Kung, present finance minister, said China was doomed to a long and bitter struggle into which the nation was prepared to throw all its energies.

Soong said he was not alarmed by Japan's huge war appropriations. (The Japanese government already has appropriated more than half a billion yen ($145,000,000) for the war in China and the diet session opening Friday is expected to raise this to nearly two billion yen ($580,000,000).

"Even before the war Japanese finances were tottering from the burdens imposed by militarism," Soong declared. "Her huge extra-ordinary expenditures for the present war merely accelerate the collapse. Further, Japan is an industrialized nation, dependent on foreign sources for her raw materials, and so is more vulnerable than an agricultural nation like China, which, although less organized, is also less suceptible to economic shocks.

"Japan is destined to find China a morass into which the Japanese armies will sink as they seek to drive further into China."

ENGLAND HURRIES MORE WAR CRAFT

stung into action by the dangerous situation, was understood to have ordered a full cabinet meeting September 8. Authoritative sources said Britain's Mediterranean war fleet was strengthened at Chamberlain's insistence.

British cabinet ministers met twice today under the chairmanship of Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, to deal with the crisis caused by the attack on the Havock. They were unaware that the Woodford had been sunk until the news was delivered to them in session.

A large section of the British press laid the repeated attacks to Italy and declared Italy should be willing to re-examine the entire Mediterranean question.

Chamberlain approved the Mediterranean conference as an answer to the latest "acts of piracy on the Mediterranean."

French quarters said proposals for such a conference, the result of five days of negotiations, were "quite satisfactory." They were understood to be confident that Italy will be called to task internationally for intervention ashore and afloat in the Spanish civil war.

If Premier Mussolini of Italy refuses to adopt a conciliatory attitude, authoritative sources predicted, France will feel compelled to consider lifting her ban on volunteers in the war.

Britain also was expected to give Il Duce to understand that the moment would be "most inappropriate" for friendship conversations unless the present tension is considerably relaxed.

The sea attacks, which have affected ships of many flags, threatened to become a large scale international crisis.

It was believed that Turkey, Greece, Egypt and the government of Republican Spain, all sufferers in the attacks, would expect to attend the league discussions. It was considered probable also that Russia would want to be included.

Russian officials said more than 80 Soviet freighters have been lost or molested since the Spanish war began.

Diplomatic circles predicted Russia would support a French proposal to create a system of international convoys for neutral merchant shipping if such a proposal is introduced.

NEW SUGAR LAW GOES IN EFFECT

gin islands, 3,934; foreign countries other than Cuba, 1,000.

As a result of the increases, the year's total quota for continental cane areas became 442,793 tons and that for continental beet regions 1,633,361.

AAA officials said the new law authorizes benefit payments to growers on sugar marketed after July 1 this year. Congress has not appropriated the $50,000,000 estimated necessary for the payments, but since they will not go out before next spring it will have an opportunity to do so at the January session.

NEPHEW OF MRS. WOODS DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Ted May, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James May of Tylertown, Miss., and a nephew of Mrs. Harold Woods of Monroe, was found dead in a field near his home yesterday afternoon, according to word received here last night. Meager information said a heart attack caused the lad's death.

Mr. and Mrs. Woods left last night for Tylertown.

H. Sager.

A banquet will follow tonight at 7:30 o'clock with after dinner speaking by O. A. Greer. The Virginia hotel's roof garden will be reserved from 7:30 o'clock tonight until midnight for dancing.

The program will continue tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and a meeting of district managers will follow Saturday afternoon.

OFFER ASSISTANCE TO PAROLED NEGRO

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Assistance from two Boston organizations today awaited 30-year-old Fleming Willis, paroled from a Georgia prison camp yesterday on condition that he come to Massachusetts.

Attorney Irwin T. Dorch, president of the Mutual Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced he would see that Willis was provided "with enough to eat and a place to sleep until the expiration of his sentence, provided he conducts himself as a good citizen."

Butler R. Wilson, president of the Boston branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that "if Willis will come to this organization and can satisfy us that he will work hard and behave himself, we will help him get a job."

The negro, a former Sunday school teacher who had served less than a month of a ten-month sentence for operating a lottery, was caught in a dispute between Governors E. D. Rivers of Georgia and Charles F. Hurley of Massachusetts.

Hurley's refusal, because of a "sense of humanity" to extradite Will Cunningham, an escaped convict wanted in Georgia for burglary, had incurred the displeasure of Governor Rivers.

LEGION SONS ADD TWO NEW MEMBERS

Two members were admitted to the Sons of the American Legion at a meeting held at the legion memorial home Wednesday night. They were James A. Noe, Jr., and Robert Holmes.

Membership prizes were awarded to the following members who brought in the most members in a recent campaign: Brooks Stein, first prize, a belt and buckle; Seymour Tuey, a shirt; and J. L. Stein, a necktie.

Plans were discussed for the Sunday benefit baseball game between members and their dads.

FALL PROVES FATAL

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—George Ernest Higginbotham, 33, an employe of the Public Belt railroad, was killed accidentally today in a 35-foot fall from the Huey P. Long bridge across the Mississippi river here.

DEATHS

BLAIR THOMPSON

Blair Thompson, 48, of 302 Railroad avenue, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at a local sanitariuum after a short illness. Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night, pending word from relatives in Ohio, but interment will be held at Fondale

Mr. Thompson is survived by his wife; two sons, Charles, 8, and Phillip Dale, 5; his mother, Mrs. Laura Whitmore, of Canton, O.; two brothers, Marion Thompson of Canton, and Ed Thompson of Denver, Colo.; and three sisters, Mrs. Edna Greed and Mrs. Mollie Rinehart of Canton, and Mrs. Minnie Bronson of Waynesburg, O.

HUEY ANDREW SANDIFER

Huey Andrew Sandifer, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sandifer of Lake Providence, died at a local sanitarium yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Midway cemetery near Epps with Rev. Sam Webb officiating. The body was taken overland last night from the National Funeral home to Epps.

The child is survived by his parents, three brothers and two sisters.

HARRISON BELIEVES NO SESSION NEEDED

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison believes an extra session of congress unnecessary unless "some extraordinary situation should arise."

The senator arrived here last night for a vacation. He said chairmen of both house and senate agricultural committees have claimed to be unable to formulate permanent agricultural legislation before the regular January session of congress.

Senator Harrison declared that a solution of agricultural problems on a basis of a permanent, workable program would be the most important legislation before the next congress. He said the session would be preceded by senate agricultural committee hearings in various sections of the country in order to learn farm conditions.

The senator said he was disappointed the cotton loan through the commercial credit corporation was not placed on a 10-cent, instead of a nine-cent basis. The subsidy up to 12 cents, however, will result in a tremendous saving to cotton producers this year, he added.

After two weeks here, the senator will go to Crystal Springs and Jackson for brief visits before beginning a trip to the Pacific coast and Mexico.

POLITICAL LEADER IN ORLEANS DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Former Judge Thomas P. Goff, 15th ward political leader, died today. He was 64 years old.

Goff was an ardent supporter of the late Mayor Martin Behrman and was appointed judge of the recorder's court in Algiers by Behrman. He held that job until about three years ago.

Goff is survived by his widow, a son, Thomas Joseph Goff, and three daughters, Mrs. A. B. Humphrey, Miss Frances Goff and Miss Anna Mae Goff.

PHYSICIAN DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dr. I. I. Lemann, 60, chief of the medical staff of Touro infirmary here, died today at Mayo Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn. Dr. Lemann suffered a hemorrhage of the stomach while on a visit to the clinic and an operation was performed from which he failed to rally.

CHINA STILL PAYING

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A Japanese spokesman admitted today that the Chinese government was continuing payment of its financial obligations to Japan despite the undeclared war between these two countries. Payments, he said, included regular Boxer rebellion indemnities and redemptions of loans.

JUDGE FACED BY HUMANITY PROBLEM

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Federal District Judge Sidney Mize had a problem on his hands today.

W. E. Hamilton, 27, of Yazoo City, pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $1,940 from a bank where he was bookkeeper. Then the defendant told the judge that he not only had returned the money but now has a "good job" and is attempting to restore his good name.

Said Judge Mize, in deferring sentence and placing Hamilton under $1,500 bond until the penalty is announced:

"A number of people have talked to me about you and vouched for your reputation. It is difficult to decide in a case of your kind, since it is the purpose of the law to aid a man as well as punish him. Since this shortage has been made public you no doubt have been humiliated and punished by your conscience."

A simpler problem for the judge was that of Henry Spell, negro farmer convicted of violating the liquor laws. The judge deferred sentence in his case when the negro begged leave to pick his cotton before going to the penitentiary. He will be sentenced in November.

PLEADS GUILTY

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Joseph S. Rogers, 35, alias "Shorty," entered a plea of guilty in district court here today to a charge of having marijuana plants growing in his backyard and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Rapides parish jail. Police seized the plants.

TAKEN TO SHREVEPORT

Miss Eunice Cathey, of Hodge, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident that claimed one life near Chatham last Saturday night, was removed from Riverside sanitarium here yesterday and taken to a Shreveport hospital. Two persons injured in the crash, W. R. Thompson of Sikes, and Miss Elizabeth Bertram of Hodge, are already in a Shreveport hospital. Charlie Underwood, of Sikes, driver of the machine in which the others were injured, was instantly killed. Miss Cathey suffered fractures of both legs at the knee, a deep laceration of the scalp, internal injuries and a concussion of the brain.

A banquet will follow tonight at 7:30 o'clock with after dinner speaking by O. A. Greer. The Virginia hotel's roof garden will be reserved from 7:30 o'clock tonight until midnight for dancing.

The program will continue tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock and a meeting of district managers will follow Saturday afternoon.

OFFER ASSISTANCE TO PAROLED NEGRO

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Assistance from two Boston organizations today awaited 30-year-old Fleming Willis, paroled from a Georgia prison camp yesterday on condition that he come to Massachusetts.

Attorney Irwin T. Dorch, president of the Mutual Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced he would see that Willis was provided "with enough to eat and a place to sleep until the expiration of his sentence, provided he conducts himself as a good citizen."

Butler R. Wilson, president of the Boston branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said that "if Willis will come to this organization and can satisfy us that he will work hard and behave himself, we will help him get a job."

The negro, a former Sunday school teacher who had served less than a month of a ten-month sentence for operating a lottery, was caught in a dispute between Governors E. D. Rivers of Georgia and Charles F. Hurley of Massachusetts.

Hurley's refusal, because of a "sense of humanity" to extradite Will Cunningham, an escaped convict wanted in Georgia for burglary, had incurred the displeasure of Governor Rivers.

LEGION SONS ADD TWO NEW MEMBERS

Two members were admitted to the Sons of the American Legion at a meeting held at the legion memorial home Wednesday night. They were James A. Noe, Jr., and Robert Holmes.

Membership prizes were awarded to the following members who brought in the most members in a recent campaign: Brooks Stein, first prize, a belt and buckle; Seymour Tuey, a shirt; and J. L. Stein, a necktie.

Plans were discussed for the Sunday benefit baseball game between members and their dads.

Two members of the junior organization, C. E. McKenzie, Jr., and Bert Robinson, were reported ill.

FALL PROVES FATAL

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—George Ernest Higginbotham, 33, an employe of the Public Belt railroad, was killed accidentally today in a 35-foot fall from the Huey P. Long bridge across the Mississippi river here.

DEATHS

BLAIR THOMPSON

Blair Thompson, 48, of 302 Railroad avenue, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at a local sanitariuum after a short illness. Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night, pending word from relatives in Ohio, but interment will be held at Fondale

Mr. Thompson is survived by his wife; two sons, Charles, 8, and Phillip Dale, 5; his mother, Mrs. Laura Whitmore, of Canton, O.; two brothers, Marion Thompson of Canton, and Ed Thompson of Denver, Colo.; and three sisters, Mrs. Edna Greed and Mrs. Mollie Rinehart of Canton, and Mrs. Minnie Bronson of Waynesburg, O.

HUEY ANDREW SANDIFER

Huey Andrew Sandifer, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Sandifer of Lake Providence, died at a local sanitarium yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at Midway cemetery near Epps with Rev. Sam Webb officiating. The body was taken overland last night from the National Funeral home to Epps.

The child is survived by his parents, three brothers and two sisters.

HARRISON BELIEVES NO SESSION NEEDED

GULFPORT, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison believes an extra session of congress unnecessary unless "some extraordinary situation should arise."

The senator arrived here last night for a vacation. He said chairmen of both house and senate agricultural committees have claimed to be unable to formulate permanent agricultural legislation before the regular January session of congress.

Senator Harrison declared that a solution of agricultural problems on a basis of a permanent, workable program would be the most important legislation before the next congress. He said the session would be preceded by senate agricultural committee hearings in various sections of the country in order to learn farm conditions.

The senator said he was disappointed the cotton loan through the commercial credit corporation was not placed on a 10-cent, instead of a nine-cent basis. The subsidy up to 12 cents, however, will result in a tremendous saving to cotton producers this year, he added.

After two weeks here, the senator will go to Crystal Springs and Jackson for brief visits before beginning a trip to the Pacific coast and Mexico.

POLITICAL LEADER IN ORLEANS DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Former Judge Thomas P. Goff, 15th ward political leader, died today. He was 64 years old.

Goff was an ardent supporter of the late Mayor Martin Behrman and was appointed judge of the recorder's court in Algiers by Behrman. He held that job until about three years ago.

Goff is survived by his widow, a son, Thomas Joseph Goff, and three daughters, Mrs. A. B. Humphrey, Miss Frances Goff and Miss Anna Mae Goff.

PHYSICIAN DIES

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dr. I. I. Lemann, 60, chief of the medical staff of Touro infirmary here, died today at Mayo Brothers clinic in Rochester, Minn. Dr. Lemann suffered a hemorrhage of the stomach while on a visit to the clinic and an operation was performed from which he failed to rally.

CHINA STILL PAYING

SHANGHAI, Sept. 2.—(AP)—A Japanese spokesman admitted today that the Chinese government was continuing payment of its financial obligations to Japan despite the undeclared war between these two countries. Payments, he said, included regular Boxer rebellion indemnities and redemptions of loans.

JUDGE FACED BY HUMANITY PROBLEM

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Federal District Judge Sidney Mize had a problem on his hands today.

W. E. Hamilton, 27, of Yazoo City, pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $1,940 from a bank where he was bookkeeper. Then the defendant told the judge that he not only had returned the money but now has a "good job" and is attempting to restore his good name.

Said Judge Mize, in deferring sentence and placing Hamilton under $1,500 bond until the penalty is announced:

"A number of people have talked to me about you and vouched for your reputation. It is difficult to decide in a case of your kind, since it is the purpose of the law to aid a man as well as punish him. Since this shortage has been made public you no doubt have been humiliated and punished by your conscience."

A simpler problem for the judge was that of Henry Spell, negro farmer convicted of violating the liquor laws. The judge deferred sentence in his case when the negro begged leave to pick his cotton before going to the penitentiary. He will be sentenced in November.

PLEADS GUILTY

ALEXANDRIA, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Joseph S. Rogers, 35, alias "Shorty," entered a plea of guilty in district court here today to a charge of having marijuana plants growing in his backyard and was sentenced to serve 30 days in the Rapides parish jail. Police seized the plants.

TAKEN TO SHREVEPORT

Miss Eunice Cathey, of Hodge, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident that claimed one life near Chatham last Saturday night, was removed from Riverside sanitarium here yesterday and taken to a Shreveport hospital. Two persons injured in the crash, W. R. Thompson of Sikes, and Miss Elizabeth Bertram of Hodge, are already in a Shreveport hospital. Charlie Underwood, of Sikes, driver of the machine in which the others were injured, was instantly killed. Miss Cathey suffered fractures of both legs at the knee, a deep laceration of the scalp, internal injuries and a concussion of the brain.

Age And Experience

In the well-remembered autumn of the fabulous year 1929 an economic tailspin stopped a great many different plain and fancy kinds of soaring. In the succeeding years, each of which came slowly and stayed too long, many American idols were found to have feet of clay.

If business leadership had appeared to be distinguished in this country before 1930, by 1934 it appeared extinguished.

There were two good reasons: (1) most business men make decisions as to important moves on the basis only of past experience, and (2) most business leaders of 1929 had never had such experience, never having gone through a major, nation-rocking economic disturbance—the last one having come in 1893.

Business men who proceed on the basis of fundamental approaches to problems fared better in the early 1930's than those who were guided largely by what they remembered—but that's another story.

Since experience counts heavily in the conduct of most businesses and since it helps even where there is a definite analytical and research approach to problems, it is desirable that businesses combine in their personnel the advantages of long experience and of the analytical approach.

This truism is gaining headway with each new decade.

A business leader was asked why he retains old people in his organization beyond an age at which in many businesses they are retired.

"It is because they effectively complement youth," was the reply. "Many of the older people in our business are valuable not only from the standpoint of their long experience, but also because through their long continuity of service they have become unalterably lovers and defenders of our business traditions. Their words and actions we sometimes view a bugle call awakening younger people to the import of our organization's standards—standards which have a definite significance in the development of our service to the public."

And that seems to offer a keynote to successful meeting of serious problems in any business, whether they are the ordinary difficulties that are met with constantly, or complex catastrophes such as periodically occur to disrupt the economic structure of a nation.

A GREAT FINANCIER

Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury under Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, was one of the nation's greatest financiers. With his passing at 82, it is doubtful if his like will be seen again.

Conditions today do not permit a boy to hope to become great in business or finance. If he should make money rapidly, the politicians would take it from him in taxes. And there are a myriad of other restrictions upon human initiative that were unknown when Mellon created his financial and industrial empire, estimated to employ today 100,000 men.

While the road to business success has been stymied by the politicians, no barriers have been erected to success in political demagoguery. Tell the people they are entitled to a monthly check from the government, and anyone who suggests they should work is a tax slacker and enemy of the people, and you become a great national hero. Such men, not industrial or financial geniuses, are the "successes" of the present.

BADGE OF LIBERALISM

Disgruntled critics who have been prone to censure the supreme court for alleged conservatism may well ponder a statement recently issued by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes. It is as follows:

"Our first duty is to preserve the freedom of learning, of speech, of press, of assembly and of conscience, and to be alert to detect the slightest attempt to impair them. Our confidence will prove illusory if those who are foremost in the enjoyment of these privileges are not keenly conscious of their responsibility."

That is indeed a badge of liberalism, of the progressive spirit which has permeated the nation ever since its establishment.

For the chief justice of the supreme court to be a man who not only recognizes the fundamentals of freedom but remains vigilant in their preservation is for America to have the assurance not only of justice but of liberty under law.

OPERATING ON CRIME

A veteran of Oklahoma reformatories and prisons has asked the state to perform a brain operation on him to remove criminal tendencies.

The incident makes an interesting little news item and opens the way for a happy train of thought. Wouldn't it be nice if all criminals could be treated on the operating table instead of in the courtroom. With science sufficiently advanced, a thief could have his tendency to steal corrected by the surgeon's knife, and the murderer his killing instincts removed with the scalpel.

There's practically no limit to the thing. Wives with erring husbands would be hustling them off to the doctor's office for a shot of truth serum or a stay-at-home-nights pill. Corrective clinics should enjoy a tremendous business.

It's a good trick if you can work it.

RHYME AND REASON

By ANNE CAMPBELL

GRANDPA AND DONALD

Grandpa wheels the baby
Under cloudless skies,
Stopping to smile fondly
Into Donald's eyes.
Such a pretty baby,
With clear eyes of blue;
The admiring neighbors
Smile upon him, too!

All the flowers are waving
At them as they pass.
Trees bend down to whisper,
And the close-clipped grass
Grows a bit with longing
For a glimpse of him.
Birds are calling "Donald!"
From the maple limb!

Grandpa's plans for baby
Are such splendid ones!
He will stride, triumphant,
Under glowing suns!
Happy, and true-hearted,
On through life he'll go,
Just because his Grandpa
This day willed it so!

THE DAY'S NEWS

By BRUCE CATTON

A wondrous variety of items, recording the events of the day as they happen in China or on Main street, make up the daily newspaper which nearly every American family reads.

The newspaper is thus recording history as it happens. But history isn't complete until its basic facts are blended by the interpretation of the people. That's where the newspaper reader comes in. His is the privilege of clothing the facts with significance.

Instead of skipping through the paper and tossing it away for consignment to service on the pantry shelf, try this interesting game of jigsawing its separate items into a meaningful pattern.

For instance, on one recent day there appeared three stories which, together, form a better commentary on the state of the nation than dos any one of them individually.

The first tells how Allegheny county, Pa., in which Pittsburgh is located, is spending two and a half times as much for relief now as in the worst month of the depression, although employment levels now are equal to those of the boom year of 1929. More than two and a half million dollars was spent on direct and work relief in the area in July, 1937, whereas only a little more than a million was spent for the same purposes in March, 1933.

Another story tells of congressional alarm that new demands by World war veterans may saddle the nation with a system of pensions that would cost an estimated 20 billion dollars by 1996. This, on top of the 12-billion-dollar share already allotted to veterans of the 60-billion-dollar total cost of the war to the nation to date.

The third item recorded the statement, by an official of the National Economy league, that for the last seven years the government has been spending two dollars for every dollar of income. It was predicted that unless the spending pace is greatly reduced, the future will bring even greater deficits.

Taken altogether, these items stimulate some vital questions. Why, if employment conditions are back to normal, must relief be more expensive? Why, if veterans just last year were given millions in a bonus, should they need more now? And just how do these first two situations bear on the disastrous two-to-one public spending policy?

By thinking these problems through and forming an opinion, one way or another, the newspaper reader not only is getting the most out of the news, but he is also performing one of his important duties as a citizen—that of taking a healthy interest in what is going on around him. And, simple though it sounds, that is making history.

A BOOK REVIEW

'LIFE WITH MOTHER' HAS MANY A LAUGH

To the many readers who relished his "Life With Father," the late Clarence Day left a heritage, a companion piece titled, of course, "Life With Mother."

This new work, was compiled from many new pieces written about his father and mother by Mr. Day before his death.

In his previous book, Mr. Day painted a delightful, well-rounded picture of his strong-minded, irascible father, who was constantly bewildered because he couldn't make those about him adopt his design for living.

Appropriately enough, "Life With Mother" begins with "Father's" courtship. And this he conducts in just the practical, romanceless way that you would expect him to do it. He finally made up his mind to marry "Mother," proceeded to her home town in Ohio, and peremptorily demanded her hand. They were married a short time later, mother a bit confused by the suddenness of it all.

With the exception of a lively anecdote about how Grandpa (Benjamin Henry Day, founder of the New York Sun) mischievously lent zest to grandma's seances, the rest of the book deals with "Mother's" life with her doughty spouse.

To a man like father, who knew just how everything should be done, mother's impractical ways were mystifying, and Clarence Day, with his rippling humor, describes some of the wrangles that resulted. Father, for all of his decisiveness, always seemed to come out second best, for mother's gentle manner belied a firm, stubborn little soul.

While a sequel to "Life With Father" hardly could be anything but anticlimatic, Day has produced here an entertaining book.—G. P.

FARMER PLANTS 'LONGEST ROW'

East Carroll Planter Uses Tractor In Unique Cultivation Plan

By Dale Harrison

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Out on George Hider's farm there's a row of cotton 80 miles long, and Mr. Hider wouldn't be surprised if that isn't about the longest unbroken row of growing crop anyone ever had.

Of course, it isn't straight. If it were, it would run from here to Vicksburg, and 40 miles beyond. It is a spiral, starting at the center of a 40-acre plot and spiralling out, mile after mile.

The 80-mile row of cotton isn't just someone's idea of being different. Behind it is something that Farmer Hider's neighbors think may revolutionize farming.

The idea is to cultivate the land almost entirely without the touch of the human hand. Mr. Hider doesn't say he's got that solved, but he's got something pretty nearly that remarkable.

Farmer Hider can arise with the dawn and walk back to his 80-mile row of cotton. He can start his tractor at one end of the row. Then he can stroll in to breakfast, read the papers, go to town, or do what he wants to—and the tractor will keep right on cultivating that row of cotton just as slick as you'd want.

It makes no mistakes. It comes just as close to the growing cotton plant as Mr. Hider wishes.

A little after lunch, the farmer goes out to his mechanical farmhand, refuels it, and away it goes down the row again, chugging contentedly at the three-miles-an-hour pace, never cussing and never stopping to go lie down under a shade tree.

This is one idea that goes round in circles and really gets somewhere. The tractor has attached to it a strong but small airplane wire. The other end is attached to what looks like a small oil derrick in the middle of the field. It is about 12 feet high.

A large pipe, about a foot in diameter, extends from the top, like a smoke stack. The outer surface of the pipe is threaded so that it takes the thin wire like a winch takes a steel cable.

By starting the tractor at the outer edge of the circle, Farmer Hider has found that the pull of the wire slowly winding about the pipe pulls the tractor steadily inward, following the spiralled cotton row.

The tractor can also be started from the center and work outward, pulling away as it receives slack from the unwinding pipe.

Although the row is 80 miles long, the tractor is never further than an eighth of a mile from the outer edge of the circular 40-acre tract.

The experiments at the Hider farm began in 1936. All of the planning and work has been done by Hider, a Cornell graduate, a legionnaire and town councilman of Lake Providence for many years.

Mr. Hider calls his device the "Maypole system" and has taken out a patent on it.

TWO TEACHERS ADDED BY TECH

RUSTON, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—Expansion of journalism and printing instruction at Louisiana Tech, with the addition of two teachers for the school year opening September 13, has been announced by President E. S. Richardson.

Leonard B. Watt of Bunkie has been employed to teach advertising, feature articles and editorial writing, supplementing courses in news writing and copy editing which have been offered at Tech in the past. Watt also will prepare news material, particularly for weekly papers, serving as assistant to Kenneth F. Hewins, director of the Tech news bureau and journalism department for the last eight years. Watt is a graduate of the school of journalism at Louisiana State university and has done newspaper work in Minden

Eldred Ford Lowe of Minden has been engaged to conduct laboratory instruction in printing. This practical work, to be offered in the college's modern printing plant, will include hand-setting of type and other fundamentals of the trade during the first semester, and more advanced phases, such as linotype operation, in the second semester. Lowe is a graduate of Louisiana Tech and has studied the International Typographical union's courses in printing. For three years, he served as student assistant to Henry R. Mays, Tech printing superintendent, and is being continued as a helper in the college print shop. He has had other practical experience as a printer in Minden and Ruston.

Two hours of credit each semester will be given for the printing courses. The five journalism classes will each offer three semester hours of credit, making a total of 19 semester hours available in the department.

and Homer. His duties at Tech began on Wednesday, September 1.

LOW BIDDERS ON 4 PROJECTS REVEALED

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Low bidders on four construction projects located in three parishes were announced by the Louisiana Highway commission as follows:

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Thoughts while strolling: No one tops George White in giving a straw hat that certain tilt. Triumph of a voice affectation: Katharine Hepburn. Most gallopping of the pianists: Johnny Green Everybody is tired of radio comedians et al plugging themselves.

O. O. McIntyre

Add beautiful children: The Irving Berlin daughters. The town's most furious cigaret chain smoker: Mike Jacobs, new boss at the Garden. Where the suckers never get an even break: Those gyp auction jewelry rooms. And where, oh, where are the police?

Look alikes: Billy B. Van and Jimmy Gleason. Jerome Kern's tunes always have pure melody instead of the usual com-pah-pah. Nobody can twitter like Alice Brady. Wendy Barrie is making Beatrice Lillie look to her comic laurels. What's become of Helen Morgan?

With featured head-dress Lee Shubert would make a fine looking Indian. Herbert Swope seems to arrive everywhere in the last spurt of a footrace. All the dance halls are featuring the Big Apple contests. That's the new step out of the south.

The lightest fellow on his feet for his size: Albert Keller of the Ritz. What a handsome villain William Rhinelander Stewart would have made in the old ten, twent and thert. Wonder what the Duke of Windsor thinks about things by now?

Many society lasses became careerists singing in the night clubs. Still others picked up pin money occupying seats at the ringside in newly opened cafes and supper places as sort of decoys. But the newest wrinkle is the liquor sales-girl who acts much in the same fashion of the wine agent in the Manny Chappelle days. She is paid a commission and given a generous expense account to organize parties and see that only certain brands are served. One brand of Scotch whisky became a best seller as the result of a dozen or so society girls booming it in this manner. Still another French aperitif, little known outside of Paris, is being popularized the same way. Ladies must live.

Latest for poor little rich children: The portrait doll. A picture of the fortunate child is given the doll maker and the head is modeled in replica. In many cases original hair of the owner is used. Complete, $65 and upward. There is one reputedly made for a grown up Hollywood star that cost $500.

The generosity of doting rich parents is rather bewildering to one who considered grandma's reach into her side pocket peau de soie for her snap purse to bestow a nickel—instead of the usual penny—top munificence. There is the boy, 17, for instance, sent to Europe this summer alone for a six weeks' visit. All his preliminary expenses, ship passage, etc., were paid for and on the day of his sailing he was given $5,000 worth of traveler's checks.

Then those sprigs who, immediately after graduation from college, are established in totsy bachelor apartments and dine with the family once a week. They have their motor car, combination butler and valet and charge accounts everywhere. They don't, of course, show much interest in careers, but the great majority turn out quite decently. Indeed, there are two conspicuous cases of young men given such advantages who tired of it after a few years, plunged into the industrial world and are now established figures. Yet to my notion parents take an awful chance.

One of those Noisy Nuisances was loose in a quiet class A restaurant last night. She was just up from one of the Hamptons, tanned to a sepia and hell-bent to be heard and seen. First jabbering shrilly in French to the waiter captain so all could hear, then waving and hallooing across the room to this one and that and laughing in the upper register. We shouldn't let such didoes throw us, but we've reached the crochety age where they do.

The more abundant life: Ryley Cooper has discovered the most contented man in the world in Sebring, Fla. He is able to look through the Sears Roebuck catalog and not want a thing in it.

CAESAREAN TWINS GAINING STRENGTH

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Infant twins—a boy and a girl—gained strength in this deep south Texas city today although their mother had died before they were born.

The mother, Mrs. Gorge Conde, 41, wife of a tenant farmer, was brought to the Kleberg county hospital Monday suffering from a heart attack.

As the case grew worse, Dr. D. A. Harrison was called. Dr. C. C. Carrithers accompanied him. "When she died," Dr. Harrison said, "everything was ready, so we just went ahead."

The twins showed effect of their mother's poor circulation immediately after the quickly-performed operation. They responded, however, to efforts to revive them, which included brief incubator treatment. They boy weighed four pounds and 12 ounces, the girl five pounds, eight ounces.

V. F. W. WILL SEEK GENEROUS PENSION

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars voted today to work "vigorously" for a general World war pension unless jobs are provided for unemployed ex-soldiers.

Delegates to the national convention adopted a three-fold resolution proposed by Past Commander-in-Chief James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa.

This calls for (1) laws giving preference to veterans in public jobs, (2) greater efforts to obtain private employment for veterans and (3) a pension of $50 a month for any needy veteran suffering with any permanent disability.

The veterans also voted for "investigation" of Fascist, Nazi and Communist influences in America. Another resolution which was adopted proposed dissolution of diplomatic relations with Russia.

Age And Experience

In the well-remembered autumn of the fabulous year 1929 an economic tailspin stopped a great many different plain and fancy kinds of soaring. In the succeeding years, each of which came slowly and stayed too long, many American idols were found to have feet of clay.

If business leadership had appeared to be distinguished in this country before 1930, by 1934 it appeared extinguished.

There were two good reasons: (1) most business men make decisions as to important moves on the basis only of past experience, and (2) most business leaders of 1929 had never had such experience, never having gone through a major, nation-rocking economic disturbance—the last one having come in 1893.

Business men who proceed on the basis of fundamental approaches to problems fared better in the early 1930's than those who were guided largely by what they remembered—but that's another story.

Since experience counts heavily in the conduct of most businesses and since it helps even where there is a definite analytical and research approach to problems, it is desirable that businesses combine in their personnel the advantages of long experience and of the analytical approach.

This truism is gaining headway with each new decade.

A business leader was asked why he retains old people in his organization beyond an age at which in many businesses they are retired.

"It is because they effectively complement youth," was the reply. "Many of the older people in our business are valuable not only from the standpoint of their long experience, but also because through their long continuity of service they have become unalterably lovers and defenders of our business traditions. Their words and actions we sometimes view a bugle call awakening younger people to the import of our organization's standards—standards which have a definite significance in the development of our service to the public."

And that seems to offer a keynote to successful meeting of serious problems in any business, whether they are the ordinary difficulties that are met with constantly, or complex catastrophes such as periodically occur to disrupt the economic structure of a nation.

A GREAT FINANCIER

Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury under Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, was one of the nation's greatest financiers. With his passing at 82, it is doubtful if his like will be seen again.

Conditions today do not permit a boy to hope to become great in business or finance. If he should make money rapidly, the politicians would take it from him in taxes. And there are a myriad of other restrictions upon human initiative that were unknown when Mellon created his financial and industrial empire, estimated to employ today 100,000 men.

While the road to business success has been stymied by the politicians, no barriers have been erected to success in political demagoguery. Tell the people they are entitled to a monthly check from the government, and anyone who suggests they should work is a tax slacker and enemy of the people, and you become a great national hero. Such men, not industrial or financial geniuses, are the "successes" of the present.

BADGE OF LIBERALISM

Disgruntled critics who have been prone to censure the supreme court for alleged conservatism may well ponder a statement recently issued by Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes. It is as follows:

"Our first duty is to preserve the freedom of learning, of speech, of press, of assembly and of conscience, and to be alert to detect the slightest attempt to impair them. Our confidence will prove illusory if those who are foremost in the enjoyment of these privileges are not keenly conscious of their responsibility."

That is indeed a badge of liberalism, of the progressive spirit which has permeated the nation ever since its establishment.

For the chief justice of the supreme court to be a man who not only recognizes the fundamentals of freedom but remains vigilant in their preservation is for America to have the assurance not only of justice but of liberty under law.

OPERATING ON CRIME

A veteran of Oklahoma reformatories and prisons has asked the state to perform a brain operation on him to remove criminal tendencies.

The incident makes an interesting little news item and opens the way for a happy train of thought. Wouldn't it be nice if all criminals could be treated on the operating table instead of in the courtroom. With science sufficiently advanced, a thief could have his tendency to steal corrected by the surgeon's knife, and the murderer his killing instincts removed with the scalpel.

There's practically no limit to the thing. Wives with erring husbands would be hustling them off to the doctor's office for a shot of truth serum or a stay-at-home-nights pill. Corrective clinics should enjoy a tremendous business.

It's a good trick if you can work it.

RHYME AND REASON

By ANNE CAMPBELL

GRANDPA AND DONALD

Grandpa wheels the baby
Under cloudless skies,
Stopping to smile fondly
Into Donald's eyes.
Such a pretty baby,
With clear eyes of blue;
The admiring neighbors
Smile upon him, too!

All the flowers are waving
At them as they pass.
Trees bend down to whisper,
And the close-clipped grass
Grows a bit with longing
For a glimpse of him.
Birds are calling "Donald!"
From the maple limb!

Grandpa's plans for baby
Are such splendid ones!
He will stride, triumphant,
Under glowing suns!
Happy, and true-hearted,
On through life he'll go,
Just because his Grandpa
This day willed it so!

THE DAY'S NEWS

By BRUCE CATTON

A wondrous variety of items, recording the events of the day as they happen in China or on Main street, make up the daily newspaper which nearly every American family reads.

The newspaper is thus recording history as it happens. But history isn't complete until its basic facts are blended by the interpretation of the people. That's where the newspaper reader comes in. His is the privilege of clothing the facts with significance.

Instead of skipping through the paper and tossing it away for consignment to service on the pantry shelf, try this interesting game of jigsawing its separate items into a meaningful pattern.

For instance, on one recent day there appeared three stories which, together, form a better commentary on the state of the nation than dos any one of them individually.

The first tells how Allegheny county, Pa., in which Pittsburgh is located, is spending two and a half times as much for relief now as in the worst month of the depression, although employment levels now are equal to those of the boom year of 1929. More than two and a half million dollars was spent on direct and work relief in the area in July, 1937, whereas only a little more than a million was spent for the same purposes in March, 1933.

Another story tells of congressional alarm that new demands by World war veterans may saddle the nation with a system of pensions that would cost an estimated 20 billion dollars by 1996. This, on top of the 12-billion-dollar share already allotted to veterans of the 60-billion-dollar total cost of the war to the nation to date.

The third item recorded the statement, by an official of the National Economy league, that for the last seven years the government has been spending two dollars for every dollar of income. It was predicted that unless the spending pace is greatly reduced, the future will bring even greater deficits.

Taken altogether, these items stimulate some vital questions. Why, if employment conditions are back to normal, must relief be more expensive? Why, if veterans just last year were given millions in a bonus, should they need more now? And just how do these first two situations bear on the disastrous two-to-one public spending policy?

By thinking these problems through and forming an opinion, one way or another, the newspaper reader not only is getting the most out of the news, but he is also performing one of his important duties as a citizen—that of taking a healthy interest in what is going on around him. And, simple though it sounds, that is making history.

A BOOK REVIEW

'LIFE WITH MOTHER' HAS MANY A LAUGH

To the many readers who relished his "Life With Father," the late Clarence Day left a heritage, a companion piece titled, of course, "Life With Mother."

This new work, was compiled from many new pieces written about his father and mother by Mr. Day before his death.

In his previous book, Mr. Day painted a delightful, well-rounded picture of his strong-minded, irascible father, who was constantly bewildered because he couldn't make those about him adopt his design for living.

Appropriately enough, "Life With Mother" begins with "Father's" courtship. And this he conducts in just the practical, romanceless way that you would expect him to do it. He finally made up his mind to marry "Mother," proceeded to her home town in Ohio, and peremptorily demanded her hand. They were married a short time later, mother a bit confused by the suddenness of it all.

With the exception of a lively anecdote about how Grandpa (Benjamin Henry Day, founder of the New York Sun) mischievously lent zest to grandma's seances, the rest of the book deals with "Mother's" life with her doughty spouse.

To a man like father, who knew just how everything should be done, mother's impractical ways were mystifying, and Clarence Day, with his rippling humor, describes some of the wrangles that resulted. Father, for all of his decisiveness, always seemed to come out second best, for mother's gentle manner belied a firm, stubborn little soul.

While a sequel to "Life With Father" hardly could be anything but anticlimatic, Day has produced here an entertaining book.—G. P.

FARMER PLANTS 'LONGEST ROW'

East Carroll Planter Uses Tractor In Unique Cultivation Plan

By Dale Harrison

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Sept. ?.—(AP)—Out on George Hider's farm there's a row of cotton 80 miles long, and Mr. Hider wouldn't be surprised if that isn't about the longest unbroken row of growing crop anyone ever had.

Of course, it isn't straight. If it were, it would run from here to Vicksburg, and 40 miles beyond. It is a spiral, starting at the center of a 40-acre plot and spiralling out, mile after mile.

The 80-mile row of cotton isn't just someone's idea of being different. Behind it is something that Farmer Hider's neighbors think may revolutionize farming.

The idea is to cultivate the land almost entirely without the touch of the human hand. Mr. Hider doesn't say he's got that solved, but he's got something pretty nearly that remarkable.

Farmer Hider can arise with the dawn and walk back to his 80-mile row of cotton. He can start his tractor at one end of the row. Then he can stroll in to breakfast, read the papers, go to town, or do what he wants to—and the tractor will keep right on cultivating that row of cotton just as slick as you'd want.

It makes no mistakes. It comes just as close to the growing cotton plant as Mr. Hider wishes.

A little after lunch, the farmer goes out to his mechanical farmhand, refuels it, and away it goes down the row again, chugging contentedly at the three-miles-an-hour pace, never cussing and never stopping to go lie down under a shade tree.

This is one idea that goes round in circles and really gets somewhere. The tractor has attached to it a strong but small airplane wire. The other end is attached to what looks like a small oil derrick in the middle of the field. It is about 12 feet high.

A large pipe, about a foot in diameter, extends from the top, like a smoke stack. The outer surface of the pipe is threaded so that it takes the thin wire like a winch takes a steel cable.

By starting the tractor at the outer edge of the circle, Farmer Hider has found that the pull of the wire slowly winding about the pipe pulls the tractor steadily inward, following the spiralled cotton row.

The tractor can also be started from the center and work outward, pulling away as it receives slack from the unwinding pipe.

Although the row is 80 miles long, the tractor is never further than an eighth of a mile from the outer edge of the circular 40-acre tract.

The experiments at the Hider farm began in 1936. All of the planning and work has been done by Hider, a Cornell graduate, a legionnaire and town councilman of Lake Providence for many years.

Mr. Hider calls his device the "Maypole system" and has taken out a patent on it.

She is paid a commission and given a generous expense account to organize parties and see that only certain brands are served. One brand of Scotch whisky became a best seller as the result of a dozen or so society girls booming it in this manner. Still another French aperitif, little known outside of Paris, is being popularized the same way. Ladies must live.

Latest for poor little rich children: The portrait doll. A picture of the fortunate child is given the doll maker and the head is modeled in replica. In many cases original hair of the owner is used. Complete, $65 and upward. There is one reputedly made for a grown up Hollywood star that cost $500.

The generosity of doting rich parents is rather bewildering to one who considered grandma's reach into her side pocket peau de soie for her snap purse to bestow a nickel—instead of the usual penny—top munificence. There is the boy, 17, for instance, sent to Europe this summer alone for a six weeks' visit. All his preliminary expenses, ship passage, etc., were paid for and on the day of his sailing he was given $5,000 worth of traveler's checks.

Then those sprigs who, immediately after graduation from college, are established in totsy bachelor apartments and dine with the family once a week. They have their motor car, combination butler and valet and charge accounts everywhere. They don't, of course, show much interest in careers, but the great majority turn out quite decently, indeed, there are two conspicuous cases of young men given such advantages who tired of it after a few years, plunged into the industrial world and are now established figures. Yet to my notion parents take an awful chance.

One of those Noisy Nuisances was loose in a quiet class A restaurant last night. She was just up from one of the Hamptons, tanned to a sepia and hell-bent to be heard and seen. First jabbering shrilly in French to the waiter captain so all could hear, then waving and hallooing across the room to this one and that and laughing in the upper register. We shouldn't let such didoes throw us, but we've reached the crochety age where they do.

The more abundant life: Ryley Cooper has discovered the most contented man in the world in Sebring, Fla. He is able to look through the Sears Roebuck catalog and not want a thing in it.

CAESAREAN TWINS GAINING STRENGTH

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Infant twins—a boy and a girl—gained strength in this deep south Texas city today although their mother had died before they were born.

The mother, Mrs. Gorge Conde, 41, wife of a tenant farmer, was brought to the Kleberg county hospital Monday suffering from a heart attack.

As the case grew worse, Dr. D. A. Harrison was called. Dr. C. C. Carrithers accompanied him. "When she died," Dr. Harrison said, "everything was ready, so we just went ahead."

The twins showed effect of their mother's poor circulation immediately after the quickly-performed operation. They responded, however, to efforts to revive them, which included brief incubator treatment. They boy weighed four pounds and 12 ounces, the girl five pounds, eight ounces.

V. F. W. WILL SEEK GENEROUS PENSION

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars voted today to work "vigorously" for a general World war pension unless jobs are provided for unemployed ex-soldiers.

Delegates to the national convention adopted a three-fold resolution proposed by Past Commander-in-Chief James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, Pa.

This calls for (1) laws giving preference to veterans in public jobs, (2) greater efforts to obtain private employment for veterans and (3) a pension of $50 a month for any needy veteran suffering with any permanent disability.

The veterans also voted for "investigation" of Fascist, Nazi and Communist influences in America. Another resolution which was adopted proposed dissolution of diplomatic relations with Russia.

JES' RAMBLIN'

ABOUT THE TOWN

By H. H. B.

"Jes' Ramblin': I have been thinking about that piece you had in this column about when the Ouachita river was supposed to have gone dry. Back as I recall it, say about 1920, three boy friends of mine lived in LaZarre street, West Monroe, and waded the river each day to attend the Ouachita parish school on this side. They were John and Ernest Dozier and Miller Christy. Just where they all are now I am not sure but by paging them they might be found and substantiate my statement.

"A READER."

The correct way to announce a blessed event, we are informed, is to have engraved cards, prepared and sent out thus:

"Mr. and Mrs. John Doe are happy to announce the birth of Mary Louise
at St. Francis Sanitarium,
On Friday, August 13."

Kiddies after all will get a break. School opens on September 13, but the big circus comes to town on September 10 so Johnnie and Willie and the rest won't have to play "hookey" from school this time to make a full day and night of it. For which let the young generation be duly thankful. By the way, the public schools will have to provide for possibly as many as 100 more pupils than usual this fall, for the grade school that has always been maintained at the Louisiana Baptist Children's home is to be no more and in its stead buses will [illegible]ng the younger children all in to Monroe public schools. It has been customary to have Baptist home children who have attained the high school grades come to the parish schools, but now all the 140 youngsters from the home will attend public school, obtaining their lunches each noon at school cafeterias. General advance indications are that there's going to be a big registration at all schools here. Paul Neal, assistant principal at Neville High, says indications are that the freshman class there will be 30 per cent larger than was the case a year ago at opening time. • • • Rufus J. Goza, daddy of the junior police, has still another "brain child" working in his system that promises to stimulate interest among young bicyclists and also, still more important, to serve to avert needless accidents on highways and city streets. The Monroe Cycle Safety club it will be called and it is expected to be in operation soon after schools re-open. Every bicyclist, boy and girl, in Monroe will be invited to join and Mr. Goza estimates there are 3,000 of them in Monroe. They will be given a number to affix to their wheels and data and number will be filed at police headquarters. Each one who joins will be given rules and regulations to follow. Penalties for violation of rules will be of constructive nature. Fines of 10 or 15 cents will be imposed. This money will be placed in a pot and from time to time outings will be taken awheel to nearby cities and towns and picnic luncheons will be purchased from funds paid by violators of rules. Each year a bicycle will be donated free as the outcome of races or other contests. Those who have been fined for infractions of rules will be debarred. There are many other details which Officer Goza is working out and the further he goes with the idea, the more certain he is that it will prove popular and will also help to eliminate many accidents that might otherwise occur.

SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN ANNOUNCED

Only One Old-Age Number Needed; Employers' Co-operation Asked

Employers were requested Thursday by P. L. Dark, manager of the Monroe field office of the social security board, to learn whether or not social security account numbers have been previously issued to their employes before requiring them to apply for numbers at Mr. Dark's office, located in the Ouachita National bank building.

Mr. Dark said that "although we are attempting in every way possible to prevent the issuance of account numbers to persons who already have received one, there is evidence that a great many of our applicants are not requesting a social security number for the first time

"Every employe should realize that it is to his interest to have only one number. That same number should be given to each employer for whom he works so that all wages reported by the employer as being paid to that employe may be credited to one social security account. On the basis of the total wages credited to this account, the worker's old-age retirement benefits will be calculated.

"Obviously, it will be to the worker's advantage to have to his credit in one account the largest possible total of wages earned. This number indicates that the worker has a general ledger account with the United States government. It is similar to an insurance policy and just as important to him."

It was explained that a large portion of the applications recently received has come from employes in seasonal industries. Workers in these businesses must have account numbers under the rules which govern those of permanent employes, but in no case is it necessary to obtain a new number because a worker goes into a new employment.

"One number is all that a worker ever needs, and that number should be used throughout the working life of the employe," Mr. Dark declared.

He said his office has been issuing account numbers at the rate of 30 per day and that this average has been maintained for the past several weeks.

ORLEANS PHYSICIAN GIVES UP TO DEATH

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dr. Leopold Mitchell's surrender to death is complete.

The widely known New Orleans physician and surgeon died last night at Touro infirmary here. Death was caused by cancer. Two years ago, when he realized his particular condition was fatal, he resigned himself, and began the study of astronomy and philosophy because he had an active curiosity in "what a man learns when he passes through the veil between life on this earth and whatever follows death."

Dr. Mitchell, a retired lieutenant-colonel of the United States army medical corps, would have been 50 years old Saturday. At the end of his army career, which included service at United States army posts in the Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Alaska, the continental United States and with the American expeditionary force in France, he returned to his native New Orleans to practice.

At his own request, Dr. Mitchell's body will be taken to Memphis, Tenn., for cremation and his ashes strewn on the lawn of Walter Reed hospital.

Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Mary Perry Mitchell, formerly of Lynchburg, Va., and two daughters, Jean Loretto Mitchell, 16, and Dorothy Paula Mitchell, 11.

SUGAR CORPORATION GRANTED EXEMPTION

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The LaFourche Sugar corporation, modern sugar factory being constructed near Bayou LaFourche above Thibodaux, has been granted 10-year tax exemptions under the state's industrial plan.

Terms of the contract granting the exemptions call for beginning of operations by October 15.

The site of the sugar mill on the Leighton plantation was purchased for $37,500. The corporation is spending $160,000 on construction and renovation. The factory has been out of operation since 1918.

A. J. Mire is president of the corporation. State Senator Harvey Peltier is secretary.

HUNTSBERRYS RETURN

Rev. E. E. Huntsberry, pastor of the First Baptist church of West Monroe, together with Mrs. Huntsberry, has just returned from Beaumont and Corpus Christi, Tex., where they have been enjoying a three weeks' vacation. Rev. Huntsberry stated that he has returned in much improved physical condition and will be able to resume his duties with renewed energy.

NORTHEAST CENTER GYM PREPARED FOR COMING SEMESTER

The Northeast Center gymnasium is being put into the best of condition for the opening of the fall semester according to Dean C. C. Colvert, who emphasized the fact that physical education in the new educational program is stressed far more than was the case in time past.

Northeast Center, he said, will feature physical education this fall more than ever before. All students will be given physical examinations and special exercises will be given that will be adapted to the pupil's condition.

Miss Ada Bess Hart will have charge of the physical instruction of women and A. S. Huffman will render a similar service for the men. Miss Hart has a master's degree from Peabody college. Mr. Huffman has a similar degree from Louisiana State university. Each is regarded well qualified for his particular work at Northeast Center, Mr. Colvert said.

Physical education will include not only gymnastics but lectures on health and the subject will be approached from a broad viewpoint and one that will render a practical service to all who are enrolled, in the opinion of the dean.

INJURED MEXICANS LEAVE SANITARIUM

Three of five Mexican cotton pickers injured in an automobile accident south of here Monday were dismissed from the St. Francis sanitarium late Wednesday, leaving only former District Judge Thomas F. Porter, of Lake Charles, in a local hospital as a result of the accident. Judge Porter apparently was recovering Thursday at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic.

The Mexicans dismissed Wednesday were Rafael Ortega, of Robstown, Tex.; Alfonso Veliz, of Mercedes, Tex., and Maria Rodrigues, of Houston, Tex. They suffered lacerations and bruises. Two other Mexicans, also injured in the wreck, were dismissed after receiving treatment Monday.

Charles S. Glenn, chemical salesman, who was in the machine with Judge Porter, was able to leave the clinic Tuesday morning. He suffered only minor bruises.

GROTTO TO MAKE FINAL PLANS FOR CONVENTION

The regular monthly meeting of Teflis Grotto, the last before the annual Southwest Grotto association convention here, will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic temple.

All members of Teflis Grotto are urged to attend the meeting, as convention plans will be completed.

TO BUILD HOME

A building permit was issued Thursday, by Sam H. Awl, city building inspector, to J. D. Parker, to erect a one-story residence containing five rooms and bath, at 307 Bell avenue. The residence will be built by day labor at a cost of $1,200.

MASS TIME ANNOUNCED

Father L. R. Aycock, acting pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic church, Thursday announced that only one mass, at 6:30 a.m., will be celebrated Friday, which is the first Friday of the month. Holy communion will be given Friday morning at 8:15 o'clock.

FACULTY NAMED FOR INSTITUTE

Announcement is made of the faculty list at Louisiana Training institute which will open for the fall term on September 13.

John A. Jones will again serve as principal. He will be assisted by the following teachers: W. M. Berryhill, vocational director; W. K. Welch, recreational director; Mrs. John A. Jones, Van Odom, Mrs. W. E. Peterson, George W. Tris'er, J. T. McCullin and Lawrence McDonald.

Mr. Trisler will again direct the band, which was organized a year ago. Mr. McCullin will be the new agricultural instructor and Mr. McDonald will teach automobile mechanics.

The school will open with auspicious outlook. For the second year, high school studies will be given for thhose who are prepared for studies in advance of grammar school grades. When high school work has been completed, admission without examination to Louisiana State university will be permitted, it is stated.

PARALYSIS IN CHICAGO SAID WELL IN HAND

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dr. Herman Bundesen, city health officer, said today the infantile paralysis situation was "well in hand" but that the board of health's edict postponing indefinitely the reopening of schools would stand.

Lifting of the ban, he said, would depend on a day to day study of case reports and the rate at which the disease declined. He added the disease usually reaches a peak early in September and is checked by the advent of cool weather.

"No widespread epidemic will result, because we have taken every precaution," Dr. Bundesen said.

The board's order affected 466,000 public school pupils who were scheduled to resume classes Tuesday and Wednesday, and 153,000 parochial school students. It was ratified yesterday by the city board of education but similar action was deferred until Saturday by the board of the Chicago Catholic diocese.

Dr. Bundesen advised parents to keep children from crowds but said the situation did not warrant the closing of beaches, theaters, churches, playgrounds or other places where crowds congregate. Chicago health authorities, he said, have reported unusual success with serum and have adequate supplies.

Six new cases of the disease were reported yesterday, boosting the total for a 32-hour period to 14. There were 109 cases reported during August.

WILL ASK SENATE TO OPPOSE THIRD TERM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Holt, Democrat, West Virginia, said today he would seek to record the senate against a third term for President Roosevelt.

A frequent administration critic, Holt said he would offer the same resolution opposing a third term which the senate approved in 1928 and the house adopted in 1875.

He noted that nearly a score of Democrats now in the senate voted nine years ago, when Calvin Coolidge was president, that a third term would be "unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

While Holt took this method of recognizing talk of a third term for the president, there were expressions of doubt from other Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt would seek or accept renomination in 1940.

Holt's resolution would be the second designed to put congress on record against a third term. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, offered one shortly before adjournment.

CHARITY HOSPITAL WORKMAN CRUSHED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Five minutes meant the difference between life and death to William H. Mann, 35-year-old construction worker.

He was crushed to death by a huge crane bucket late yesterday just five minutes before he was to have checked off his job for the day at the new Charity hospital building.

Fellow workmen said Mann was standing in a corner of a freight car from which the crane was unloading gravel. They said he saw the bucket swinging toward him but was unable to protect himself.

His death was the first fatality since work was started on the big project several weeks ago.

SOCIAL SECURITY PLAN ANNOUNCED

Only One Old-Age Number Needed; Employers' Co-operation Asked

Employers were requested Thursday by P. L. Dark, manager of the Monroe field office of the social security board, to learn whether or not social security account numbers have been previously issued to their employes before requiring them to apply for numbers at Mr. Dark's office, located in the Ouachita National bank building.

A building permit was issued Thursday, by Sam H. Awl, city building inspector, to J. D. Parker, to erect a one-story residence containing five rooms and bath, at 307 Bell avenue. The residence will be built by day labor at a cost of $1,200.

MASS TIME ANNOUNCED

Father L. R. Aycock, acting pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic church, Thursday announced that only one mass, at 6:30 a.m., will be celebrated Friday, which is the first Friday of the month. Holy communion will be given Friday morning at 8:15 o'clock.

FACULTY NAMED FOR INSTITUTE

Announcement is made of the faculty list at Louisiana Training institute which will open for the fall term on September 13.

John A. Jones will again serve as principal. He will be assisted by the following teachers: W. M. Berryhill, vocational director; W. K. Welch, recreational director; Mrs. John A. Jones, Van Odom, Mrs. W. E. Peterson, George W. Trisler, J. T. McCullin and Lawrence McDonald.

Mr. Trisler will again direct the band, which was organized a year ago. Mr. McCullin will be the new agricultural instructor and Mr. McDonald will teach automobile mechanics.

The school will open with auspicious outlook. For the second year, high school studies will be given for thhose who are prepared for studies in advance of grammar school grades. When high school work has been completed, admission without examination to Louisiana State university will be permitted, it is stated.

PARALYSIS IN CHICAGO SAID WELL IN HAND

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dr. Herman Bundesen, city health officer, said today the infantile paralysis situation was "well in hand" but that the board of health's edict postponing indefinitely the reopening of schools would stand.

Lifting of the ban, he said, would depend on a day to day study of case reports and the rate at which the disease declined. He added the disease usually reaches a peak early in September and is checked by the advent of cool weather.

"No widespread epidemic will result, because we have taken every precaution," Dr. Bundesen said.

The board's order affected 466,000 public school pupils who were scheduled to resume classes Tuesday and Wednesday, and 153,000 parochial school students. It was ratified yesterday by the city board of education but similar action was deferred until Saturday by the board of the Chicago Catholic diocese.

Dr. Bundesen advised parents to keep children from crowds but said the situation did not warrant the closing of beaches, theaters, churches, playgrounds or other places where crowds congregate. Chicago health authorities, he said, have reported unusual success with serum and have adequate supplies.

Six new cases of the disease were reported yesterday, boosting the total for a 32-hour period to 14. There were 109 cases reported during August.

WILL ASK SENATE TO OPPOSE THIRD TERM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Senator Holt, Democrat, West Virginia, said today he would seek to record the senate against a third term for President Roosevelt.

A frequent administration critic, Holt said he would offer the same resolution opposing a third term which the senate approved in 1928 and the house adopted in 1875.

He noted that nearly a score of Democrats now in the senate voted nine years ago, when Calvin Coolidge was president, that a third term would be "unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

While Holt took this method of recognizing talk of a third term for the president, there were expressions of doubt from other Democrats that Mr. Roosevelt would seek or accept renomination in 1940.

Holt's resolution would be the second designed to put congress on record against a third term. Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, offered one shortly before adjournment.

CHARITY HOSPITAL WORKMAN CRUSHED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Five minutes meant the difference between life and death to William H. Mann, 35-year-old construction worker.

He was crushed to death by a huge crane bucket late yesterday just five minutes before he was to have checked off his job for the day at the new Charity hospital building.

Fellow workmen said Mann was standing in a corner of a freight car from which the crane was unloading gravel. They said he saw the bucket swinging toward him but was unable to protect himself.

His death was the first fatality since work was started on the big project several weeks ago.

Two Guests In City Boat Trip Honorees

Misses Catherine Cooper, Elizabeth Forman Entertained With Several Affairs

Two lovely guests in Monroe during the past week have been Miss Catherine Cooper of Mansfield and Miss Elizabeth Forman of Birmingham, Ala., who have been guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. McKoin.

Several enjoyable affairs were given in their honor during their visit, including dinner parties, boat rides and other outings.

Monday evening Miss Cooper and Miss Forman were complimented with a boat ride on the "Jo Mary." The congenial party after sailing up the river, enjoyed a picnic supper at D'Arbonne.

Guests enjoying this outing were Miss Catherine Cooper, Miss Elizabeth Forman, Miss Rose Ruth Kirby of Jonesville, Miss Gertrude White of Mer Rouge, Jimmie Rolfe of Oak Ridge, Warren White and Miss Clara Clark of Mer Rouge, and Dr. and Mrs. McKoin.

Mrs. Shelby White entertained Miss Cooper and Miss Forman with a dinner party at her home in Mer Rouge and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cummings of Oak Ridge also honored these lovely young visitors with a dinner party.

Members of the Colony Home Demonstration club met Wednesday afternoon and interesting talks were made by Mrs. Mary Durden and Mrs. A. J. Hudson on the recent short course in Baton Rouge.

Plans for the Ouachita Valley fair which will be held from September 28 until October 3 were discussed and the following committees appointed:

Home demonstration, Mrs. Roy Welch, Mrs. E. W. Earle, Mrs. Louis Bowers, Mrs. Edwards, Mr. Howard Whiting and Mr. W. A. Roach.

Agricultural booth, Mrs. A. J. Hudson, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mr. O. A. Guess and Mrs. Robert Fennell.

Miss Mary Hayward, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic this week.

Mrs. E. Carl Paulus, 2517 South Grand street, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic Thursday.

Miss Sydnie Calongne and Miss Marjorie Carter, lovely guests in the Wood Thompson home last week, have returned to their home in New Orleans. They were accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, Miss Lillie Thompson and Mrs. Jake Dorman, who returned to Monroe Monday evening.

Mrs. W. M. King and little son David left this week for Dallas, Tex., where they are attending the Pan-American exposition.

Mrs. Robert Kellogg and daughters, Mary Stewart and Rhoda, and little niece, June Lewis, have returned from Pass Christian, Miss., where they were guests at the Inn-by-the-Sea.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Roumaine Peters and little son have recently moved from New Orleans to Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Peters has accepted a promotion. Mrs. Peters will be remembered as Miss Alma Summer Potts.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

The Recipes for Catching a Man Are as Varied as a Book on Cocktails, So It Is Up to You Girls to Use the One That Suits Best

DEAR MISS DIX—We are a group of girls who frankly want to marry. Please tell us how to get our man.

SALLY AND SUE AND BETH AND MARY AND OTHERS.

Answer:

Well, there is no one recipe for catching a husband as there is for making sponge cake. You have to vary your technique to suit the man. Some men like girls who run after them and some of them prefer to do the chasing themselves. Some men like girls who flout them, others prefer girls who soft-soap them.

Your method must depend upon the man. If a man is timid, shy and tongue-tied in the presence of women, you will have to do all the courting because he will never summon up the nerve to do it himself. You will have to make the dates, do the telephoning and practically pop the question. Deal gently with him, or else you will scare him off.

But if a boy is of the bold, aggressive type, and especially if he fancies himself, it is nearly always a winning play to treat him rough. Make him think that he means nothing in your young life. Break dates with him. Make him do all the telephoning and write two letters to your one. This will rouse his fighting blood and put him on his mettle to break down your sales resistance.

Remember that different fish rise to different bait. If you are angling for a college boy or a Sugar Papa, bait your hook with youth and good looks and good clothes. That is about all that ever attracts them to a woman. But be wary. They are slippery fish to hold and just when you think you are about to land them they are likely to flop off of the line.

If you want to catch a widower, get up early and get a running start. Get in your work while he is still feeling lonesome and lost, without a wife to boss him and take care of him. Begin asking him to dinner about the time he has got so sick of clubs and restaurant cooking that it gags him even to read over a menu, and great will be your reward. Comforting a widower is the easiest known way of getting a husband.

If you are after a business man, and none are more desirable as husbands, do not make the mistake of studying the stock market so you can converse intelligently upon it. On the contrary, be a Dumb Dora and ask him to tell you the difference between a bull and a bear. Lend him your ears while he discourses about the wonderful deal he has pulled off in the green grocery trade, or how he made a killing in wheat, and marvel at his financial sagacity. Many a man marries just to get a patient listener.

Of course, the common, or garden, or foolproof way of getting your man is by flattery. Virtually all men fall for this. If he is vain, hand it to him in chunks and he will swallow it whole and ask for more. If he is more or less modest in his opinion of himself, be more discriminating and feed it to him in homeopathic doses.

But note this one thing well: Men oftener want to be praised for what they are not than what they are. A self-made millionaire would rather be thought a Clark Gable than a great financier. A famous surgeon is oftener prouder of the atrocious poetry he writes than he is of the skill of his hands.

And never forget that domesticity is the best way to lure men into matrimony. Convince a man that you can make pies like his mother used to make and he is yours. But why multiply words about a thing that every woman knows by instinct, or else she never finds out?

* * * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—You wonder why men who love their children, who toil like slaves to give them every advantage and all of whose hopes and ambitions are centered in them, wash their hands of their upbringing. I can tell you why one father feels that the best way for him and his is to figure as little as possible in the handling of the children, and there are doubtless many who have his experience. It is because the mother resents any attempt of the father to control or direct the children. Because she interferes between them and negates all of his plans, and because he finds out that if he attempts to take any active part in managing the children it will bring up constant conflicts between himself and his wife that will not only destroy his authority but hers. He feels that it is better for the children to have a peaceful home and one in which the father and mother are apparently in accord than it would be for him to exercise any authority as a father. Hence he just fades out of the picture.

N. A. S.

Answer:

No doubt you are right, and that many a father finds that the hands-off policy is the only one that he can use in dealing with a monopolistic mother. I have seen many mothers who would threaten a bad and spoiled child with his father's discipline, yet when the father attempted to correct the child they would turn upon the fathers, like a tigress defending its young, and heap abuse upon their heads.

It is a great pity for the children's sake that their mothers deprive them of a father's help and guidance in their rearing, because every boy and girl need a man's firmness, a man's viewpoint and a man's broadening companionship. Mother idolatry doesn't take the place of father's influence, and we would not have so many youngsters running wild if they had a man's strong and steady hands on the reins instead of a weak woman's.

Of course, much is to be said for the father's point of view—that it is better for the children to grow up in a quiet household, even if they are reared exclusively by a weak mother, than one in which there is a conflict between husband and wife about their upbringing. But it is buying peace at a great price. It is paying for it with the children's birthright.

BEAUTY ENTRIES MUST WEAR COTTON

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Cotton dresses must be worn by the pretty girls entered in the beauty pageant to be held on the night of September 8 as the opening feature of the annual cotton festival.

The Mississippi Delta Cotton Festival association decreed that all of the fifty or more selected beauties must dress in cotton.

Mrs. B. J. Marshall, of Marks, director of the Delta beauty revue, said the styles this year were quite adaptable to cotton materials and urged the girls to select their laces, mousceline de sois and cotton net to feature the south's chief crop.

WEARS BATHING SUIT FOR FIRST TIME

Many a girl and woman formerly ashamed to appear in a bathing suit is stepping out this year proud of her slim and lovely figure — thanks to Marmola. This easy quick way to reduce is a revelation to women who have been discouraged and disgusted with strenuous dieting and the slow results and hardship of back-breaking exercises. Just take 4 Marmola Tablets a day and cut down on butter, cream, potatoes and pastries. Eat more fruits and vegetables. Do this for just a few weeks or until you've lost enough weight — then stop.

Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same element prescribed by many physicians for their fat patients. Follow the easy Marmola way to a slim, lovely figure. Get Marmola today from your druggist.

CHAPTER V

Melita and Priscilla crowded onto the bridge to observe the cause of all the disturbance. Kay was valiantly trying to keep the "Chinook" on her course, but the little boat did a good deal of bobbing. As she nosed down, the propeller would lift out of the water for a few seconds. Then the engine, relieved of strain against the water, would race noisily, frightening the three girls.

"D-darn them, anyhow," muttered Kay. "They didn't have to pass so close."

Melita held to the edge of the chart table. "So there are road hogs on the water, too!"

The boat now showing its trim gold-lettered stern was indeed large by comparison with the "Chinook," and she had plenty of speed. Two young men in white sweaters stood at the stern rail, waving cheerfully.

"Look at those—those idiots!" said Priscilla with venom. "I just hope we see them again!"

"Well, I don't," insisted Kay, relinquishing her strained grip on the wheel as the swell subsided. "One thing, I don't think any of us will be seasick if we're still on deck after that."

"I don't know . . ." This was Priscilla, looking a bit dubious as she said it. "My lunch isn't resting so easy right now. And Jim Pike said it was the long, slow swells that made you really sick in a small boat. I—I feel like a piece of ice in a cocktail shaker."

The trim yacht with her cheerful pair at the stern was quickly forgotten as the girls became more accustomed to their little boat and began to take in the restful beauties of water and green distant shoreline.

"This is certainly the life!" Melita exclaimed. "We never really lived before we got the 'Chinook' did we?"

"I'm just wondering, though," mused Kay, "if the trip won't get sort of—well, monotonous. It's fun so far, but it might get tiresome."

Not two days later she was to recall her use of the words "monotonous" and "tiresome"—and wish to Heaven that she had been a more accurate prophet! But meanwhile they did enjoy the cruise to the utmost. Two hours after the passing of the big yacht, Kay announced that they going into Keyhole Pass, "We've hit it just right, according to Jim Pike. An hour later and the tide would be running too swift against us."

She reached for the control panel, set the engine up to its full revolutions and started through the narrow pass. Once, half way through, the engine coughed, seemed to stop dead. Kay Dearborn paled, for Jim Pike had warned that without power a small boat might be whirled back down through Key-Hole Pass like a chip—perhaps to be dashed on the rocky shore. But a second later the doughty motor was chugging merrily away again, and within a few minutes the "Chinook" had safely negotiated the pass. Kay thought it just as well not to inform Melita and Priscilla what could have happened. And she resolved never again to start on a cruise with such a slender knowledge of the things Jim Pike knew by second nature.

"Fairweather Cove ought to be about an hour from here," she told Melita. "That's where we'll spend the night. Jim Pike said it was a fine place to anchor."

"We sleep a-shore?" asked Melita.

"We do not! We anchor the good ship, and roll gently to slumber in our bunks."

"That sounds better," said Melita. "Once I tried spending a night in a sleeping bag—and never again!"

Kay was immensely relieved when she saw landmarks of Fairweather Cove which Jim Pike had described to her. "It's a perfect anchorage," he had said. "Almost land-locked. It's popular with cruising yachts, but you are not likely to have company this early in the season." For the first time in her life Kay experienced that glorious feeling which every true boat lover knows—approaching a quiet berth at night after having brought the little ship over her course without mishap.

Suddenly she saw the narrow opening off to starboard, and from Pike's excellent description she knew, without consulting the chart, that this was her goal. She steered for the dead center of the entrance, as Jim Pike had advised. Just inside, she was startled to see another boat—the big white yacht which had given them its wake earlier in the day! Now she dozed at anchor with no sign of life aboard.

Drawing more water than the "Chinook," the yacht was anchored more in the center of the cove than Pike had advised for the "Chinook." Kay drew closer to shore, abeam of a grouping of evergreens. "There's where you'll find a good holding bottom for your ground tackle," Pike had said.

Priscilla, nose pressed to the window of the pilot house, made a sound of disgust. "There's that confounded boat that tossed us around this morning!"

"Well," Melita said, "you hoped we'd see them again. Now's your chance to give them a piece of your mind."

Kay turned from the wheel. "If you two can manage to stop the conversation for a moment, I'd like to have you put down the anchor."

"You know," said Melita, "you're probably the politest captain in the world." Dodging Kay's suddenly outstretched foot, she went forward.

Kay stopped the engine, but the little "Chinook" kept veering. Kay was forced to maneuver the boat into position again. "Are you sure you got that anchor down?" she asked Melita.

"Absolutely."

"It doesn't seem to be holding at all, I wonder—"

She was interrupted by a halloo from the side. All three girls looked from the pilot house. Standing in a small dinghy was a good-looking young man in a white sweater and ducks, obviously from the fancy yacht.

"Ahoy there, 'Chinook,'" he called. "I see you're having a bit of trouble. Maybe I can help."

Kay slid the pilot house window down. "Thank you. The anchor doesn't seem to be holding."

The dark young man smiled. "I think I can explain that. I happened to see one of your crew let it go. And I noticed it's one of those new lightweight folding types. You see, the trouble is, you didn't unfold it before you tossed it over!"

Melita turned the color of a summer sunset.

"Just draw it up and unfold it," the young man advised. "Then let her down again and head the boat a little more into the wind. You'll be all right then."

"T-thanks," stammered Kay.

"Glad to be of help. Our boat is the 'Mistral.' We'd like to have you come aboard tomorrow for breakfast. Our cook makes the swellest flapjacks north of the Panama Canal."

"That's very nice of you," said Kay. "But we're pulling out at dawn tomorrow."

"Good cruising then." The young man resumed his seat in the dinghy and took up the oars. "We may meet again further north."

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT—Prompted by the success of his first independently produced picture "Little Lord Fauntleroy," David O. Selznick entered the technicolor field to produce "The Garden of Allah," which brings Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer to the Paramount theater for two days today.

He selected this story from the pen of Robert Hichens for many reasons. First, its enormous success as a novel during the past 30 years and the number of times it has been revived on the stage guarantee its popularity among the millions who are already acquainted with the story. Secondly, the action and the settings are peculiarly adapted to color. And thirdly, the story, one of the great romances of fiction, is almost made to order for the highly individual talents of the two stars.

Inasmuch as much of the locale of the picture is the Algerian desert, much of it was shot out-of-doors in natural color against the picturesque background of America's Sahara.

The actual location of the Selznick camp was the sand dunes 17 miles west of Yuma, Ariz. More than 200 persons were quartered there, comprising the permanent staff during the making of the picture, and scores of others who were recruited and shipped from Hollywood to take part in the crowd scenes.

Richard Boleslawski, who directed the film, spent the month preceding shooting preparing for his task with an exhaustive series of tests of players, materials, make-up and costumes.

Sam Kaufman, Hollywood's leading color make-up expert, experimented with each player separately in order to achieve the proper effects. Howard "Duke" Green, leading technicolor cameraman, who recently photographed "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," carefully film-tested every bolt of material for costumes and draperies in order to select with Sturges Carne, are director, those best suited to the subdued effects desired by the film company.

To support Miss Dietrich and Boyer, Selznick, who has become famous for the strength of his casts, engaged several other well-known players, notably Basil Rathbone for Count Anteoni, the mystic Italian nobleman; C. Aubrey Smith, who scored such a tremendous personal triumph in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," for the part of Father Roubier, priest of the desert parish of Beni-Mora; Joseph Schildkraut for the guide, Batouch; and Tilly Losch, internationally famous dancer, for Irena, the Arabian dancing girl.

AT THE CAPITOL—"Slim," a Warner Bros. melodrama dealing with a class of young men whom the movies have overlooked up to now—the lads who string high-tension power lines across the country—will play as the feature attraction at the Capitol theater today.

Co-stars in the picture, and pals in the story, are Pat O'Brien and Henry Fonda, the latter carrying the title role and the former acting the part of "Red," who teaches "Slim" the business.

The girl whom they both love is the attractive and capable Margaret Lindsay, who plays a hospital nurse, as she did in the recent "Green Light" and in many another picture.

Nine-tenths of the action of "Slim" is outdoors, and there are said to be many amazing scenes depicting the perils and thrills of the wire-stringers, who erect 100-foot towers, clamber up and down them, and put into position the strands that carry energy, sometimes braving blizzards to do so.

J. Farrell MacDonald is the boss of the crew to which O'Brien and Fonda are attached. One of the pals of the boys is Stuart Erwin. Other players in the noteworthy cast include Joseph Sawyer, John Litel, Craig Reynolds, Dick Purcell and Jane Wyman.

"Slim" was made from the best-selling novel of that name by William Wister Haines. It was directed by Ray Enright.

U. S. BUYS MORE THAN IT SELLS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The United States bought $144,819,000 more than it sold in world markets during the first seven months of this year, the commerce department reported today.

This unfavorable trade balance represented a slight decline under that for the first six months, due to a $1,836,000 excess of exports during July.

"The $144,819,000 unfavorable balance for the seven months' period compared with a similar balance of only $24,214,000 during the corresponding period a year ago.

Commerce department officials have said that the nation may record its first unfavorable trade balance in almost half a century for the entire year, 1937.

Both exports and imports increased substantially during the first seven months of this year. Exports climbed $468,478,000 to $1,803,829,000. Imports rose $589,083,000 to $1,948,648,000.

Analyzing the trade figures, the department said that the increase in exports was due largely to increased shipments of metals and manufacturers, machinery and vehicles and nonmetallic minerals.

Among import increases, the department listed edible animal products, vegetable food products, textile and manufacturers, wood and paper and inedible vegetable products.

The department said raw cotton exports for the first seven months of 1937 totalled $185,205,000, compared with $164,870,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Raw cotton imports aggregated $13,464,000 and $7,448,000 for the respective periods.

Cotton cloth and cotton manufactures imports totalled $9,871,000 for the 1937 seven months compared with $6,142,000 in the corresponding period last year.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

J. Arthur Smith, well known Monroe insurance man, who underwent a serious operation at the St. Francis sanitarium, two weeks ago, was removed to his home, 519 Jackson street, Wednesday. While he will be confined to his bed for some days, his condition is said to be satisfactory and his complete recovery is anticipated.

Two Guests In City Boat Trip Honorees

Misses Catherine Cooper, Elizabeth Forman Entertained With Several Affairs

Two lovely guests in Monroe during the past week have been Miss Catherine Cooper of Mansfield and Miss Elizabeth Forman of Birmingham, Ala., who have been guests in the home of Dr. and Mrs. B. M. McKoin.

Several enjoyable affairs were given in their honor during their visit, including dinner parties, boat rides and other outings.

Monday evening Miss Cooper and Miss Forman were complimented with a boat ride on the "Jo Mary." The congenial party after sailing up the river, enjoyed a picnic supper at D'Arbonne.

Guests enjoying this outing were Miss Catherine Cooper, Miss Elizabeth Forman, Miss Rose Ruth Kirby of Jonesville, Miss Gertrude White of Mer Rouge, Jimmie Rolfe of Oak Ridge, Warren White and Miss Clara Clark of Mer Rouge, and Dr. and Mrs. McKoin.

Mrs. Shelby White entertained Miss Cooper and Miss Forman with a dinner party at her home in Mer Rouge and Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Cummings of Oak Ridge also honored these lovely young visitors with a dinner party.

Members of the Colony Home Demonstration club met Wednesday afternoon and interesting talks were made by Mrs. Mary Durden and Mrs. A. J. Hudson on the recent short course in Baton Rouge.

Plans for the Ouachita Valley fair which will be held from September 28 until October 3 were discussed and the following committees appointed:

Home demonstration, Mrs. Roy Welch, Mrs. E. W. Earle, Mrs. Louis Bowers, Mrs. Edwards, Mr. Howard Whiting and Mr. W. A. Roach.

Agricultural booth, Mrs. A. J. Hudson, Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. W. B. Norsworthy, Mr. O. A. Guess and Mrs. Robert Fennell.

Miss Mary Hayward, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. F. Hayward, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic this week.

Mrs. E. Carl Paulus, 2517 South Grand street, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic Thursday.

Miss Sydnie Calongne and Miss Marjorie Carter, lovely guests in the Wood Thompson home last week, have returned to their home in New Orleans. They were accompanied by Mrs. Thompson, Miss Lillie Thompson and Mrs. Jake Dorman, who returned to Monroe Monday evening.

Mrs. W. M. King and little son David left this week for Dallas, Tex., where they are attending the Pan-American exposition.

Mrs. Robert Kellogg and daughters, Mary Stewart and Rhoda, and little niece, June Lewis, have returned from Pass Christian, Miss., where they were guests at the Inn-by-the-Sea.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Roumaine Peters and little son have recently moved from New Orleans to Atlanta, Ga., where Mr. Peters has accepted a promotion. Mrs. Peters will be remembered as Miss Alma Summer Potts.

ARE YOU ONLY A THREE-QUARTER WIFE?

THERE are certain things a woman has to put up with and be a good sport.

Men, because they are men, can never understand a three-quarter wife—a wife who is all love and kindness three weeks in a month and a hell cat the rest of the time.

No matter how your back aches—no matter how loudly your nerves scream—don't take it out on your husband.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Society Calendar

Friday

The Catholic Daughters of America will hold an initiation, 7 p. m.

Cottage prayer meeting, circle 4 of the First Baptist church, missionary society, with Mrs. F. K. Hamm, 404 Pine street, 3 p.m.

Coaching day in the Monroe district. Women's Missionary society of the First Methodist church will entertain the presidents and superintendents of study.

The Sterlington Home Demonstration club will sponsor a cake walk at the Louisiana Power and Light company's ball park, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, September 4

The board of governors of the Terpsichorean club announce their third cooperative dance on the Cherokee terrace, 10 p.m.

Tuesday

Regular business meeting of the First Baptist W. M. U., 3:15 p.m.

The first meeting of the Y. W. M. A. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. E. Walsworth, 3 p.m.

Mrs. John King of Ferriday has been a guest in the Duffie Brown home for the past week. Other guests this week will be Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Bennett Brown and son, Carroll B., Jr., who are arriving from San Antonio, Tex., today.

Miss Nora Virginia Abernathy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs L. P. Abernathy of Baotn Rouge, and Miss Jean Freret of New Orleans, are guests of Misses Nibby and Jane McKenzie.

Mrs. Grace Potts of Baton Rouge, is the guest of Mrs. J. J. Potts at her home on Breard street.

The Parker Memorial Sunday school class of the First Methodist church had its monthly business meeting in conjunction with a picnic which included the husbands, at Redbud lodge, located about five miles beyond Rayville, Wednesday night.

Picnic lunch was spread on long tables in the open.

After the lunch the women assembled in the lodge house for the business meeting, which included the election of officers for the new year.

An enjoyable evening was spent by the 47 persons who attended.

Professor and Mrs. B. H. Singleterry of Baton Rouge are visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Grisham at their home on Riverside drive. Mrs. R. W. Oglesby, Mrs. Harry Gist, and Miss Elizabeth Oglesby of Winnfield are also guests in the Grisham home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Causey and daughters, Alice and Harriett, of Cleveland, Miss., will be the weekend guests of Mrs. T. F. Causey and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Oliver.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Oliver and children, Carolyn, Miriam and Courtney, Jr., have returned from a delightful tour of Texas, where they visited the Pan-American exposition in Dallas, Casa Manana in Fort Worth and the salt mines in Grand Saline, as well as other points of interest.

An interesting event of the past week was the family reunion held in celebration of the birthdays of Mr. A. C. White, White's Ferry, his sister, Mrs. A. E. Harris, Arkansas road, and nieces, Mrs. O. K. Bates and Mrs. the 68th birthday of Mrs. Harris and the 62nd anniversary of Mr. White.

Dinner and drinks were served on the lawn under the spreading trees of the Pylant home on White's Ferry road.

Enjoying the festivity of this occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ramsey and children of Chatham, Mr. and Mrs. A. I. Albright and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Bates and sons, Donald and Harold, Mrs. Mark Harris and children, Mr. and Mrs. John Harris, Mrs. Ammie Ham and children, Mrs. Mandy Smith, Mrs. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Shay, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Taylor, Mr. Elton Taylor, Mr. Thomas White, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. White, Mr. K. C. White, Mr. Russell White, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. White and children, Alan Harris, Jr., Sammie Boles, Asia Albright, Jr., Guy Logan, Julius and Jack White, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Harris and daughter, Lillian, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. The Recipes for Catching a Man Are as Varied as a Book on Cocktails, So It Is Up to You Girls to Use the One That Suits Best

DEAR MISS DIX—We are a group of girls who frankly want to marry. Please tell us how to get our man.

SALLY AND SUE AND BETH AND MARY AND OTHERS.

Answer:

Well, there is no one recipe for catching a husband as there is for making sponge cake. You have to vary your technique to suit the man. Some men like girls who run after them and some of them prefer to do the chasing themselves. Some men like girls who flout them, others prefer girls who soft-soap them.

Your method must depend upon the man. If a man is timid, shy and tongue-tied in the presence of women, you will have to do all the courting because he will never summon up the nerve to do it himself. You will have to make the dates, do the telephoning and practically pop the question. Deal gently with him, or else you will scare him off.

But if a boy is of the bold, aggressive type, and especially if he fancies himself, it is nearly always a winning play to treat him rough. Make him think that he means nothing in your young life. Break dates with him. Make him do all the telephoning and write two letters to your one. This will rouse his fighting blood and put him on his mettle to break down your sales resistance.

Remember that different fish rise to different bait. If you are angling for a college boy or a Sugar Papa, bait your hook with youth and good looks and good clothes. That is about all that ever attracts them to a woman. But be wary. They are slippery fish to hold and just when you think you are about to land them they are likely to flop off of the line.

If you want to catch a widower, get up early and get a running start. Get in your work while he is still feeling lonesome and lost, without a wife to boss him and take care of him. Begin asking him to dinner about the time he has got so sick of clubs and restaurant cooking that it gags him even to read over a menu, and great will be your reward. Comforting a widower is the easiest known way of getting a husband.

If you are after a business man, and none are more desirable as husbands, do not make the mistake of studying the stock market so you can converse intelligently upon it. On the contrary, be a Dumb Dora and ask him to tell you the difference between a bull and a bear. Lend him your ears while he discourses about the wonderful deal he has pulled off in the green grocery trade, or how he made a killing in wheat, and marvel at his financial sagacity. Many a man marries just to get a patient listener.

Of course, the common, or garden, or foolproof way of getting your man is by flattery. Virtually all men fall for this. If he is vain, hand it to him in chunks and he will swallow it whole and ask for more. If he is more or less modest in his opinion of himself, be more discriminating and feed it to him in homeopathic doses.

But note this one thing well: Men oftener want to be praised for what they are not than what they are. A self-made millionaire would rather be thought a Clark Gable than a great financier. A famous surgeon is oftener prouder of the atrocious poetry he writes than he is of the skill of his hands.

And never forget that domesticity is the best way to lure men into matrimony. Convince a man that you can make pies like his mother used to make and he is yours. But why multiply words about a thing that every woman knows by instinct, or else she never finds out?

* * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—You wonder why men who love their children, who toil like slaves to give them every advantage and all of whose hopes and ambitions are centered in them, wash their hands of their upbringing. I can tell you why one father feels that the best way for him and his is to figure as little as possible in the handling of the children, and there are doubtless many who have his experience. It is because the mother resents any attempt of the father to control or direct the children. Because she interferes between them and negates all of his plans, and because he finds out that if he attempts to take any active part in managing the children it will bring up constant conflicts between himself and his wife that will not only destroy his authority but hers. He feels that it is better for the children to have a peaceful home and one in which the father and mother are apparently in accord than it would be for him to exercise any authority as a father. Hence he just fades out of the picture.

N. A. S.

Answer:

No doubt you are right, and that many a father finds that the hands-off policy is the only one that he can use in dealing with a monopolistic mother. I have seen many mothers who would threaten a bad and spoiled child with his father's discipline, yet when the father attempted to correct the child they would turn upon the fathers, like a tigress defending its young, and heap abuse upon their heads.

It is a great pity for the children's sake that their mothers deprive them of a father's help and guidance in their rearing, because every boy and girl need a man's firmness, a man's viewpoint and a man's broadening companionship. Mother idolatry doesn't take the place of father's influence, and we would not have so many youngsters running wild if they had a man's strong and steady hands on the reins instead of a weak woman's.

Of course, much is to be said for the father's point of view—that it is better for the children to grow up in a quiet household, even if they are reared exclusively by a weak mother, than one in which there is a conflict between husband and wife about their upbringing. But it is buying peace at a great price. It is paying for it with the children's birthright.

BEAUTY ENTRIES MUST WEAR COTTON

CLARKSDALE, Miss., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Cotton dresses must be worn by the pretty girls entered in the beauty pageant to be held on the night of September 8 as the opening feature of the annual cotton festival.

The Mississippi Delta Cotton Festival association decreed that all of the fifty or more selected beauties must dress in cotton.

Mrs. B. J. Marshall, of Marks, director of the Delta beauty revue, said the styles this year were quite adaptable to cotton materials and urged the girls to select their laces, mousceline de sois and cotton net to feature the south's chief crop.

CHAPTER V

Melita and Priscilla crowded onto the bridge to observe the cause of all the disturbance. Kay was valiantly trying to keep the "Chinook" on her course, but the little boat did a good deal of bobbing. As she nosed down, the propeller would lift out of the water for a few seconds. Then the engine, relieved of strain against the water, would race noisily, frightening the three girls.

"D-darn them, anyhow," muttered Kay. "They didn't have to pass so close."

Melita held to the edge of the chart table. "So there are road hogs on the water, too!"

The boat now showing its trim gold-lettered stern was indeed large by comparison with the "Chinook," and she had plenty of speed. Two young men in white sweaters stood at the stern rail, waving cheerfully.

"Look at those—those idiots!" said Priscilla with venom. "I just hope we see them again!"

"Well, I don't," insisted Kay, relinquishing her strained grip on the wheel as the swell subsided. "One thing, I don't think any of us will be seasick if we're still on deck after that."

"I don't know . . ." This was Priscilla, looking a bit dubious as she said it. "My lunch isn't resting so easy right now. And Jim Pike said it was the long, slow swells that made you really sick in a small boat. I—I feel like a piece of ice in a cocktail shaker."

The trim yacht with her cheerful pair at the stern was quickly forgotten as the girls became more accustomed to their little boat and began to take in the restful beauties of water and green distant shoreline.

"This is certainly the life!" Melita exclaimed. "We never really lived before we got the 'Chinook' did we?"

"I'm just wondering, though," mused Kay, "if the trip won't get sort of —well, monotonous. It's fun so far, but it might get tiresome."

Not two days later she was to recall her use of the words "monotonous" and "tiresome"—and wish to Heaven that she had been a more accurate prophet! But meanwhile they did enjoy the cruise to the utmost. Two hours after the passing of the big yacht, Kay announced that they going into Keyhole Pass. "We've hit it just right, according to Jim Pike. An hour later and the tide would be running too swift against us."

She reached for the control panel, set the engine up to its full revolutions and started through the narrow pass. Once, half way through, the engine coughed, seemed to stop dead. Kay Dearborn paled, for Jim Pike had warned that without power a small boat might be whirled back down through Key-Hole Pass like a chip—perhaps to be dashed on the rocky shore. But a second later the doughty motor was chugging merrily away again, and within a few minutes the "Chinook" had safely negotiated the pass. Kay thought it just as well not to inform Melita and Priscilla what could have happened. And she resolved never again to start on a cruise with such a slender knowledge of the things Jim Pike knew by second nature.

"Fairweather Cove ought to be about an hour from here," she told Melita. "That's where we'll spend the night. Jim Pike said it was a fine place to anchor."

"We sleep a'shore?" asked Melita.

"We do not! We anchor the good ship, and roll gently to slumber in our bunks."

"That sounds better," said Melita. "Once I tried spending a night in a sleeping bag—and never again!"

Kay was immensely relieved when she saw landmarks of Fairweather Cove which Jim Pike had described to her. "It's a perfect anchorage," he had said. "Almost land-locked. It's popular with cruising yachts, but you are not likely to have company this early in the season." For the first time in her life Kay experienced that glorious feeling which every true boat lover knows—approaching a quiet berth at night after having brought the little ship over her course without mishap.

Suddenly she saw the narrow opening off to starboard, and from Pike's excellent description she knew, without consulting the chart, that this was her goal. She steered for the dead center of the entrance, as Jim Pike had advised. Just inside, she was startled to see another boat—the big white yacht which had given them its wake earlier in the day! Now she dozed at anchor with no sign of life aboard.

Drawing more water than the "Chinook," the yacht was anchored more in the center of the cove than Pike had advised for the "Chinook." Kay drew closer to shore, abeam of a grouping of evergreens. "There's where you'll find a good holding bottom for your ground tackle," Pike had said.

Priscilla, nose pressed to the window of the pilot house, made a sound of disgust. "There's that confounded boat that tossed us around this morning!"

"Well," Melita said, "you hoped we'd see them again. Now's your chance to give them a piece of your mind."

Kay turned from the wheel. "If you two can manage to stop the conversation for a moment, I'd like to have you put down the anchor."

"You know," said Melita, "you're probably the politest captain in the world." Dodging Kay's suddenly outstretched foot, she went forward.

Kay stopped the engine, but the little "Chinook" kept veering. Kay was forced to maneuver the boat into position again. "Are you sure you got that anchor down?" she asked Melita.

"Absolutely."

"It doesn't seem to be holding at all, I wonder—"

She was interrupted by a halloo from the side. All three girls looked from the pilot house. Standing in a small dinghy was a good-looking young man in a white sweater and ducks, obviously from the fancy yacht.

"Ahoy there, 'Chinook,'" he called. "I see you're having a bit of trouble. Maybe I can help."

Kay slid the pilot house window down. "Thank you. The anchor doesn't seem to be holding."

The dark young man smiled. "I think I can explain that. I happened to see one of your crew let it go. And I noticed it's one of those new lightweight folding types. You see, the trouble is, you didn't unfold it before you tossed it over!"

Melita turned the color of a summer sunset.

"Just draw it up and unfold it," the young man advised. "Then let her down again and head the boat a little more into the wind. You'll be all right then."

"T-thanks," stammered Kay.

"Glad to be of help. Our boat is the 'Mistral.' We'd like to have you come aboard tomorrow for breakfast. Our cook makes the swellest flapjacks north of the Panama Canal."

"That's very nice of you," said Kay. "But we're pulling out at dawn tomorrow."

"Good cruising then." The young man resumed his seat in the dinghy and took up the oars. "We may meet again further north."

AT LOCAL THEATERS

AT THE PARAMOUNT—Prompted by the success of his first independently produced picture "Little Lord Fauntleroy," David O. Selznick entered the technicolor field to produce "The Garden of Allah," which brings Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer to the Paramount theater for two days today.

He selected this story from the pen of Robert Hichens for many reasons. First, its enormous success as a novel during the past 30 years and the number of times it has been revived on the stage guarantee its popularity among the millions who are already acquainted with the story. Secondly, the action and the settings are peculiarly adapted to color. And thirdly, the story, one of the great romances of fiction, is almost made to order for the highly individual talents of the two stars.

Inasmuch as much of the locale of the picture is the Algerian desert, much of it was shot out-of-doors in natural color against the picturesque background of America's Sahara.

The actual location of the Selznick camp was the sand dunes 17 miles west of Yuma, Ariz. More than 200 persons were quartered there, comprising the permanent staff during the making of the picture, and scores of others who were recruited and shipped from Hollywood to take part in the crowd scenes.

Richard Boleslawski, who directed the film, spent the month preceding shooting preparing for his task with an exhaustive series of tests of players, materials, make-up and costumes.

Sam Kaufman, Hollywood's leading color make-up expert, experimented with each player separately in order to achieve the proper effects. Howard "Duke" Green, leading technicolor cameraman, who recently photographed "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," carefully film-tested every bolt of material for costumes and draperies in order to select with Sturges Carne, are director, those best suited to the subdued effects desired by the film company.

To support Miss Dietrich and Boyer, Selznick, who has become famous for the strength of his casts, engaged several other well-known players, notably Basil Rathbone for Count Anteoni, the mystic Italian nobleman; C. Aubrey Smith, who scored such a tremendous personal triumph in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," for the part of Father Roubier, priest of the desert parish of Beni-Mora; Joseph Schildkraut for the guide, Batouch; and Tilly Losch, internationally famous dancer, for Irena, the Arabian dancing girl.

AT THE CAPITOL—"Slim," a Warner Bros. melodrama dealing with a class of young men whom the movies have overlooked up to now—the lads who string high-tension power lines across the country—will play as the feature attraction at the Capitol theater today.

Co-stars in the picture, and pals in the story, are Pat O'Brien and Henry Fonda, the latter carrying the title role and the former acting the part of "Red," who teaches "Slim" the business.

The girl whom they both love is the attractive and capable Margaret Lindsay, who plays a hospital nurse, as she did in the recent "Green Light" and in many another picture.

Nine-tenths of the action of "Slim" is outdoors, and there are said to be many amazing scenes depicting the perils and thrills of the wire-stringers, who erect 100-foot towers, clamber up and down them, and put into position the strands that carry energy, sometimes braving blizzards to do so.

J. Farrell MacDonald is the boss of the crew to which O'Brien and Fonda are attached. One of the pals of the boys is Stuart Erwin. Other players in the noteworthy cast include Joseph Sawyer, John Litel, Craig Reynolds, Dick Purcell and Jane Wyman.

"Slim" was made from the best-selling novel of that name by William Wister Haines. It was directed by Ray Enright.

U. S. BUYS MORE THAN IT SELLS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The United States bought $144,819,000 more than it sold in world markets during the first seven months of this year, the commerce department reported today.

This unfavorable trade balance represented a slight decline under that for the first six months, due to a $1,836,000 excess of exports during July.

"The $144,819,000 unfavorable balance for the seven months' period compared with a similar balance of only $24,214,000 during the corresponding period a year ago.

Commerce department officials have said that the nation may record its first unfavorable trade balance in almost half a century for the entire year, 1937.

Both exports and imports increased substantially during the first seven months of this year. Exports climbed $468,478,000 to $1,803,829,000. Imports rose $589,083,000 to $1,948,648,000.

Analyzing the trade figures, the department said that the increase in exports was due largely to increased shipments of metals and manufacturers, machinery and vehicles and nonmetallic minerals.

Among import increases, the department listed edible animal products, vegetable food products, textile and manufacturers, wood and paper and inedible vegetable products.

The department said raw cotton exports for the first seven months of 1937 totalled $185,205,000, compared with $164,870,000 in the corresponding 1936 period.

Raw cotton imports aggregated $13,464,000 and $7,448,000 for the respective periods.

Cotton cloth and cotton manufactures imports totalled $9,871,000 for the 1937 seven months compared with $6,142,000 in the corresponding period last year.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

J. Arthur Smith, well known Monroe insurance man, who underwent a serious operation at the St. Francis sanitarium, two weeks ago, was removed to his home, 519 Jackson street, Wednesday. While he will be confined to his bed for some days, his condition is said to be satisfactory and his complete recovery is anticipated.

FAIR ANNOUNCES PREMIUM LISTS

Officers And Department Heads Named For Annual Exhibition

Rules, regulations and other valuable information are contained in the premium list of the Ouachita Valley Fair association which is being distributed this week.

Officers of the fair are as follows: C. C. Bell, president; A. Petrus, treasurer; J. H. Birdsong, manager; Mrs. J. B. Landreaux, entry secretary; with Mrs. Jewel McQuiller, parish home demonstration agent, and E. R Strahan, parish agricultural agent, cooperating. The board of directors comprises C. C. Bell, John Birdsong, H. M. Williams, Jr., Lee Hawkins, O. S. McDonald, Herman McGuire, A. Petrus, Judge Charles Schulze, E. E. Pritchett, Sidney Stewart, G. A. Strozier, G. E. Tyner, Fred G. Thatcher and George W. Welch.

One of the principal purposes of the fair is to encourage the work of the 4-H clubs. However, 4-H clubs will not be permitted to compete with the adult groups. Separate premiums are designated for 4-H club work.

Entry books will open at the fair grounds, Saturday, September 25. The books will be closed Tuesday, September 28, at 2 p.m., and it is stated that all exhibits must be in place by September 28 at 4 p.m.

G. A. Strozier and B. H. Crawford are superintendents in the agricultural department. The 4-H boys exhibits will be in charge of Mr. Strahan. Department B will comprise poultry exhibits, with E. E. White, superintendent. Department C will feature livestock, with O. S. McDonald, superintendent.

Mrs. J. B. Filhiol has been selected as general superintendent of the women's department, with Mrs. E. W. Earl, assistant superintendent. Canned goods will be displayed in charge of Mrs. G. H. Strozier and Mrs. J. S. Sims. Mrs. L. D. Willis and Mrs. Sandel Berry will be superintendents of the baked goods division.

Textile displays will be arranged by Mrs. J. R. Frantom, Mrs. Ivy Smith and Mrs. C. B. Hammett.

Mrs. McQuiller will supervise the various displays of the 4-H girls, which are more extensive this year than in former times.

Floral displays will receive special attention and Mrs. F. A. Reynolds will supervise this department.

Premiums offered are more numerous than was the case in the 1936 fair, it is stated.

DEATH SHADOWED THEIR LOVE

Henry Fonda is one of those daredevil linesmen who live high but not long, and Margaret Lindsay is the one girl he loves and doesn't leave, in "Slim," Warner Bros.' electrifying melodrama which plays today only at the Capitol theater.

COLLEGE FEES NOT INCREASED

NATCHITOCHES, Sept. 2.—(Special)—Entrance fees for the fall term at the Louisiana State Normal college here have not been raised but will remain the same as during the 1936-37 session, President Albert A. Fredericks announced in response to numerous inquiries from students and parents throughout the state regarding the matriculation fee.

"The authorities of the college wish to inform every student planning to enroll on September 13, 14 and 15, that additional assessments have not been made to entrance fees for any class of work in any department of the college during the fall quarter," declared President Fredericks.

All students will be charged a flat students' activities fee of $5.25 regardless of the course they pursue. Included in this fee will be athletics and lyceum tickets, subscriptions to the college paper and annual, student welfare, library, student body and ferensices fees. An extra fee of 25c will be charged for a private box in the college postoffice.

Courses involving laboratory work require the payment of fees ranging from $1 to $5.25 a term. Students residing in the college dormitories also pay an infirmary fee of $1.50 a term.

Tuition is free in all departments of the college except in the school of music. Students majoring in music are charged extra fees for piano rentals and individual instruction.

Through the college bookstore students are permitted to rent their books at an approximate cost of $4 a term.

Fourteen professional courses leading to the bachelor of arts degree and designed to train teachers in every field of teaching in the public schools of the state will be offered at Louisiana State Normal college this fall, as follows: Agriculture-science, art, commerce, English-foreign language, English-library, English-social science, home economics, kindergarten-primary, mathematics-science, music, physical education, science, speech and upper elementary.

AUTO NOT STOLEN FROM PARKING LOT

Monroe police Thursday stated that an automobile which was stolen on the second of last month by Herman Maxie, negro, was taken from the Frances filling station, 120 Jackson street, and not from th Frances parking lot as was at first reported.

Maxie was arrested the day after the theft of the car and is in the Ouachita parish jail. He is held there for the robbery of the automobile and also for participating in the burglary of the O. and S. Oil company

Jesse Bird, alias "Scarface," negro, was arrested in Shreveport last Monday in connection with the oil company burglary. He is being held on two larceny charges in Shreveport, but Monroe police expressed the belief that the negro would be returned to Monroe to face the burglary charge.

MADDEN ADDRESSES MONROE Y'S MEN

John Madden, who recently returned from the national convention of the Y's Men's clubs, was the chief speaker at the weekly luncheon of the club at Hotel Frances Wednesday night. He told of some of the highlights of the convention, which was declared highly successful.

Mr. Madden was elected a vice-president of the national organization at the recent convention. He had formerly been director of the group.

The luncheon was presided over by Ed Watkins, president.

Real Estate Transfers

Real estate transfers recorded yesterday at the office of the clerk of court of Ouachita parish were:

J. H. Rhymes sold to L. R. Waller two acres of land in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 22, township 17 north, range 4 east for $350 cash.

C. E. Hixon, et als, sold to Irene Hixon Johnston all their interest in lot 6 of block 6 of the Cole addition to Monroe for $250 cash.

A. E. GOSSETT ARRESTED

A. E. Gossett, living on Gordon avenue, was arrested yesterday by members of the sheriff's department on a warrant charging him with non-support of minor children. He was being held in the Ouachita parish jail with his bond fixed at $250.

GIANTS NOSE OUT CARDS AND INCREASE LEAD

TERRYMEN SCORE PAIR OF RUNS IN 10TH TO WIN, 5-4

New York Stretches Margin To Full Game As Cubs Bow To Brooklyn, 4-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Those galloping Giants pulled a full game in front of the National league pack Thursday by outlasting the St. Louis Cardinals for a 5 to 4 ten-inning victory.

Given slugging help from an unexpected source when young Johnny McCarthy, usually a mild man at the plate, belted two homers, the Giants came from behind three times to win out.

The victory, seventh in their last eight games, boosted their pace-setting lead since the Cubs dropped their start in Brooklyn.

Although they clubbed Si Johnson and Bob Weiland, who broke into the game in the tenth, for 16 hits, while the Cards collected only eight from Harry Gumbert, Al Smith and Dick Coffman, poor fielding offset their clouting edge.

The Cards took a one-run lead in the first half of the tenth and appeared to have the game sewed up, but Mel Ott tied it up with his 30th homer, and then Hank Leiber, Harry Danning and Burgess Whitehead singled the winning run across.

The Cards not only lost the game, but their first baseman as well. One of Gumbert's slants felled Johnny Mize in the sixth and he was carried off the field on a stretcher. Although he was not believed seriously hurt, he was taken to a hospital for an x-ray examination.

DODGERS WIN IN 11TH

BROOKLYN, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Dodgers kept the Chicago Cubs in second place in the National league pennant sweepstakes again Thursday by outlasting their rivals for a 4 to 3 decision in 11 innings.

They had to come from behind a 3-1 disadvantage to do it, but they accomplished it with a two-run scoretying splurge in the eighth, during which the collapsible Cub infield committed a costly error, and then won out in the second extra frame. Max Butcher, big Dodger pitcher, who took over the mound assignment in the tenth after Luke Hamlin and Jim Lindsey had given up, won his own game with a single that sent the winning run across the plate.

Bill Lee went the route for the Cubs, and, after giving up a run in the first inning, did all right until Phil Cavarretta's error started the Dodgers on their two-run rally in the eighth. A double by Jimmy Bucher and a single by Buddy Hassett sent the two runs in, after Cavarretta gave Johnny Cooney a lift on his fumble.

The Dodgers produced the game-

JONESVILLE LIONS TAKE TWO TILTS FROM VIDALIA

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The Jonesville Lions ran their winning streak to seventeen straight Sunday when they took both games of a double header from the Vidalia Tigers.

In the first game the Lions were laboring to come from behind a four run lead until the fifth inning when they turned loose with a barrage of base hits which netted four runs off as many hits. In the sixth inning, Priester, Vidalia catcher, hit a homer with a mate on to give the invaders a two run lead, the Lions came back with a pair of singles and two doubles to net three runs which made the count 7-6 which was the outcome of both games.

In the second game, Lefty Kenda, portsider from Natchez, limited the Lions to two hits until he weakened in the fourth and the Lions pushed over three runs. The Tigers came back with four runs to take the lead again. J. Holmes, who went the route for the Lions in the first game, connected with a looping double which bounced off center field fence to tie the score. With runners on first and second in the sixth inning, Neely Swayze connected with one of the few Lion singles to push over two runs for the lead which the Lions kept throughout the balance of the game.

CAMPBELL AGAIN BREAKS WORLD MOTORBOAT MARK

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Picking up where he left off yesterday, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, boosted the world's motorboat record to 129.4164 miles per hour on Lake Maggiore Thursday.

Finding water conditions favorable Thursday morning, the British sportsman, holder of the world's land speed mark of 301.13 miles per hour, sent his single-engined unlimited hydroplane, Bluebird, twice over the measured course to crack the motorboat record he had set Wednesday by a comfortable margin.

Young Indian Hurler In Rare Form To Turn Back 'Murderers' Row'

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Bob Feller and his smokeball made the New York Yankees "holler uncle" Thursday.

The Cleveland youngster fanned a dozen members of the vaunted murderers' row, held them hitless until the fifth, blanked them until the eighth, and beat them 4 to 2 with five hits.

Only Joe Dimaggio's 39th homer in the eighth, followed by consecutive doubles by Bill Dickey and George Selkirk, who played his first full game since July 2, saved the Yankees from a shutout.

The Indians sewed the game up by scoring three runs through the first six innings off Monte Pearson. Moose Solters gave them an unnecessary run with a homer off Ivy Paul Andrews in the eighth.

Feller got Lou Gehrig three times on strikes, Don Heffner, Pearson, and Frank Crosetti twice each, and Red Rolfe, Myril Hoag and Pinchhitter Tom Henrich once each.

WHITE SOX WIN TWO

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox, making their last appearance of the season at Comiskey park Thursday, lost both ends of a double header to the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, and 10 to 8.

Thornton Lee won the opener by holding the Red Sox to four hits while his mates scored all four of their runs by homers, two by Boze Berger and one each by Mike Kreevich and Dixie Walker. The Chicago team made only eight hits, however, off Johnny Marcum and Joe Gonzales.

The nightcap was a slugfest with the White Sox pounding four Boston pitchers for sixteen hits and the Red Sox amassing 14 of their own, including Joe Cronin's fifteenth four bagger of the year.

FIVE NEW MEN REPORT FOR L. S. U. GRID WORK

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Five new men reporting Thursday for the second day of Louisiana State university football practice found things pretty easy.

Both morning and afternoon sessions were devoted to looking pretty for newsreel cameramen. The squad managed to get in a few minutes of calisthentics.

Head Coach Bernie Moore, one of the coaches who tutored the all-stars to victory Wednesday night over the Green Bay Packers in Chicago, was expected in Friday morning to take charge of practice.

The new men reporting, Ed Miller, George Kalil, Joe Landrum, Roy Joe Anderson and Larry King, brought the number of squadsmen to 51.

USHERS WIN FROM ADLER TEN AGAIN

City League Champions Blanked And St. Matthew's Wins By 7-0 Score

Playing on a soggy field and in rain for more than half the game, the St. Matthew's Ushers, Twilight softball league champs, blanked Saul Adler Garage, City league champions, 7 to 0, yesterday for their second straight win in the Monroe city softball championship series.

The two teams are scheduled to clash again this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at Y's park in the third game of the series, and should the Ushers win they will be crowned city champions. A victory by the Garagemen would stretch the series to four games and possibly five, provided Adler can win the next two.

The game went scoreless until the fourth frame when A. Fontana hit a single into right field and scored when the wet ball was thrown wild to second by Martin.

The Ushers came through with four more runs in the sixth on an error, singles by Lasuzo, A. Fontana and S. Inzina, and doubles by Jacola and Zagone. A double by D. Inzina, an error on Lasuzzo's grounder and a single by Jacola added two more St. Matthew's runs in the seventh.

The Garagemen were held to four hits by Collie Garner, ace of the Ushers' staff. Becton singled in the first, Roddy and Hamilton singled in the second and Wilkerson singled in the fifth for the losers' only safeties.

Carroll Boyce, Adler flinger, held the Ushers to three hits up until the sixth. St. Matthew's totaled six hits in the last two frames.

MISSIONS STOP CATS

FORT WORTH, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Howard Mills' steady pitching ended the Fort Worth Cats' ten-game winning streak here Thursday night, as the San Antonio Missions took the series opener by 4 to 2. Mills scattered seven hits over the route, the same number granted by his southpaw rival, Clyde Smoll.

Art Rhein hit a home run in the first inning, scoring Scharein.

INDIANS BEAT BUCS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Oklahoma City cinched the leadership of the Texas league for straight season play Thursday night by defeating Galveston 4 to 2.

Jack Brillheart, veteran Indian ace, had the honor of leading the Tribe to its season leadership and a $1,200 prize that goes with it. A Shaughnessy playoff will follow the regular season play. Brillheart held the Bucs scoreless until the seventh inning.

The Tribe rolled up four in the fifth inning, five singles and an error figuring in the scoring.

Barnes pitched for Galveston.

STEERS TRIM SHIPPERS

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Young Al Baker turned in a twinkling five-hit pitching performance for the Dallas Steers here Thursday night and the locals cracked down on Beaumont's Exporters for a 4 to 1 victory in their series opener. Baker had the Shippers under perfect control after the first frame, when the lone Beaumont tally was registered.

DETROIT TEAM WINS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A final inning rally won the boys' world softball championship Thursday for a team from Detroit, Mich. Trailing 6 to 5 behind Topeka, Kas., in the seventh inning, Detroit rallied to win 7 to 6. The Michigan team worked its way into the finals by defeating Clearwater, Fla., and Big Springs, Tex. Topeka turned back New Orleans, La.

Great Deal Of Firing Done But Very Little Is Accomplished

By Bill Boni

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—There was a great deal of firing Thursday on the courts of the West Side Tennis club as the Men's and Women's National Singles championships got under their cumbersome way. But little of it was more than target practice.

Twenty of the forty-eight seeded players in both divisions saw action Thursday afternoon. When play ended only one, Ross Wilson, of Canada, had been eliminated.

Although Don Budge, the California red-head who is the No. 1 domestic ranking star, will not swing a racquet until Friday, five of his companions in the U. S. list advanced to second-round brackets with a total loss of two sets. Bobby Riggs, Los Angeles youngster seeded No. 2; Frankie Parker, Davis Cup mate of Budge from Milwaukee, Wis., seeded No. 3; Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, No. 4, and John McDiarmid of Princeton, N. J., and Johnny Van Ryn of Austin, Tex., ranked seventh and eighth, all won their first tests.

Like Budge, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, his chief rival, drew a first-round bye. But the German's countryman, Henner Henkel, led a contingent of foreigners that included the three Japanese, Jiro Yamagishi, Fumituru Nakano, and Hideo Nishimura, and Charles Edgar Hare and Clarence M. Jones of England, into their second round brackets.

Pacing the women survivors was Alice Marble, the stylish San Francisco blonde who opened defense of the title she won last year from Helen Jacobs with a 6-3, 7-5 conquest of pretty, sun-tanned Jacqueline Horner of France.

Joining her were Mrs. Marjorie Gladman van Ryn, ranked fourth; Dorothy May Bundy, No. 6, and Carolin Babcock, No. 7. Anita Lizana, chunky Chilean who is No. 2 on the foreign seeded list and the champion's likely semi-final rival, was accompanied in straight-set victories by Germany's Marie Luise Horn, seeded fourth; and Freda James and Margot Lumb, English Wightman Cup stars who fill the last two places on the foreign ranking list.

Only three seeded men, McDiarmid, Van Ryn and Jones, were carried into extra sets.

Of the three other Americans, Parker's victory was the most decisive as he waded through William Gillespie of Atlanta, Ga., with the loss of only three games. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-0.

Riggs and Grant had a bit more difficulty. The coast youngster, who is in the same half of the draw with von Cramm, was carried to deuce in the sets of his 7-5, 6-1, 9-7 conquest of Billy McGehee of New Orleans, while Grant found a fellow-scrambler in Murray D. Dr.loford, a young and sturdy Englishman who took him to 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

Henkel and Yamagishi, who follow von Cramm in the foreign ranking list, were impressive. The 21-year-old German ripped through the first and third sets of his match with Russell Bobbitt, a youngster from Atlanta, with a loss of only one game, and was carried to 7-5 in the second stanza only because he elected to dispense with his fierce first serve until his rival was leading at 5-3.

Van Ryn struck a real tartar in George Dunn, a youngster just a year out of the University of Pennsylvania. Dunn won the first set and carried the Davis Cup doubles veteran to 8-6 in the next two before finally going out at 5-7, 8-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Wilson, ranked second in Canada, dropped a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 decision to Merrimon Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., for the Lone break in the seeded ranks.

The only other match that had even the semblance of an upset was the victory of Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., over Gregory Mangin, former National Indoor champion from New York. Mangin, ranked fifth in the nation last year as compared to Harris' No. 8, nevertheless didn't create any great disturbance as he was eliminated, 6-0, 6-1, 1-6, 2-6, 6-0.

EVANGELINE LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

The Lake Charles Skippers, who barely slipped into the Evangeline league playoff by winding up the regular season in fourth place, stood on top of the playoff heap Thursday night with a single victory and no defeats.

The Skippers turned back Lafayette's Sox, league champions, 5 to 1 behind the four-hit twirling of Leon "Lefty" Scherer. He walked only one man and struck out seven. The lone Lafayette run was unearned. Lake Charles banged the offerings of Jess Fatherree for ten safeties.

Opelousas pulled up on even terms with Rayne in the other half of the playoff, clipping the Rice Birds 3 to 2 by pushing across the winning run in the last frame. Margavio had the edge over Parker in a tight hurling duel, giving up only five blows.

Rayne won the opening game Wednesday night. The initial encounter between Lafayette and Lake Charles was rained out. The teams will play the second game Saturday.

El Dorado Beats Giants In Playoff Opener, 4-1

Stefurak Holds Greenwood As Mates Pound Carpenter; Rain At Pine Bluff

EL DORADO, Ark., Sept. 2.—(Special)—While Walter Stefurak held Greenwood to five hits, the El Dorado Lions hopped on Ken Carpenter for eight safeties and a 4 to 1 victory in the first game of the Shaughnessy playoff for the Cotton States league championship here Thursday night. The Pine Bluff-Greenville game was rained out.

The Little Giants, apparently suffering from a bad case of the jitters, made five errors and those miscues figured in the Lions' scoring. In fact, the score would have been much closer if Greenwood had played tighter ball and Carpenter was the victim of his mates' loose play.

Stefurak, however, pitched a winning brand of ball all the way. He held Greenwood scoreless until the eighth inning, when Tony Rodriguez, Greenwood shortstop who made three errors, hit a home run for the Little Giants' only tally. Stefurak struck out eight of Frank Brizill's men but he walked six. Carpenter fanned six and walked but three.

The Lions broke the ice and scored two runs in the fourth inning when Tony Masucci hit a home run with Chozen on base. Chozen, the league's leading hitter, was held hitless but reached first on an error. Those two runs were enough to win the ball game, but the Lions added two more in the eighth on timely bingles by Masucci, the Lions' batting hero, and Bohl.

Masucci, Bohl and Stefurak each got two hits to account for six of the Lions' safeties. Baker hit safely twice for Greenwood.

The second game of the series will be played Friday night with Clint Raper for El Dorado and John Hubbell for Greenwood the probable hurlers.

New York Stretches Margin To Full Game As Cubs Bow To Brooklyn, 4-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Those galloping Giants pulled a full game in front of the National league pack Thursday by outlasting the St. Louis Cardinals for a 5 to 4 ten-inning victory.

Given slugging help from an unexpected source when young Johnny McCarthy, usually a mild man at the plate, belted two homers, the Giants came from behind three times to win out.

The victory, seventh in their last eight games, boosted their pace-setting lead since the Cubs dropped their start in Brooklyn.

Although they clubbed Si Johnson and Bob Weiland, who broke into the game in the tenth, for 16 hits, while the Cards collected only eight from Harry Gumbert, Al Smith and Dick Coffman, poor fielding offset their clouting edge.

The Cards took a one-run lead in the first half of the tenth and appeared to have the game sewed up, but Mel Ott tied it up with his 30th homer, and then Hank Leiber, Harry Danning and Burgess Whitehead singled the winning run across.

The Cards not only lost the game, but their first baseman as well. One of Gumbert's slants felled Johnny Mize in the sixth and he was carried off the field on a stretcher. Although he was not believed seriously hurt, he was taken to a hospital for an x-ray examination.

DODGERS WIN IN 11TH

BROOKLYN, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Dodgers kept the Chicago Cubs in second place in the National league pennant sweepstakes again Thursday by outlasting their rivals for a 4 to 3 decision in 11 innings.

They had to come from behind a 3-1 disadvantage to do it, but they accomplished it with a two-run score-tying splurge in the eighth, during which the collapsible Cub infield committed a costly error, and then won out in the second extra frame. Max Butcher, big Dodger pitcher, who took over the mound assignment in the tenth after Luke Hamlin and Jim Lindsey had given up, won his own game with a single that sent the winning run across the plate.

Bill Lee went the route for the Cubs, and, after giving up a run in the first inning, did all right until Phil Cavarretta's error started the Dodgers on their two-run rally in the eighth. A double by Jimmy Bucher and a single by Buddy Hassett sent the two runs in, after Cavarretta gave Johnny Cooney a lift on his fumble.

JONESVILLE LIONS TAKE TWO TILTS FROM VIDALIA

JONESVILLE, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The Jonesville Lions ran their winning streak to seventeen straight Sunday when they took both games of a double header from the Vidalia Tigers.

In the first game the Lions were laboring to come from behind a four run lead until the fifth inning when they turned loose with a barrage of base hits which netted four runs off as many hits. In the sixth inning, Priester, Vidalia catcher, hit a homer with a mate on to give the invaders a two run lead, the Lions came back with a pair of singles and two doubles to net three runs which made the count 7-6 which was the outcome of both games.

In the second game, Lefty Kenda, portsider from Natchez, limited the Lions to two hits until he weakened in the fourth and the Lions pushed over three runs. The Tigers came back with four runs to take the lead again. J. Holmes, who went the route for the Lions in the first game, connected with a looping double which bounced off center field fence to tie the score. With runners on first and second in the sixth inning, Neely Swayze connected with one of the few Lion singles to push over two runs for the lead which the Lions kept throughout the balance of the game.

CAMPBELL AGAIN BREAKS WORLD MOTORBOAT MARK

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Sept. 2—(AP)—Picking up where he left off yesterday, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, boosted the world's motorboat record to 129.4164 miles per hour on Lake Maggiore Thursday.

Finding water conditions favorable Thursday morning, the British sportsman, holder of the world's land speed mark of 301.13 miles per hour, sent his single-engined unlimited hydroplane, Bluebird, twice over the measured course to crack the motorboat record he had set Wednesday by a comfortable margin.

Young Indian Hurler In Rare Form To Turn Back 'Murderers' Row'

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Bob Feller and his smokeball made the New York Yankees "holler uncle" Thursday.

The Cleveland youngster fanned a dozen members of the vaunted murderers' row, held them hitless until the fifth, blanked them until the eighth, and beat them 4 to 2 with five hits.

Only Joe Dimaggio's 39th homer in the eighth, followed by consecutive doubles by Bill Dickey and George Selkirk, who played his first full game since July 2, saved the Yankees from a shutout.

The Indians sewed the game up by scoring three runs through the first six innings off Monte Pearson. Moose Solters gave them an unnecessary run with a homer off Ivy Paul Andrews in the eighth.

Feller got Lou Gehrig three times on strikes, Don Heffner, Pearson, and Frank Crosetti twice each, and Red Rolfe, Myril Hoag and Pinchhitter Tom Henrich once each.

WHITE SOX WIN TWO

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox, making their last appearance of the season at Comiskey park Thursday, lost both ends of a double header to the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2, and 10 to 8.

Thornton Lee won the opener by holding the Red Sox to four hits while his mates scored all four of their runs by homers, two by Boze Berger and one each by Mike Kreevich and Dixie Walker. The Chicago team made only eight hits, however, off Johnny Marcum and Joe Gonzales.

The nightcap was a slugfest with the White Sox pounding four Boston pitchers for sixteen hits ahd the Red Sox amassing 14 of their own, including Joe Cronin's fifteenth four bagger of the year.

FIVE NEW MEN REPORT FOR L. S. U. GRID WORK

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Five new men reporting Thursday for the second day of Louisiana State university football practice found things pretty easy.

Both morning and afternoon sessions were devoted to looking pretty for newsreel cameramen. The squad managed to get in a few minutes of calisthentics.

Head Coach Bernie Moore, one of the coaches who tutored the all-stars to victory Wednesday night over the Green Bay Packers in Chicago, was expected in Friday morning to take charge of practice.

The new men reporting, Ed Miller, George Kalil, Joe Landrum, Roy Joe Anderson and Larry King, brought the number of squadsmen to 51.

USHERS WIN FROM ADLER TEN AGAIN

City League Champions Blanked And St. Matthew's Wins By 7-0 Score

Playing on a soggy field and in rain for more than half the game, the St. Matthew's Ushers, Twilight softball league champs, blanked Saul Adler Garage, City league champions, 7 to 0, yesterday for their second straight win in the Monroe city softball championship series.

The two teams are scheduled to clash again this afternoon at 5:15 o'clock at Y's park in the third game of the series, and should the Ushers win they will be crowned city champions. A victory by the Garagemen would stretch the series to four games and possibly five, provided Adler can win the next two.

The game went scoreless until the fourth frame when A. Fontana hit a single into right field and scored when the wet ball was thrown wild to second by Martin.

The Ushers came through with four more runs in the sixth on an error, singles by Lasuzo, A. Fontana and S. Inzina, and doubles by Jacola and Zagone. A double by D. Inzina, an error on Lasuzzo's grounder and a single by Jacola added two more St. Matthew's runs in the seventh.

The Garagemen were held to four hits by Collie Garner, ace of the Ushers' staff. Becton singled in the first, Roddy and Hamilton singled in the second and Wilkerson singled in the fifth for the losers' only safeties.

Carroll Boyce, Adler flinger, held the Ushers to three hits up until the sixth. St. Matthew's totaled six hits in the last two frames.

INDIANS BEAT BUCS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Oklahoma City cinched the leadership of the Texas league for straight season play Thursday night by defeating Galveston 4 to 2.

Jack Brillheart, veteran Indian ace, had the honor of leading the Tribe to its season leadership and a $1,200 prize that goes with it. A Shaughnessy playoff will follow the regular season play. Brillheart held the Bucs scoreless until the seventh inning.

The Tribe rolled up four in the fifth inning, five singles and an error figuring in the scoring.

Barnes pitched for Galveston.

Score by innings:
Galveston .....000 000 110—2 8 1
Oklahoma City ....000 040 00x—4 10 0

Barnes and Susce; Brillheart and Friar.

STEERS TRIM SHIPPERS

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Young Al Baker turned in a twinkling five-hit pitching performance for the Dallas Steers here Thursday night and the locals cracked down on Beaumont's Exporters for a 4 to 1 victory in their series opener. Baker had the Shippers under perfect control after the first frame, when the lone Beaumont tally was registered.

Beaumont .....100 000 000—1 5 3
Dallas .....200 200 00x—4 10 0

OILERS DRUB BUFFS

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Banging out 14 hits off two Houston pitchers, the Tulsa Oilers continued their victory streak tonight, drubbing the Buffs 9 to 1.

The invaders scored their only run in the first inning. The Oilers tied it in the same frame and added to their total each inning through the fourth.

Tulsa .....141 300 00x—9 14 0

Stevenson, Quante and Clarke; Stein and McCaskill.

DETROIT TEAM WINS

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—A final inning rally won the boys' world softball championship Thursday for a team from Detroit, Mich. Trailing 6 to 5 behind Topeka, Kas., in the seventh inning, Detroit rallied to win 7 to 6. The Michigan team worked its way into the finals by defeating Clearwater, Fla., and Big Springs, Tex. Topeka turned back New Orleans, La.

Great Deal Of Firing Done But Very Little Is Accomplished

By Bill Boni

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—There was a great deal of firing Thursday on the courts of the West Side Tennis club as the Men's and Women's National Singles championships got under their cumbersome way. But little of it was more than target practice.

Twenty of the forty-eight seeded players in both divisions saw action Thursday afternoon. When play ended only one, Ross Wilson, of Canada, had been eliminated.

Although Don Budge, the California red-head who is the No. 1 domestic ranking star, will not swing a racquet until Friday, five of his companions in the U. S. list advanced to second-round brackets with a total loss of two sets. Bobby Riggs, Los Angeles youngster seeded No. 2; Frankie Parker, Davis Cup mate of Budge from Milwaukee, Wis., seeded No. 3; Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, No. 4, and John McDiarmid of Princeton, N. J., and Johnny Van Ryn of Austin, Tex., ranked seventh and eighth, all won their first tests.

Like Budge, Baron Gottfried von Cramm, his chief rival, drew a first-round bye. But the German's countryman, Henner Henkel, led a contingent of foreigners that included the three Japanese, Jiro Yamagishi, Fumituru Nakano, and Hideo Nishimura, and Charles Edgar Hare and Clarence M. Jones of England, into their second round brackets.

Pacing the women survivors was Alice Marble, the stylish San Francisco blonde who opened defense of the title she won last year from Helen Jacobs with a 6-3, 7-5 conquest of pretty, sun-tanned Jacqueline Horner of France.

Joining her were Mrs. Marjorie Gladman van Ryn, ranked fourth; Dorothy May Bundy, No. 6, and Carolin Babcock, No. 7. Anita Lizana, chunky Chilean who is No. 2 on the foreign seeded list and the champion's likely semi-final rival, was accompanied in straight-set victories by Germany's Marie Luise Horn, seeded fourth; and Freda James and Margot Lumb, English Wightman Cup stars who fill the last two places on the foreign ranking list.

Only three seeded men, McDiarmid, Van Ryn and Jones, were carried into extra sets.

Of the three other Americans, Parker's victory was the most decisive as he waded through William Gillespie of Atlanta, Ga., with the loss of only three games. The scores were 6-2, 6-1, 6-0.

Riggs and Grant had a bit more difficulty. The coal youngster, who is in the same half of the draw with von Cramm, was carried to deuce in the sets of his 7-5, 6-1, 9-7 conquest of Billy McGehee of New Orleans, while Grant found a fellow-scrambler in Murray D. Deloford, a young and sturdy Englishman who took him to 6-4, 9-7, 6-3.

Henkel and Yamagishi, who follow von Cramm in the foreign ranking list, were impressive. The 21-year-old German ripped through the first and third sets of his match with Russell Bobbitt, a youngster from Atlanta, with a loss of only one game, and was carried to 7-5 in the second stanza only because he elected to dispense with his fierce first serve until his rival was leading at 5-3.

Van Ryn struck a real tartar in George Dunn, a youngster just a year out of the University of Pennsylvania. Dunn won the first set and carried the Davis Cup doubles veteran to 8-6 in the next two before finally going out at 5-7, 8-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Wilson, ranked second in Canada, dropped a 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 decision to Merrimon Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., for the Lone break in the seeded ranks.

The only other match that had even the semblance of an upset was the victory of Charles Harris of West Palm Beach, Fla., over Gregory Mangin, former National Indoor champion from New York. Mangin, ranked fifth in the nation last year as compared to Harris' No. 8, nevertheless didn't create any great disturbance as he was eliminated, 6-0, 6-1, 1-6, 2-6, 6-0.

EVANGELINE LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

The Lake Charles Skippers, who barely slipped into the Evangeline league playoff by winding up the regular season in fourth place, stood on top of the playoff heap Thursday night with a single victory and no defeats.

The Skippers turned back Lafayette's Sox, league champions, 5 to 1 behind the four-hit twirling of Leon "Lefty" Scherer. He walked only one man and struck out seven. The lone Lafayette run was unearned. Lake Charles banged the offerings of Jess Fatherree for ten safeties.

Opelousas pulled up on even terms with Rayne in the other half of the playoff, clipping the Rice Birds 3 to 2 by pushing across the winning run in the last frame. Margavio had the edge over Parker in a tight hurling duel, giving up only five blows.

Rayne won the opening game Wednesday night. The initial encounter between Lafayette and Lake Charles was rained out. The teams will play the second game Saturday.

Scores by innings:
Rayne .....000 002 000—2 5 1
Opelousas .....010 010 001—3 10 0

El Dorado Beats Giants In Playoff Opener, 4-1

Stefurak Holds Greenwood As Mates Pound Carpenter; Rain At Pine Bluff

EL DORADO, Ark., Sept. 2.—(Special)—While Walter Stefurak held Greenwood to five hits, the El Dorado Lions hopped on Ken Carpenter for eight safeties and a 4 to 1 victory in the first game of the Shaughnessy playoff for the Cotton States league championship here Thursday night. The Pine Bluff-Greenville game was rained out.

The Little Giants, apparently suffering from a bad case of the jitters, made five errors and those miscues figured in the Lions' scoring. In fact, the score would have been much closer if Greenwood had played tighter ball and Carpenter was the victim of his mates' loose play.

Stefurak, however, pitched a winning brand of ball all the way. He held Greenwood scoreless until the eighth inning, when Tony Rodriguez, Greenwood shortstop who made three errors, hit a home run for the Little Giants' only tally. Stefurak struck out eight of Frank Brizill's men but he walked six. Carpenter fanned six and walked but three.

The Lions broke the ice and scored two runs in the fourth inning when Tony Masucci hit a home run with Chozen on base. Chozen, the league's leading hitter, was held hitless but reached first on an error. Those two runs were enough to win the ball game, but the Lions added two more in the eighth on timely bingles by Masucci, the Lions' batting hero, and Bohl.

Masucci, Bohl and Stefurak each got two hits to account for six of the Lions' safeties. Baker hit safely twice for Greenwood.

The second game of the series will be played Friday night with Clint Raper for El Dorado and John Hubbell for Greenwood the probable hurlers.

JUDGES, BUCKS RAINED OUT

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Sept. 2.—(Special)—A steady rain fell all day here Thursday and the first game of the Cotton States league championship playoff between Pine Bluff's league-leading Judges and the Greenville Buckshots was postponed. The game was scheduled to open the series Thursday night.

As a result of the postponement, the two teams will open their series Friday night, weather permitting, and play again Saturday night before moving on to Greenville Sunday for the first of three games in the Mississippi town. Saturday originally was an open date.

Manager L. L. "Cowboy" Jones said "Wimpy" Willis, veteran southpaw, probably would draw the opening assignment for the Judges. Manager Lena Styles was undecided on his first pitcher but indicated that "Chick" Galeria, another seasoned lefthander, or Paul Paynick, righthander, would get the nod Friday night.

The Greenville club finished in fourth place in the regular season.

LESLIE DEFEATED IN WESTERN GOLF

Bill Holt Trims Defending Champ In 20 Holes; Haas Beats Lynch On 22nd

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Scoring a major upset, bill holt of Syracuse, N. Y., defeated defending champion Paul Leslie of Louisiana State university, one up on the 20th hole, in the second round of the western amateur championship at Los Angeles Country club Thursday.

"Trailer Bill"—Holt came to the coast in a cabin motor trailer—squared the match with newlywed Leslie on the 17th with a birdie 3.

Young Roger Kelly of Los Angeles blasted out Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, 4 and 3.

The genial veteran, who won his first western title before 21-year-old Roger was born, wilted before the slamming California State champion and was five down at the end of the ninth. Kelly collected three birdies going out and breezed through the next six to end the match on the 15th.

Medalist Charlie Yates, the exramblin' wreck from Georgia Tech, edged out Jim Black of St. Louis, one up, when Black missed a 14-putt on the 18th.

Slim Jim McHale of San Gabriel, Calif., eliminated husky Don Schumacher of Dallas, 4 and 3, and will meet Kelly Friday. Chuck Kocsis of Detroit downed Hunter Hicks of Chicago, 3 and 2.

Ray Billows, runnerup in the national amateur, gave Young Frank Taylor, Jr., of nearby Pomona, a golf lesson, winning easily, 4 and 2, while Don Erickson of Los Angeles, runnerup in the recent national public links meet, won from Dick Ashley of Kenosha, Wis., 3 and 2.

In an upset, Robert Thompson, San Francisco, knocked over Frank Strafaci of New York, 3 and 1.

The day's longest match found Freddie Haas, Jr., Louisiana State's national intercollegiate champion, downing Joe Lynch of Boston, former New England titlist, one up on the 22nd hole.

Haas sank an 18-foot chip shot to halve the 20th and they split the 21st with birdie 4's—Haas' approach hit a boundary sign to remain in just back of the green.

EAST TEXAS LEAGUE

MARSHALL WINS AGAIN

MARSHALL, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Marshall needed but one victory to cinch a place in the East Texas league final playoff after defeating Tyler 6-3 Thursday night. It was the Tigers' third consecutive win.

Before an overflow crowd of 2,000, the veteran hurler, Tex Nugent, scattered 11 blows, three coming in a ninth-inning rally that scored two runs. Marshall bunched seven of nine hits for its six.

Hill, Tyler centerfielder, was knocked unconscious but not seriously hurt in the eighth when he backed into the fence trying to catch Peters' double. Score by innings:

OILERS WHIP JAX

HENDERSON, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Henderson Oilers won their first East Texas league playoff game here Thursday night, defeating Jacksonville 8-3 behind Chunky Roy Weisenborn's classy pitching.

Weisenborn turned back the Jax with five hits. A home run by Robello and Parson's triple brought in the trio of Jax tallies to rob him of a shutout.

The Oilers hammered a pair of Jax southpaws, Totec and Thomas, for 10 timely bingles. Catcher house's homer with two on was the most potent blow of the game. Score by innings:

TIGERS WIN IN 10TH

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg put a home run over the scoreboard in the tenth inning of the game with the Washintgon Senators here Thursday to give Detroit a 9 to 8 victory.

It was the second homer of the day for the big first baseman and the 32nd for the year. Billy Rogell Tiger shortstop, also got a home run.

Fred Sington, Washington outfielder, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Slicker Coffman in the eighth and dropped to the ground. John Mihalic was sent in to run for him. Buddy Myer took his place in the field and Mihalic played second.

A'S BEAT BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Although outhit, 12 to 7, the Philadelphia Athletics retained their slim hold on seventh place in the American league race by defeating the Browns Thursday, 5 to 3. A defeat for the A's would have pushed them back into the cellar.

Bill Werber doubled with the bases loaded in the fifth inning to drive in three runs to assure victory for the Athletics. Frank Hayes hit a home run off Jim Walkup in the second. The win gave the A's the series, three games to one.

'DUTCH' CLARK TO GET PUBLICITY HE MERITED LONG AGO

By Paul Mickelson

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dick Richards, president of the Detroit Lions of the national professional football league, is a man who wants justice done to a real pigskin hero. So he's hired Steve Hannagan of sports build-up renown to tell the sleepy folks about Earl (Dutch) Clark, playing manager of his ball club.

Since the Associated Press first "discovered" the Dutchman at Colorado college and surprised the rest of the all-star pickers by placing him on the 1928 all-America team, he has made us blush with great pride. When anybody calls us names for picking wrong, we point to Clark and go to lunch. For Dutch, it is generally agreed among coaches and players, is the greatest and most versatile star in the history of tough pro football.

But Prexy Richards, who hired Dutch to succeed Potsy Clark as head Lion this year, is right. The homesick young man from the Rocky mountain slopes, whose racial strains are English and Danish with no trace of Dutch, never has received the credit he deserved in public prints. The time has come to get a full-time working Boswell for a great player.

Potsy Clark (no relation) calls Dutch the greatest back he ever saw—the last of the great drop-kickers. Dutch can punt a ball into a barrel within the 50-yard line and has done it. Bronko Nagurski calls him the most difficult man to tackle he's ever seen with speed, change of pace and elusive hip-shift.

But for incurable homesickness, Dutch probably would have had all the experts on his bandwagon in his college days and wouldn't need a press agent today. He had invitations to play for Northwestern and Michigan and even went to Northwestern, only to pack his duds and leave in the middle of the night because he was too homesick for Colorado. He enrolled at Colorado college, wore the numeral "7" during his entire college career and the numeral now hangs in the college's trophy room. No Colorado college player ever will be allowed to use "7" on his jersey.

PIRATES RALLY TO WIN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Phillies rallied in the eighth inning and apparently scored enough runs to win, but the Pittsburgh Pirates stole their thunder in the ninth inning, tallied five times and won the final game of a National league series here Thursday, 11-7.

Paul Waner and Young connected for homers, but Jensen was the batting hero with five hits in five times to the plate, including two doubles and a triple.

Harper And Mansur Win Stadium Wrestling Bouts

Davis Unable To Continue After First Fall In Main Event Of Card

Paul Harper and George Mansur were the winners last night in a disappointing wrestling program at Twin City stadium. Harper defeated Karl Davis in the main event when Davis was unable to return after the first fall and Mansur proved too much for Ray Villmar in the semi-final match, which went three falls.

Davis who "guaranteed" that he would wrestle according to the rules, discarded his clean tactics after ten minutes of the match and his inability to stick to his word cost him the decision. After taking lots of punishment at Davis' hands for two minutes, Harper got rough himself. He sank his knee below Davis' belt and the tough Ohio star suffered a groin injury that prevented his return. The commission physician was not present to examine Davis but it was apparent that he was at least painfully hurt.

For ten minutes it was a good match. First one and then the other clamped on holds but each broke quickly. There was a lots of fast milling and the fans settled back to see a scientific encounter between two grapplers who know all the holds. The customers applauded frequently the efforts of the clever performers, particularly Harper's ability to break holds obtained by the Ohio ace.

Suddenly, after 10 minutes of going, Davis planted his knee below Harper's belt. He followed this piece of rules infraction with a sock to the jaw. He let go another right below Harper's heart, and the Texan almost fell to the mat. After absorbing several more punches, Harper held on long enough to regain his wind and then, as Davis rushed him, he lifted his knee and caught Davis below the belt. Karl dropped like a rock and it was a simple matter for Harper to cover him to win the fall in 13 minutes.

Referee Bob Dartez worked over Davis for a couple of minutes and then assisted him from the ring. Davis sank to a bench outside his dressing room and remained there until the bell rang for the second fall. Harper entered the ring, and after waiting five minutes for Davis to return, Referee Dartez hopped through the ropes and raised Paul's hand in token of victory.

The semi-final match produced little action. Mansur, the Oklahoma Syrian, was too big for Ray Villmar, the Missouri youngster. Mansur took the first fall in 12 minutes with a side head lock after roughing up Villmar considerably. Villmar managed to salvage the second act in nine minutes with a flying body scissors but Mansur made short work of him in the third heat, winning in two minutes by hitting Villmar in the stomach, thus doubling him up, and knocking him to the mat with another blow so thrt he could cover the light Missourian in quick time.

Gene King refereed the first match and Tom Adams kept time and made the announcements.

PACKAGED FUEL BUSINESS BOOMS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The packaged fuel industry has developed into a healthy infant.

The bureau of mines says sale of the fuel—which may be stacked in the living room coal—began in a small way in 1932 and last year reached 66,427 net tons.

Packaged fuel is produced at retail yards, usually from what is left over from handling the coarser sizes of coal.

MANY ATTEND WILLARD SHOW

Fully a thousand people Wednesday night crowded into the tent at the Missouri-Pacific lot at the corner of South Third and Ouachita avenue, where Willard the Wizard is giving his nightly performances of prestidigitation which equal any shows of the same kind in metropolitan centers. The show is sponsored by the Missouri-Pacific Booster club and the local post of the American Legion.

All who have seen Willard the Wizard agrees that he knows all the tricks but nobody knows the answers. The show, which lasts an hour and a half, is a performance replete with entertainment and good, clean fun from beginning to end.

Besides the usual legerdemain and sleight-of-hand tricks, all of which Willard the Wizard performed with consummate skill, the show Wednesday night included the famous "seance" act which mystified all who saw the results. Mrs. Willard acted as the medium and she was securely fastened with pieces of cloth tied about the wrists and neck and placed in a cabinet lined with velvet. During the act, hands materialized, cymbals were played, bells tinkled and other phenomena materialized, all to the great amusement and mystification of the audience.

The antics of four local men who were persuaded to go on the stage and submit themselves to being hypnotized, caused a storm of laughter.

Willard the Wizard Thursday announced a complete change of program for Friday night's performance which starts at 8:15 o'clock, including the act in which a woman is shot from a cannon.

This performance will be featured by his internationally famous marionettes show, said to be the finest in the country, in which puppets three feet in height, dressed in many costumes and made to represent famous characters, are put through their paces by the expert manipulation of Willard.

A feature of Saturday night's performance is the challenge issued by Willard the Wizard to the James Machine works in which he invites that company to place him in a steel tank which will then be electrically welded and from which he promises to make a mysterious escape. The tank which Willard the Wizard intends to use in this act, is on display in front of Liggett's drug store on DeSiard.

SOUTH BOOSTS SWINE OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The south has stolen a march on the corn belt in hog production, agriculture department reports disclosed today.

Officials said the south has increased or continued normal swine production in the past several years when the drouth-hit middle-western states and most of the country have reduced their output.

Their records showed, for example, a decline of about 763,000 head in national hog numbers in 1936—from 42,837,000 to 42,774,000—and an increase in the south of around 1,000,000 head—from 11,907,000 to 12,978,000.

The June pig crop report gave further evidence of the upward trend in the south.

Swine experts attributed the southern advance in part to an awakened attention to "home use" production—raising products for needs of the farm family.

An immediate effect, they said, has been the establishment of more large packing plants in that section and the reopening of plants which had been closed in years of lower production. This, in turn, has afforded better marketing facilities for any surplus.

The authorities listed as other favorable factors the relatively high price of pork compared to the price of cotton, stimulation of interest in stock raising by colleges and extension services, and interest in more diversified farming.

LESLIE DEFEATED IN WESTERN GOLF

Bill Holt Trims Defending Champ In 20 Holes; Haas Beats Lynch On 22nd

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Scoring a major upset, bill holt of Syracuse, N. Y., defeated defending champion Paul Leslie of Louisiana State university, one up on the 20th hole, in the second round of the western amateur championship at Los Angeles Country club Thursday.

"Trailer Bill"—Holt came to the coast in a cabin motor trailer—squared the match with newlywed Leslie on the 17th with a birdie 3.

Young Roger Kelly of Los Angeles blasted out Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, 4 and 3.

The genial veteran, who won his first western title before 21-year-old Roger was born, wilted before the slamming California State champion and was five down at the end of the ninth. Kelly collected three birdies going out and breezed through the next six to end the match on the 15th.

Medalist Charlie Yates, the ex-ramblin' wreck from Georgia Tech, edged out Jim Black of St. Louis, one up, when Black missed a 14-putt on the 18th.

Slim Jim McHale of San Gabriel, Calif., eliminated husky Don Schumacher of Dallas, 4 and 3, and will meet Kelly Friday. Chuck Kocsis of Detroit downed Hunter Hicks of Chicago, 3 and 2.

Ray Billows, runnerup in the national amateur, gave Young Frank Taylor, Jr., of nearby Pomona, a golf lesson, winning easily, 4 and 2, while Don Erickson of Los Angeles, runner-up in the recent national public links meet, won from Dick Ashley of Kenosha, Wis., 3 and 2.

In an upset, Robert Thompson, San Francisco, knocked over Frank Strafaci of New York, 3 and 1.

The day's longest match found Freddie Haas, Jr., Louisiana State's national intercollegiate champion, downing Joe Lynch of Boston, former New England titlist, one up on the 22nd hole.

Haas sank an 18-foot chip shot to halve the 20th and they split the 21st with birdie 4's—Haas' approach hit a boundary sign to remain in just back of the green.

EAST TEXAS LEAGUE

MARSHALL WINS AGAIN

MARSHALL, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—Marshall needed but one victory to cinch a place in the East Texas league final playoff after defeating Tyler 6-3 Thursday night. It was the Tigers' third consecutive win.

Before an overflow crowd of 2,000, the veteran hurler, Tex Nugent, scattered 11 blows, three coming in a ninth-inning rally that scored two runs. Marshall bunched seven of nine hits for its six.

Hill, Tyler centerfielder, was knocked unconscious but not seriously hurt in the eighth when he backed into the fence trying to catch Peters' double. Score by innings:

OILERS WHIP JAX

HENDERSON, Tex., Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Henderson Oilers won their first East Texas league playoff game here Thursday night, defeating Jacksonville 8-3 behind Chunky Roy Weisenborn's classy pitching.

Weisenborn turned back the Jax with five hits. A home run by Robello and Parson's triple brought in the trio of Jax tallies to rob him of a shutout.

The Oilers hammered a pair of Jax southpaws, Totec and Thomas, for 10 timely bingles. Catcher house's homer with two on was the most potent blow of the game. Score by innings:

TIGERS WIN IN 10TH

DETROIT, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg put a home run over the scoreboard in the tenth inning of the game with the Washintgon Senators here Thursday to give Detroit a 9 to 8 victory.

It was the second homer of the day for the big first baseman and the 32nd for the year. Billy Rogell Tiger shortstop, also got a home run.

Fred Sington, Washington outfielder, was hit on the head by a ball pitched by Slicker Coffman in the eighth and dropped to the ground. John Mihalic was sent in to run for him. Buddy Myer took his place in the field and Mihalic played second.

A'S BEAT BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Although outhit, 12 to 7, the Philadelphia Athletics retained their slim hold on seventh place in the American league race by defeating the Browns Thursday, 5 to 3. A defeat for the A's would have pushed them back into the cellar.

Bill Werber doubled with the bases loaded in the fifth inning to drive in three runs to assure victory for the Athletics. Frank Hayes hit a home run off Jim Walkup in the second. The win gave the A's the series, three games to one.

'DUTCH' CLARK TO GET PUBLICITY HE MERITED LONG AGO

By Paul Mickelson

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Dick Richards, president of the Detroit Lions of the national professional football league, is a man who wants justice done to a real pigskin hero. So he's hired Steve Hannagan of sports build-up renown to tell the sleepy folks about Earl (Dutch) Clark, playing manager of his ball club.

Since the Associated Press first "discovered" the Dutchman at Colorado college and surprised the rest of the all-star pickers by placing him on the 1928 all-America team, he has made us blush with great pride. When anybody calls us names for picking wrong, we point to Clark and go to lunch. For Dutch, it is generally agreed among coaches and players, is the greatest and most versatile star in the history of tough pro football.

But Prexy Richards, who hired Dutch to succeed Potsy Clark as head Lion this year, is right. The homesick young man from the Rocky mountain slopes, whose racial strains are English and Danish with no trace of Dutch, never has received the credit he deserved in public prints. The time has come to get a full-time working Boswell for a great player.

Potsy Clark (no relation) calls Dutch the greatest back he ever saw—the last of the great drop-kickers. Dutch can punt a ball into a barrel within the 50-yard line and has done it. Bronko Nagurski calls him the most difficult man to tackle he's ever seen with speed, change of pace and elusive hip-shift.

But for incurable homesickness, Dutch probably would have had all the experts on his bandwagon in his college days and wouldn't need a press agent today. He had invitations to play for Northwestern and Michigan and even went to Northwestern, only to pack his duds and leave in the middle of the night because he was too homesick for Colorado. He enrolled at Colorado college, wore the numeral "7" during his entire college career and the numeral now hangs in the college's trophy room. No Colorado college player ever will be allowed to use "7" on his jersey.

ATLANTA, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Atlanta Crackers nicked the Knoxville Smokies for a 7-4 win here Thursday night.

Buster Chatham, hitting three-for-four, blasted out a single, triple and topped off with a homer in the eighth.

Knoxville jumped to a lead with a three-run rally in the third, but the Crackers came back in the same frame to tie. The Atlantans clinched the game with a pair of counters in both the seventh and eighth.

PIRATES RALLY TO WIN

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 2—(AP)—The Phillies rallied in the eighth inning and apparently scored enough runs to win, but the Pittsburgh Pirates stole their thunder in the ninth inning, tallied five times and won the final game of a National league series here Thursday, 11-7.

Paul Waner and Young connected for homers, but Jensen was the batting hero with five hits in five times to the plate, including two doubles and a triple.

So popular is boating and so restricted the anchorages along Long Island sound that many persons who have yacht club moorings pay to keep them although they have sold their boats. They may buy another boat and don't want to risk waiting in line for months to get another.

Harper And Mansur Win Stadium Wrestling Bouts

Davis Unable To Continue After First Fall In Main Event Of Card

Paul Harper and George Mansur were the winners last night in a disappointing wrestling program at Twin City stadium. Harper defeated Karl Davis in the main event when Davis was unable to return after the first fall and Mansur proved too much for Ray Villmar in the semi-final match, which went three falls.

Davis who "guaranteed" that he would wrestle according to the rules, discarded his clean tactics after ten minutes of the match and his inability to stick to his word cost him the decision. After taking lots of punishment at Davis' hands for two minutes, Harper got rough himself. He sank his knee below Davis' belt and the tough Ohio star suffered a groin injury that prevented his return. The commission physician was not present to examine Davis but it was apparent that he was at least painfully hurt.

For ten minutes it was a good match. First one and then the other clamped on holds but each broke quickly. There was plenty of fast milling and the fans settled back to see a scientific encounter between two grapplers who know all the holds. The customers applauded frequently the efforts of the clever performers, particularly Harper's ability to break holds obtained by the Ohio ace.

Suddenly, after 10 minutes of going, Davis planted his knee below Harper's belt. He followed this piece of rules infraction with a sock to the jaw. He let go another right below Harper's heart, and the Texan almost fell to the mat. After absorbing several more punches, Harper held on long enough to regain his wind and then, as Davis rushed him, he lifted his knee and caught Davis below the belt. Karl dropped like a rock and it was a simple matter for Harper to cover him to win the fall in 13 minutes.

Referee Bob Dartez worked over Davis for a couple of minutes and then assisted him from the ring. Davis sank to a bench outside his dressing room and remained there until the bell rang for the second fall. Harper entered the ring, and after waiting five minutes for Davis to return, Referee Dartez hopped through the ropes and raised Paul's hand in token of victory.

The semi-final match produced little action. Mansur, the Oklahoma Syrian, was too big for Ray Villmar, the Missouri youngster. Mansur took the first fall in 12 minutes with a side head lock after roughing up Villmar considerably. Villmar managed to salvage the second act in nine minutes with a flying body scissors but Mansur made short work of him in the third heat, winning in two minutes by hitting Villmar in the stomach, thus doubling him up, and knocking him to the mat with another blow so that he could cover the light Missourian in quick time.

Gene King refereed the first match and Tom Adams kept time and made the announcements.

PACKAGED FUEL BUSINESS BOOMS

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The packaged fuel industry has developed into a healthy infant.

The bureau of mines says sale of the fuel—which may be stacked in the living room closet—began in a small way in 1932 and last year reached 66,427 net tons.

Packaged fuel is produced at retail yards, usually from what is left over from handling the coarser sizes of coal.

MANY ATTEND WILLARD SHOW

Fully a thousand people Wednesday night crowded into the tent at the Missouri-Pacific lot at the corner of South Third and Ouachita avenue, where Willard the Wizard is giving his nightly performances of pre-stidigitation which equal any shows of the same kind in metropolitan centers. The show is sponsored by the Missouri-Pacific Booster club and the local post of the American Legion.

All who have seen Willard the Wizard agrees that he knows all the tricks but nobody knows the answers. The show, which lasts an hour and a half, is a performance replete with entertainment and good, clean fun from beginning to end.

Besides the usual legerdemain and sleight-of-hand tricks, all of which Willard the Wizard performed with consummate skill, the show Wednesday night included the famous "scance" act which mystified all who saw the results. Mrs. Willard acted as the medium and she was securely fastened with pieces of cloth tied about the wrists and neck and placed in a cabinet lined with velvet. During the act, hands materialized, cymbals were played, bells tinkled and other phenomena materialized, all to the great amusement and mystification of the audience.

The antics of four local men who were persuaded to go on the stage and submit themselves to being hypnotized, caused a storm of laughter.

Willard the Wizard Thursday announced a complete change of program for Friday night's performance which starts at 8:15 o'clock, including the act in which a woman is shot from a cannon.

This performance will be featured by his internationally famous marionettes show, said to be the finest in the country, in which puppets three feet in height, dressed in many costumes and made to represent famous characters, are put through their paces by the expert manipulation of Willard.

A feature of Saturday night's performance is the challenge issued by Willard the Wizard to the James Machine works in which he invites that company to place him in a steel tank which will then be electrically welded and from which he promises to make a mysterious escape. The tank which Willard the Wizard intends to use in this act, is on display in front of Liggett's drug store on DeSiard.

SOUTH BOOSTS SWINE OUTPUT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The south has stolen a march on the corn belt in hog production, agriculture department reports disclosed today.

Officials said the south has increased or continued normal swine production in the past several years when the drouth-hit middle-western states and most of the country have reduced their output.

Their records showed, for example, a decline of about 763,000 head in national hog numbers in 1936—from 42,837,000 to 42,774,000—and an increase in the south of around 1,000,000 head—from 11,907,000 to 12,978,000.

The June pig crop report gave further evidence of the upward trend in the south.

Swine experts attributed the southern advance in part to an awakened attention to "home use" production—raising products for needs of the farm family.

An immediate effect, they said, has been the establishment of more large packing plants in that section and the reopening of plants which had been closed in years of lower production. This, in turn, has afforded better marketing facilities for any surplus.

The authorities listed as other favorable factors the relatively high price of pork compared to the price of cotton, stimulation of interest in stock raising by colleges and extension services, and interest in more diversified farming.

REUNION PLANNED FOR GAAR FAMILY

DODSON, La., Sept. 2.—(Special)—The fourth annual reunion of the Gaar family will be held at the New Hope Methodist Protestant church next Sunday, according to an announcement made here by B. E. Gaar, secretary of the reunion. The program will include speaking, election of officers for the coming year, and a basket dinner at noon.

The Gaar family were pioneers in Winn parish, having moved to this section from Georgia in 1858.

HONORED ON RETIREMENT

The World's Latest Market News

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Cotton gained from 70 cents to 90 cents a bale here today on trade buying and covering induced by official reports of continued rain in the central and eastern sections of the belt.

October sold up to 9.24, Dec. to 9.31, March to 9.43, May to 9.52 and July to 9.54, or 14 to 18 points above the previous close.

Aside from the unfavorable weather report there was nothing in the day's developments to warrant activity on either side.

The approach of the government's second crop estimate on September 8 kept most speculative interests out of the market and trading was of a professional character only.

Foreign markets were better than due and aided the advance in early dealings, but textile centers continued quiet at easier prices.

Considerable realizing from the short side developed in the final trading and prices made new highs for the day.

The close was steady at the top and showed net advances of 22 to 25 points.

Cotton futures closed steady at net advances of 22 to 25 points.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 24 points up. Sales 6,266; low middling 7.93, middling 9.43; good middling 9.98; receipts 3,096; stocks 275,404.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 9.35 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.21 cents a pound.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Recoveries of $1 a bale from the lows of Wednesday were registered in cotton today as selling pressure let up and moderate covering and trade buying found contracts relatively scarce.

Unfavorable weather extending into the central south also influenced sentiment.

December sold up from 9.13 to 9.23 and was ruling at 9.21 in mid-afternoon, when the market was 15 to 17 points net higher.

The market rallied sharply in the late trading on active covering, and spot house buying, closing from 26 to 31 higher. Spot steady; middling 9.56.

Cotton futures closed firm, 26 to 31 higher.

Sheep 8,000, including 4,700 direct; spring lambs opening around steady with best time Wednesday; sheep about steady; scattered native ewes 3.00-4.00.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Stocks heavy; leaders continue decline. Bonds lower; U. S. loans retreat. Curb easy; early improvement lost. Foreign exchange soft; pound, franc down. Cotton steady; higher cables; unfavorable weather. Sugar firm; signing of sugar bill. Coffee lower; trade selling.

CHICAGO—Wheat firmer, broadening demand. Corn stronger. Cattle draggy except on choice beeves. The latter steady. Hogs steady to 10 lower, top 11.70.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The grain markets were listless at the start of trading today. Traders were apparently awaiting issuance of private crop reports at 10 a.m. Easiness of the Liverpool market was another discouraging factor.

Wheat opened 1-4 lower to 1-4 higher, September 1.03 7-8 to 1.04, December 1.05 3-4 to 1.06, and then showed a little strength. Corn started 1 3-8 lower to 1-8 higher, September 94 to 94 1-4, December 62 1-4 to 3-8, and later also showed some strength.

Wheat closed firm, 1 1-4-2 cents higher than yesterday's finish, September 1.05 3-4-7-8, December 1.07 1-2-5-8, corn was stronger, 1-8-1 3-8 advanced, September 95 1-2-5-8, December 62 7-8-63, and oats 1-2-1 1-8 up.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—There were sharp advances and active trading in the sugar futures market here today on the announcement President Roosevelt had signed the sugar bill. Half the upturns were lost in the later trading on increased realizing and hedge selling promoted by reports of an increase in the quotas.

January No. 3, which sold early at 2.53 or 25 points net higher, the maximum fluctuation permitted in any one day, reacted to 2.37, while March sold down from 2.54 to 2.50, with the list at 2 p.m. ruling about 4 to 12 points net higher.

In No. 4 contract March sold off from 1.23 to 1.21 and July from 1.30 to 1.26 1-2 with the market at 2 p.m. 4 1-2 to 5 1-2 points net higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Tumbling stocks encountered a small buying cushion in today's market and initial losses of fractions to 3 or more points were reduced, cancelled or converted into moderate gains in late dealings.

Steels, motors, oils, farm implements, rails, coppers and specialties were subjected to considerable pressure in the first hour. The pace was fastest on the sell-off. The ticker tape moved slowly in the come-back periods.

Spelling possible trouble, in the opinion of most traders, was Japan's warning to foreign vessels to keep away from the Chinese war zone, and the sinking of a British ship in the Mediterranean by an unidentified submarine.

In addition fall business prospects were still cloudy. Attention was drawn to a downturn in bank clearings for the week ended yesterday. There was also a falling off in automobile financing in July.

Transfers approximated 1,250,000 shares, the largest turnover since July 7.

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Stock market leaders swung into another downward loop today but encountered sufficient support to avert a tail-spin.

Volume appeared on selling flurries and dried up appreciably in rallying periods. Extreme losses running to 3 or more points were pared in some cases near the fourth hour. Many issues hit bottom for the year.

With Japan warning foreign ships away from the Chinese war zone and further doubts arising concerning the state of domestic trade, brokers said speculative forces continued to edge toward the side-lines.

While there were exceptions in the stock retreat, weakness was shown by steels, motors, farm implements, oils, coppers, rails and specialties.

J. I. Case dropped 7 points and Allied Chemical 5 at the worst. Prominent with lesser reversals were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Wheeling Steel, Crucible, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson Motors, International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Continental Oil, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, St. Joseph Lead, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Pullman, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Chalmers, du Pont, Loew's and Spiegel, Inc. Some of these did better later.

Resistant were Western Union, Southern Pacific, International Telephone, Zenith Radio, Pennsylvania and Southern Railway.

Signing of the sugar quota bill helped shares in this department. Advances wele recorded for South Porto Rico, Fajardo, Manati preferred, American Crystal and Cuban-American. Sugar futures also exhibited strength.

The World's Latest Market News

COTTON

New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Cotton gained from 70 cents to 90 cents a bale here today on trade buying and covering induced by official reports of continued rain in the central and eastern sections of the belt.

October sold up to 9.24, Dec. to 9.31, March to 9.43, May to 9.52 and July to 9.54, or 14 to 18 points above the previous close.

Aside from the unfavorable weather report there was nothing in the day's developments to warrant activity on either side.

The approach of the government's second crop estimate on September 8 kept most speculative interests out of the market and trading was of a professional character only.

Foreign markets were better than due and aided the advance in early dealings, but textile centers continued quiet at easier prices.

Considerable realizing from the short side developed in the final trading and prices made new highs for the day.

The close was steady at the top and showed net advances of 22 to 25 points.

Exports today were 24,560 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady at net advances of 22 to 25 points.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 24 points up. Sales 6,266; low middling 7.93, middling 9.43; good middling 9.98; receipts 3,096; stocks 275,404.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 9.35 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.21 cents a pound.

New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Recoveries of $1 a bale from the lows of Wednesday were registered in cotton today as selling pressure let up and moderate covering and trade buying found contracts relatively scarce.

Unfavorable weather extending into the central south also influenced sentiment.

December sold up from 9.13 to 9.23 and was ruling at 9.21 in mid-afternoon, when the market was 15 to 17 points net higher.

The market rallied sharply in the late trading on active covering, and spot house buying, closing from 26 to 31 higher. Spot steady; middling 9.56.

Cotton futures closed firm, 26 to 31 higher.

Butter And Eggs

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Butter, 10,957, firm, prices unchanged. Eggs, 8,846, steady, prices unchanged.

Livestock

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—(USDA)—Hogs 7,000, including 2,500 direct; steady to 10 lower than Wednesday's average; top 11.70; most good packing sows 9.50-90; few best light weights to 10.00.

Cattle, 4,500, calves 1,500; draggy market on yearlings and light steers, specially light heifer and mixed yearlings scaling 700 to 900 lbs. Cows dull at recent 25-cent decline; not much beef in run; top 18.10; sprinkling 15.00-16.25; bulls and vealers fully steady scarce, active; weighty sausage bulls 6.75 down; vealers 11.00-12.00 mostly; few 12.50.

Sheep 8,000, including 4,700 direct; spring lambs opening around steady with best time Wednesday; sheep about steady; scattered native ewes 3.00-4.00.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Stocks heavy; leaders continue decline. Bonds lower; U. S. loans retreat. Curb easy; early improvement lost. Foreign exchange soft; pound, franc down. Cotton steady; higher cables; unfavorable weather. Sugar firm; signing of sugar bill. Coffee lower; trade selling.

CHICAGO—Wheat firmer, broadening demand. Corn stronger. Cattle draggy except on choice beeves. The latter steady. Hogs steady to 10 lower, top 11.70.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The grain markets were listless at the start of trading today. Traders were apparently awaiting issuance of private crop reports at 10 a.m. Easiness of the Liverpool market was another discouraging factor.

Wheat opened 1-4 lower to 1-4 higher, September 1.03 7-8 to 1.04, December 1.05 3-4 to 1.06, and then showed a little strength. Corn started 1 3-8 lower to 1-8 higher, September 94 to 94 1-4, December 62 1-4 to 3-8, and later also showed some strength.

Wheat closed firm, 1 1-4-2 cents higher than yesterday's finish, September 1.05 3-4-7-8, December 1.07 1-2-5-8, corn was stronger, 1-8-1 3-8 advanced, September 95 1-2-5-8, December 62 7-8-63, and oats 1-2-1 1-8 up.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Tumbling stocks encountered a small buying cushion in today's market and initial losses of fractions to 3 or more points were reduced, cancelled or converted into moderate gains in late dealings.

Steels, motors, oils, farm implements, rails, coppers and specialties were subjected to considerable pressure in the first hour. The pace was fastest on the sell-off. The ticker tape moved slowly in the come-back periods.

Spelling possible trouble, in the opinion of most traders, was Japan's warning to foreign vessels to keep away from the Chinese war zone, and the sinking of a British ship in the Mediterranean by an unidentified submarine.

In addition fall business prospects were still cloudy. Attention was drawn to a downturn in bank clearings for the week ended yesterday. There was also a falling off in automobile financing in July.

Transfers approximated 1,250,000 shares, the largest turnover since July 7.

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Stock market leaders swung into another downward loop today but encountered sufficient support to avert a tail-spin.

Volume appeared on selling flurries and dried up appreciably in rallying periods. Extreme losses running to 3 or more points were pared in some cases near the fourth hour. Many issues hit bottom for the year.

With Japan warning foreign ships away from the Chinese war zone and further doubts arising concerning the state of domestic trade, brokers said speculative forces continued to edge toward the side-lines.

Bonds were inclined to give ground. Commodities displayed reviving tendencies, with grain and cotton futures improving.

While there were exceptions in the stock retreat, weakness was shown by steels, motors, farm implements, oils, coppers, rails and specialties.

J. I. Case dropped 7 points and Allied Chemical 5 at the worst. Prominent with lesser reversals were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, National Steel, Wheeling Steel, Crucible, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson Motors, International Harvester, Deere, Caterpillar Tractor, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas Corporation, Continental Oil, Anaconda, Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, St. Joseph Lead, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Pullman, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Chalmers, du Pont, Loew's and Spiegel, Inc. Some of these did better later.

Resistant were Western Union, Southern Pacific, International Telephone, Zenith Radio, Pennsylvania and Southern Railway.

Signing of the sugar quota bill helped shares in this department. Advances wele recorded for South Porto Rico, Fajardo, Manati preferred, American Crystal and Cuban-American. Sugar futures also exhibited strength.

SOUTH SIDE WILL HOLD BIG PARTY

Merchants Prepare Unique Celebration For Night Of September 21

Emboldened by the rising fortunes of "Little Chicago," sometimes known as "Five Points," but in no way imitating that section of Monroe where "ripsnorting elections" are conducted in and out of season, the estimable merchants of the south side of Monroe plan a big party all their own.

It may take the form of the crowning of the "Queen of the South Side," an amateur night program with attendant prizes, or both events. The exact plans are not developed but the date has been set for Tuesday, September 21.

Originally, the date was set for September 13, but as a group of interested merchants convened, a black cat of large size ran across where they were gathered. Instantly, September 13 was taboo and the new date set.

Every south side merchant will be asked to participate, whether his place of business is on Lover's lane, Lee avenue, Jackson street or any other street. Display advertising will appear in the newspapers calling attention to the big event. There will be valuable prizes given away by merchants and plenty of fun.

One thing, however, is emphasized. No politics can enter the program. "Politics is rotten, generally speaking," declared R. N. (Nick) Slator, one of the enthusiasts in the plan, "and we just can't have anything like that. And besides, don't all the politicians live in and around 'Little Chicago'?" he inquired.

It is expected that 30 or 40 merchants, large and small, for it doesn't matter, will participate, digging right down into their jeans to put up some cash so that prizes will be worthwhile.

An informal meeting of south side merchants was held at 100 Grayling lane, Wednesday at 8 p.m. Another meeting to formulate detailed plans will be held at the same place and time next Tuesday night.

Not only were business men of the vicinity present, but also for good measure, A. V. (Arthur) Miller, who although residing on the north side, declared that during the next several weeks he desires to cast his lot with the bustling south side. He was at once elected acting secretary, serving with his characteristic skill and enthusiasm.

As plans go forward, the public will be informed as to the nature of the big party. The whole community is asked to keep an open date for the night of September 21, then big things are a-goin' to happen!

CITY COURT

Will Smith and Willie Lee Daniels, negroes, were fined $15 in city court here yesterday by Judge W. M. Harper on charges of trespassing. Hosea Diert, negro, was sentenced to 15 days for vagrancy; George Thomas negro, was sentenced to 10 days for larceny; and Matthews Hanable, negro, was fined $10 for disturbing the peace.

Nineteen traffic law violators were fined a total of $53. Eight persons were fined $1 each for over parking, and another was fined $3 on three charges of violating the one hour parking law. Two were fined $5 each for running red lights; one was fined $5 for reckless driving; two others, one charged wtih speeding and the other with operating an automobile with bad brakes, were fined $5 each; three defendants were fined $5 each for running stop signs; one was fined $1 for leaving his machine with the motor running; and another was fined $1 for operating a machine without a tail light.

Two persons forfeited $7.50 cash bonds for being drunk and disorderly, and two paid fines of $7.50 each for being drunk.

FOUR NEGROES WILL BE TAKEN TO PRISON TODAY

Four negroes, sentenced to the penitentiary in district court here last month, will be taken to the state prison this morning by Deputy Sheriff Clyde Mitchell.

They are Eddie Jones, 19, and Willie Stevens, 26, who will serve two years each for breaking and entering the Jitney Jungle store at North Fourth street and Stubbs avenue in the nighttime several days ago; Bennie Boyd, 34, who will serve from two to six years for assault and wilfully shooting at; and Herman Maxie, 22, sentenced to one year for larceny of an automobile valued at $300.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

A short in electrical wiring was blamed yesterday for a fire at the home of Daisy Sisco, 623 DeSiard street. The building, a two-story structure, was reported owned by Joe Messina. Monroe firemen, summoned to the scene, extinguished the blaze by hand.

ATTORNEY SPEAKS AT ROTARY MEET

The feature of the Rotary club's program at its regular meeting Thursway noon in the Virginia hotel was an address by Rotarian John Theus, who gave an interesting review of criminal law procedure in Louisiana. The speaker related a number of amusing incidents that have come within his legal experience. The trials and difficulties of a young lawyer beginning his work in the criminal field of law practice formed one of the illuminating phases of the address.

"The first consideration of a criminal lawyer," he said, "whether he expects to make a large fee, or get nothing at all for his services, is the interests of his client. An older lawyer once gave me this advice in presenting the case to the jury: 'If the facts favor you, talk about the facts; if the law favors your case, talk about the law, and if both the law and the facts favor you, just talk'."

The program was in charge of Leon Sugar, chairman of the vocational service committee. Elmer Slagle was the recipient of a floral decoration on the occasion of his birthday. Rotarian W. E. Reardon had charge of the club singing. President W. L. Bendel presided.

FAINTS AND FALLS

While walking along DeSiard street Wednesday afternoon, G. E. Addison of Swartz, was overcome by weakness and fell to the pavement in a faint, sustaining a severe laceration of the forehead. He was taken in an ambulance to Vaughan-Wright-Bendel clinic, where he was given medical treatment. He left the institution after about an hour.

DOG LOVER BITTEN BY PET, SUCCUMBS

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Elderly Fred Georges, a lover of dogs, engaged in several skirmishes with the law over his right to keep 22 of them around his home here. His latest victory in behalf of his pets indirectly caused his death.

Taken to the hospital with a fatal infection, Georges was found to have a dog bite on his leg. Physicians said that was where the infection started.

SOUTH SIDE WILL HOLD BIG PARTY

Merchants Prepare Unique Celebration For Night Of September 21

Emboldened by the rising fortunes of "Little Chicago," sometimes known as "Five Points," but in no way imitating that section of Monroe where "ripsnorting elections" are conducted in and out of season, the estimable merchants of the south side of Monroe plan a big party all their own.

It may take the form of the crowning of the "Queen of the South Side," an amateur night program with attendant prizes, or both events. The exact plans are not developed but the date has been set for Tuesday, September 21.

Originally, the date was set for September 13, but as a group of interested merchants convened, a black cat of large size ran across where they were gathered. Instantly, September 13 was taboo and the new date set.

Every south side merchant will be asked to participate, whether his place of business is on Lover's lane, Lee avenue, Jackson street or any other street. Display advertising will appear in the newspapers calling attention to the big event. There will be valuable prizes given away by merchants and plenty of fun.

One thing, however, is emphasized. No politics can enter the program. "Politics is rotten, generally speaking," declared R. N. (Nick) Slator, one of the enthusiasts in the plan, "and we just can't have anything like that. And besides, don't all the politicians live in and around 'Little Chicago'?" he inquired.

It is expected that 30 or 40 merchants, large and small, for it doesn't matter, will participate, digging right down into their jeans to put up some cash so that prizes will be worthwhile.

An informal meeting of south side merchants was held at 100 Grayling lane, Wednesday at 8 p.m. Another meeting to formulate detailed plans will be held at the same place and time next Tuesday night.

Not only were business men of the vicinity present, but also for good measure, A. V. (Arthur) Miller, who although residing on the north side, declared that during the next several weeks he desires to cast his lot with the bustling south side. He was at once elected acting secretary, serving with his characteristic skill and enthusiasm.

As plans go forward, the public will be informed as to the nature of the big party. The whole community is asked to keep an open date for the night of September 21, then big things are a-goin' to happen!
